Witches of British Folklore

The UK has a long history of witchcraft dating back to, sometimes colourful, most times dark and gruesome. From this history the inevitable folk tales and legends are born, told alongside, or even evolving from, true events. In this new series each month I will look at historical events as well as legends that have defined the image of historical witchcraft in the minds of the people of the UK today.

The Witches of Pendle

Ten people were charged with witchcraft and sentenced to death in August 1612. A nine-year-old girl was the key witness in the case, and as a result of her testimony several people were executed - including her own mother, sister and brother.

The witch hunting frenzy began after James VI, king of Scotland, went to Denmark to marry his Dutch bride. Denmark had a long history of witch hunts and witch trials, and James became obsessed with finding witches when he visited the country. When he returned to Scotland with Anne, they were caught in a terrible storm, which James interpreted as a sign that a witch had tried to murder the king and his new queen.

The first victim was Agnes Sampson, whose ghost, dubbed 'Bald Agnes,' is said to haunt Holyrood Palace and is thought by some to be the inspiration for Shakespeare's Weird Sisters in Macbeth.

James brought his suspicions with him when he became king of England. He had already written a book about the importance of seeking out witches, known as the Deamonologie. Though less brutal than the Malleus Maleficarum, which was published in Germany 110 years before, it was still a dangerous book that led some, including the man who would later be known as the Witchfinder General, Matthew Hopkins, to believe that they had the right to accuse and torture their neighbours until they admitted to the charges against them.

Although James advocated punishment only for the guilty, he had already spread fear by setting an example of what a witch hunt looked like, and by torturing so many people himself. The Deamonologie emphasised the significance of persecuting witches in a Christian society.

Tarot of the Month

by Lady WolfCiara

25 – The Faery Godmother

Fairies offers last minute rescue. When she turns up in a reading, good things may well be happening that we don't think we deserve – or that we do deserve but not haven't thought to ask for.

Almost imperceptibly she teaches us about giving and receiving unconditionally, helping us to open up our hearts to love and acceptance.

Prediction for October 2021

For the coming month, we are getting things that have been on our agenda for a while, and now opens up to interpret in our own set of minds. We are open to learning new things, and also are asked of forgiving of what we have learned.

My Book of Shadows

One of the most important items for me in my witchcraft, is my Book of Shadows. Even if I have trouble with how to fill it.

I wanted one that had to look a specific way with specific colours and paper. So I went on a course to try and make my own but I totally failed. It was a disaster.

After that, my husband offered to make one for me. I am totally in love with it. It came out better than I imagined. Just perfect.

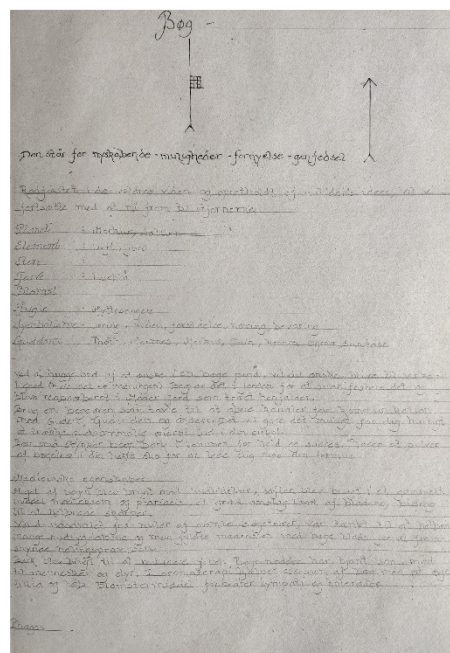

He did it exactly after my instructions.

I started out with trying to draw something with colour pencils but again, that did not work. And I can't paint so that was also a no go.

First I wanted to write everything with pencil and then overwrite it with a pen but every time I write with a pen, it looks so ugly.

