Animal Totems

Rev. Mehitabel

Part 17 Land Animal Totems

Sources: <http://www.whats-your-sign.com/animal-totems.html>

Each totem carries messages and information for us. This is known as their medicine.

Black Panther

In terms of taxonomy, the black panther is really a black leopard rather than a separate species but in totem lore it is accorded a unique position.

As expected, the panther is a symbol of power and protection, a symbol of courage and strength. Although it may be associated with the sun, it is primarily a lunar animal, a creature of the night and of the Goddess and frequently female. For those under its protection it brings intuition and psychic gifts.

When the panther comes to you, it is encouraging you to look at your shadow self, to grasp the powers within it and to release the fears. Let panther help you to explore that inner self. Allow her to show you the path of the Goddess. Learn from her how to draw on the power of the moon, and let that moon-light illuminate all parts of your inner soul.

TAROT

Rev. Leona

The Tarot card for today is Queen of Wands

Key terms for this card are Clear Counsel, Growth, Development

Message of Queen of Wands

The Queen of Wands is a caring person who is able to use their intuition and find the logical responses to situations. Here is a balance and a drive for action. The Queen of Wands is able to bring great insight and wisdom into your life. She is able to bring you to the fountain of knowledge and help you while you drink up all the inspiration you need for right now. The Queen of Wands offers you comfort and advice. She is able to find the string that will guide you through the labyrinth of the minotaur. This is the part of you that feel the call of the lost souls. Here you are waiting and trying to help. The Queen of Wands is a woman of great secrets and great passions. She is the part of you that feels you must protect all under your care. Now is the time for the Queen to look over you and to guide you along this path you are walking.

You find yourself being surrounded with the desire for growth. This is a period of prosperity. When you are tapping into the power of the Queen you are tapping into the well of inspiration. You will find energy and inspiration filling your life. This is a time when you feel as though almost anything is possible. You will find that you are receiving great counsel and that you will be able to materialize many things in your life as long as you are strong and willing to follow and listen to the advice of the Queen.

The fires of desire and ambition rage within the Queen. Here you will have the ability and the sight to find the path that others have turned away from. You will find that actions in your life beginning to speed up. This is a time for you to follow and to be strong. You will be able to accomplish many great things as long as you are able to listen and follow the words of the queen. Know that the power and the words of the Queen of Wands can be fearful and misunderstood. The Queen has great power and she is able to help you to birth many wonderful things in your life. The Queen only asks that you listen and be prepared to let go of what no longer helps in your life. This is the time for you to be the one who will cut the strings to free your life from the dead paths to which you cling. To be able to be strong and follow the path you will need to follow the wisdom of the Queen of Wands. Do not fear. Know that she is guiding you on the proper path and that now you may not see the light but one day you will be able to look back and see how far you have come.

Meditation for Queen of Wands

Meditations for this month will require one candle and a journal.

Find a nice quiet place where you will be able to sit quietly without being disturbed.

Take a deep breath and feel your body let go and begin