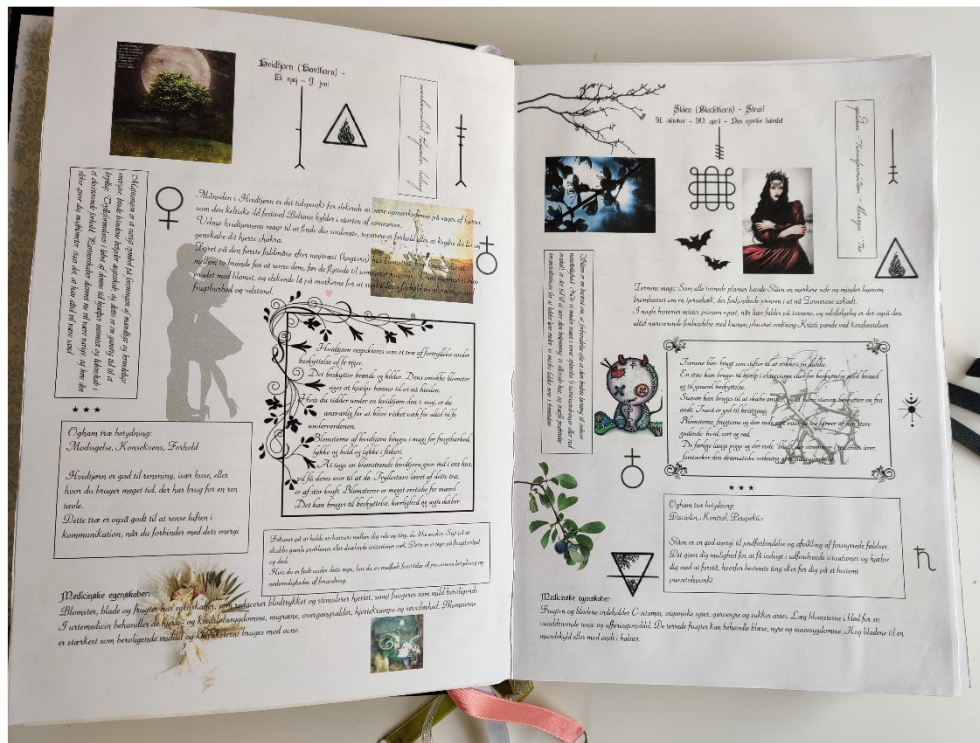

And I was a bit sad that it looked so plain and dull with no colours or anything pretty.

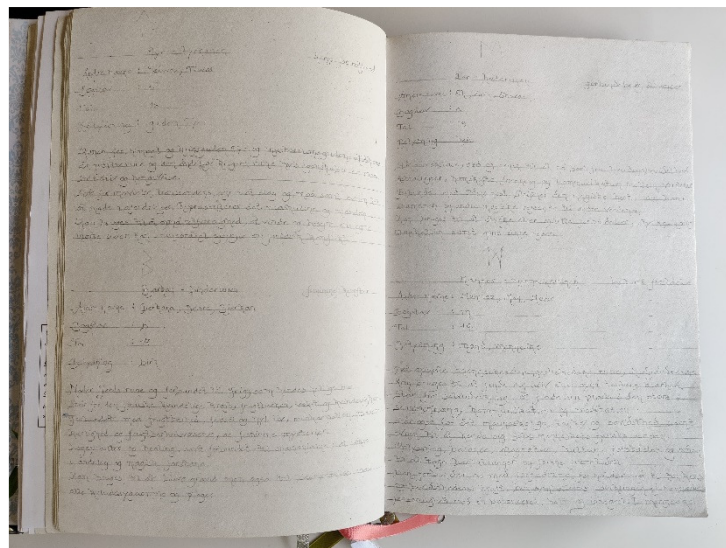

This is an example of the text for my Ogham runes I wrote about some time ago.

Because I always get so many ideas, I thought why not make the documents on the computer, print them out and then glue them into my Book of Shadows.

Again, I don't have the talent like all the other people I see on Pinterest but I always do my best and even if it's not the same, I like the result of my own work.

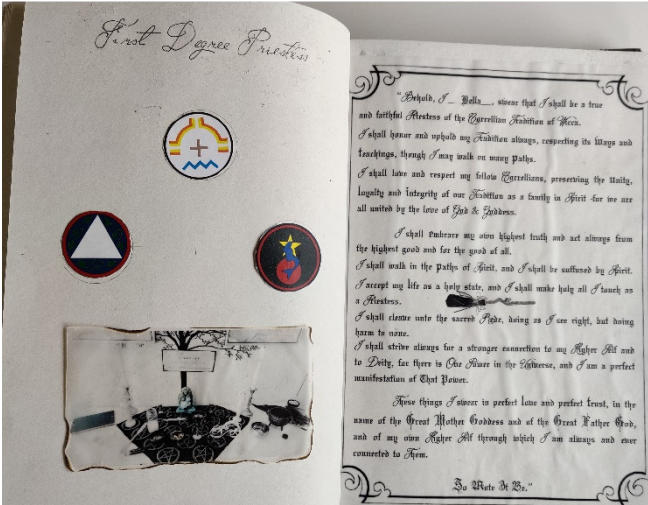

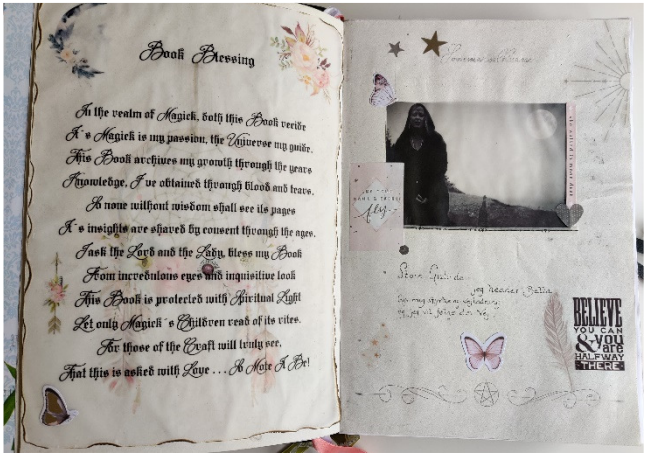

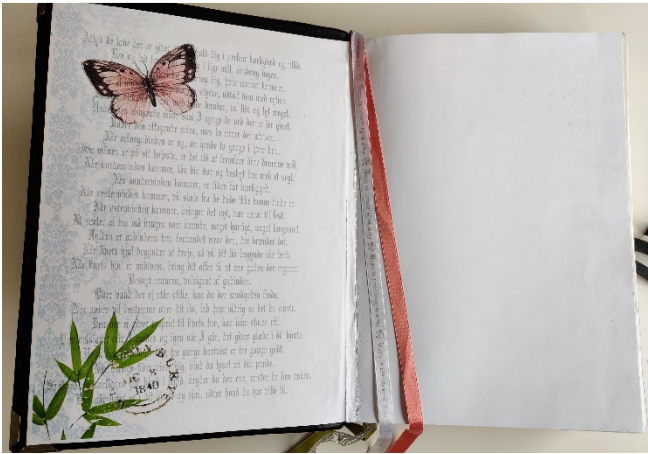

I started out by changing all 13 Ogham trees, made the documents on the computer and have now glued them into my book. Next, I will do the same with the runes.

Now I think that my book will be a combination of both handwriting and printed documents.

I use this book to write about all my rituals and experiences, exactly like you would with a diary. This is just a magical diary.

The Pentacle Through History

By Firefay

Modern pagans use the pentacle as a symbol of their faith and unfortunately many non pagan people look down on the symbol believing it to represent evil, magic and even the devil. Little do they know the pentacle is older than any religion practiced by humans today. The pentacle was already present in Sumer, Babylon, Egypt, ancient Greece as well as ancient China (770-476 BC), Japan, India, and Central America with the Mayans. The pentagram itself is even seen on many national flags around the world and often in Freemasonry as well. The idea of the pentacle being an evil symbol is a very new idea in the history of man. It started in the Middle Ages with the persecution of pagans, witches and any other groups that threatened the Catholic church of the time, including freemasons. Satanism did not even exist until the 1960s. I would like to present the history and evolution of the pentacle to show why the symbol is an excellent representation of the pagan faith and that there is absolutely nothing evil about it.

Sumer and Babylon

In Mesopotamia in the area known as Sumer, the first evidence of pentagrams was found on pottery shards, cuneiform tablets and on pylons near main gates. It is believed the symbol represented UB meaning corner or angle.

During the Babylonian times, the pentagram evolved to represent the 5 visible planets that are observable with the naked eye (Mars, Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn). It also represented the planet Venus as well as the Akkadian goddess Inanna and the Sumerian goddess Ishtar. This is likely where the planet Venus was associated with femininity and probably the origin of the Greek goddess Venus.

Egypt

Ancient Egypt marks a turning point in the history of the pentagram in the fact that it was during this time that there is evidence of the pentagram representing the five elements and thus the idea of eternal life. Many pagans today recognize that many concepts present in magic today began in Egyptian times and possibly earlier but the Egyptians were the first to record this information. The Egyptians also recognized the symbolic union of man and woman within the pentagram. What better symbol to represent the elements of which all life is created as well as eternal life and continual creation through the union of man and woman? The Egyptians drew a circle around the pentagram in the form of a snake to represent the eternal shedding of the snake like the solar cycle of the year. In this way the snake represents the sun god.

Greece

In ancient Greece, the pentagram represented the golden ratio which is found in all of nature. It is the perfect representation of this concept and the pentagram is divisible to infinity if we could see infinitely small particles. The pentagram represented perfection that is even found in the human body with a man in starfish position forming a perfect pentagram. The word SALUS is found around many Pythagorean pentagrams which means health. This makes you wonder if Chinese Medicine influenced the Greeks with the Silk Road exchanges because the Chinese believed that when all 5 elements or organs were balanced, a man would be in good health. For Pythagoras the pentagram represented the 5 elements which made up man himself but also all of life. Ancient Greeks still saw the pentagram as representing the 5 visible planets as well but the mathematical perfection of the symbol came to light during this time of mathematical and scientific development. The golden ratio is seen everywhere in Greek architecture and sculptures as well as artwork completed by classical masters.

China and Japan

It is highly likely that the pentagram symbol was imported to China with the Silk Road when many merchants traveled between Europe and Asia. The Chinese saw the symbol as a perfect representation of the elements and the idea of unity. Chinese elements as seen in Traditional Chinese Medicine are Fire, Earth, Metal, Water, and Wood. Pentagrams were used in Chinese Medicine to represent the natural cycles of creation but also of destruction. A perfect example of Yin and Yang in the balance between life and death and the interrelation of all the elements of which all the material world is made. Each point of the star represents an element and the circle that connects them represents the union of the 5 elements which create life. The pentagram design formed from connecting the points with straight lines represents the cycle of destruction, which is not considered an evil or negative idea in Asian cultures but a necessary part of life. Science tells us matter is neither created nor destroyed but only transformed. This is the same concept in the idea of the cycle of creation and of destruction. All things must eventually die to allow other things to be created. When we believe in an eternal soul, this is not an injustice nor a horrible thing to think of. Therefore, the pentacle represents a perfect balance and the higher truth of nature and life. There is no better symbol that exists to represent as fully this idea.

The pentagram and pentacle are found in occultism all over Asia but the better known uses are seen in Chinese Medicine and in Japanese Shintoism. Shintoism is still practiced today at different degrees in Japan but the pentacle is a symbol used in Shinto ritual and is present on Shinto shrines and especially their gateways. It is a sacred symbol representing the divine and can be seen as a symbol of protection. Asian occultism has many similarities with Western occultism and it is not always clear as to whether the East imported Western magic or whether the West imported Eastern magic. Possibly both cultures exchanged magical concepts which is why there are many similarities today.

India

Hinduism uses the pentacle much the same way as in Chinese Medicine to represent the goddess Kali which is the goddess of destruction and creation. She represents eternal life. As said before the circle connecting the elements is creation whereas the pentagram is the cycle of destruction. This can be explained as Fire engenders Earth, Earth engenders Metal, Metal engenders Water, Water engenders Wood and Wood engenders Fire. This creates a circle like the one below

The cycle of destruction is then illustrated by creating a pentagram between the elements. This can be explained by Wood splits the Earth by growing vegetation, Earth absorbs Water, Water puts out Fire, Fire melts Metal and Metal chops Wood. Therefore, the pentagram illustrates this process of destruction so that the cycle of creation can continue. Ayurvedic medicine and yoga are based on the same concepts of Chinese medicine and Qi Gong. An illustration of the Chinese pentacle used in India as well is pictured below.

Central America

The pentacle was found in ancient Mayan ruins and is curiously similar to the pentacle of ancient Mesopotamia and Egypt. Another interesting point is the Mayan pyramids that strangely resemble the Sumerian ziggurats and the Egyptian step pyramids. Their god was a feathered serpent named Quetzlcoatl who was just like the rival god Apophis of Amen Ra that battled him every night under the earth (opposite side of the earth). Evidence of cannabis being used in embalming rituals of Egypt also makes one believe there was exchange of some sort between Central America and Mesopotamia at some point. Venus represented the Mayan god Quetzlcoatl and the pentagram is a representation of Venus.

Modern Influences

The pentagram is seen today on national flags around the world and each of these countries were influenced at some point by these ancient cultures. The pentagram was not always a negative symbol and has become so overtime with the persecution of pagan cultures with the rising of the Catholic church in the Middle Ages and much later because of satanism that was a popular movement in the 1950s and 1960s with the pentagram of Baphomet representing the 1st wife of Adam, Lilith whom Adam rejected because she would not submit to him. She then copulated with demons which gave rise to the evil of the world. The story of Lilith is old but the concept of the devil is a new idea that came from Christianity and devil worship is even newer dating to the past century. Before Christianity, the pentagram and pentacle always had positive meanings and were even used for protection and represented all that is divine.

The “book religions” or Christianity, Judaism and Islam all used the pentagram at one point to represent the 5 wounds of Christ, the 5 books of the Torah and the 5 pillars of Islam.

Freemasons use the pentagram and pentacle as sacred geometry in that it represents the divine or golden ratio and is therefore a perfect representation of the divine architecture of God. Freemasons are historically masons and geometry is the center of everything in masonry. Only through geometry and perfect ratios could the masons build cathedrals so huge and so high in stone. The pentagram is seen in many creations of freemasons whether in buildings or in artwork as many members of freemasonry were artists.

Modern witchcraft and Wicca use the pentacle as a symbol of their faith today and a very good choice it is as it represents the history of man and was present in almost all ancient religions as an important representation of life. For us Wiccans the pentacle represents the divine feminine, the elements, the union of man and woman, eternal life through a continual cycle and therefore all that represents life, death and the divine within us all. It is a symbol of unity, balance, protection and eternal life because all is goddess and goddess is all.

Rune of the Month

By Lady WolfCiara

TH -Thurisaz – Ymir and the giants' rune - CRAFT

This rune at interpretation means: a time to evaluate and reevaluate one's situation. Go over obstacles quite easy: you can handle things that are beyond our control. Protection Rune represents the force of Mjolnir, Thor's hammer that provides lightning in the sky.

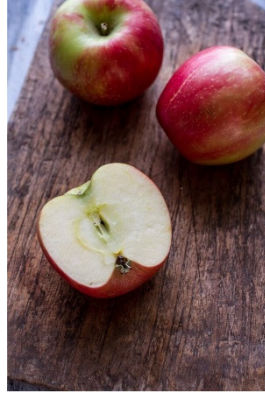

Prediction for October 2021

For the coming month, we are in a time that we can pause, and look at what is important around oneself. Even the most difficult is now in your hands to be solved and fixed, if you take your time to stop and listening to what it is telling you.

INGREDIENTS:

Cheddar Apple Beer Soup with Brie

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 sweet onion chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2/3 cup apple cider
- 2 small Honeycrisp apples or 1 large, chopped
- 2 teaspoon fresh thyme chopped (or 1/2 teaspoon dried)
- 1 (12 ounce) beer I used pumpkin beer
- 2 cups low-sodium chicken broth
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 cup whole milk
- 1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 8 ounces brie rind removed + cubed

Cinnamon Pecan Oat Crumble

- 1 cup old fashioned oats
- 1 1/2 cups whole raw pecans
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 6 tablespoons unsalted butter

INSTRUCTIONS

To make the Crumble

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F.

Working on a greased cookie sheet or pyrex dish, add the oats, pecans, flour, brown sugar, cinnamon and salt.

Add the softened butter and use your fingers to crumble it into the oats mixture until everything is moist and the butter is evenly distributed.

Bake for 20 minutes, stirring halfway through cooking, until crisp is golden brown and smells amazing.

To make the Soup

Heat a large soup pot over medium heat. Add the olive oil. Once hot, add the onions and a pinch of brown sugar. Season with a little salt and pepper. Cook about 5 minutes, stirring frequently, until softened.

At this point, slowly add in the apple cider, let it cook into the onions, add more and continue to cook. Do this until the onions are caramelized. Add the apples and thyme to the pot and cook over medium heat, stirring, until softened, 8 minutes.

Add in any remaining apple cider, the beer, chicken broth and cayenne. Bring to a simmer and cook 5-10 minutes or until the apples are tender. (This is when I bake the crumble)

Meanwhile, whisk the flour into the milk until smooth. Set aside.

Once the apples are soft, puree the soup until chunky smooth or completely smooth (whatever you like). Return the soup to the stove and bring to a low bowl. Whisk in the milk mixture and boil until the soup thickens slightly, about 5 minutes.

Stir in the cheddar cheese and brie until melted and smooth. Simmer the soup 5 minutes or until ready to serve.

Ladle the soup into bowls and top with the cinnamon pecan crumble. Plus maybe some extra cheese too!!

Wolfciara's Wiccan World

By Lady WolfCiara

Merry meet my fellow Wiccans and Welcome to my little corner of the Wiccan World.

So yet another month has passed by and Mabon/Autumn Equinox that came and went. Looking back at the summer we have had this year; I am not impressed at all. It has been a quite cold summer, as to the last summers before this one. We have, at least in Sweden have had some truly really nice days, so am not complaining, or not as much as I give it to be. The Autumns are always, so not wanted.

I have had myself a "Autumn Cleaning" at my home, during the month that just have passed on, although I have learned myself a new word, as I have always thought of it to be only in my mind. You always, at least, learn a new word, or about new things that you never have heard about, every day. My apartment is squeaky clean, all free from pets of any sorts, and I enjoy every minute spent there now. I have had animals as far back, as I can remember, and are now living all alone, and have cleaned out all with dogs, cats, birds and a ton of other animals that has passed my way. The last 10 years, I have had 3 dogs, 4 cats, 2 cockatiel, and 4 parakeets, and an aquarium about 200 Litres, in size.

So, yes, I have had my fair share of animals in my life. I can more easily count up the kind of animal that I never have had, than which one I have had. I can count up with, not ever had: Spider, Snake, Big Parrots, Turtles, and can count in: Doves, Ferret, Gerbils, Guineapigs, Rats – domesticated, Dogs, Parakeets, Rabbits, Gecko, Agapornis Roseacollies, Hedgehog (for a week), but mostly, I have had Cats...

My boyfriend does have an outdoor-cat, that is indoors during the days, and out and about during the night. He is already 10 years, and a personality one call it. He is a true gem for me, and I can tell that he is fond of me too, as he comes and wants to be cuddled and petted.

I have attended the online rituals, during the month, as I usually do. And they always give me a lot of energy from attending them, and feel myself really energized and replenished. My mentorship for my students on WitchSchool, in Correllian Wicca's Three Degrees, is working fine, and I love every minute I spend with it. I so much love to learn new students, what I have been given through the Classes. I have never regretted becoming a member of Correllian Nativist Tradition and following the path that I feel I was accustomed and fitted for. I have always known that I was a believer in some sorts of religion, although now that I have found the Correllians, I have finally come home, and cannot express how much this means to me.

I am in the middle of taking: "Living The Wiccan Life", and have about 23 weeks left, of 48 weeks long class, with one new lesson for each week, although I re-learn a lot, I do have thoughts of that I shall be a mentor for that class also. It is the Class for non-degree studies. It is mainly the same classes, as with 1st Degree, with the exception of all focus on the Wicca-clergy as you should become a Degree-reverend/priest, and You can do a self-initiation after you have completed the class for "Living The Wiccan Life", although you are not becoming a Clergy from the class.

Take care until next time. Blessed be all of you.
Love and light, hugz and blessings. WolfCiara

Chartered Bodies of the Correllian Tradition

Witan Shrines are the first level of the Temple-Making Process. Witan Shrines are created by Charter of the Tradition and may progress to Full Temple status over the course of several years or remain at Witan Shrine status indefinitely.

A list of current Witan Shrines may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/witan-shrines.html>

Proto-Temples are groups which have progressed beyond the status of Shrines and are on their way to becoming Full Temples but have not yet achieved that status.

A list of current Proto-Temples may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/proto-temple.html>

Full Temples of the Correllian Tradition have completed the Temple-Making Process and, if headed by a Third Degree, have representation on the Witan Council. A Full Temple can perform all of the functions of a Temple and may in some cases have multiple branches.

A list of current Temples may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/temple.html>

Formal Shrines are Shrines that are dedicated to specific activities of a limited nature. Formal Shrines may exist as an aspect of a larger group or may stand alone in their own right.

A list of current Formal Shrines may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/formal-shrines.html>

Personal Shrines are an aspect of an individual Correllian member's personal piety and are not bodies of the Tradition as such. Personal Shrines exist wholly at the discretion of the member, however the Tradition does acknowledge them upon request.

A list of current Personal Shrines may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/personal-shrines.html>

Orders are associations within the Tradition dedicated to specific skills, tasks, or interests. This sort of Order is not to be confused with the Meritorious Orders which are awarded in recognition of service.

A list of current Orders may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/orders.html>

Houses of Contemplation are established to facilitate the temporary or permanent practice of the contemplative religious life. Depending upon the rules of the specific House of Contemplation guests may come for spiritual retreats of designated length, or to pursue a life of permanent contemplation in the manner of a Monastery.

A list of current Houses of Contemplation may be found HERE: <http://correllian.weebly.com/houses-of-contemplation.html>
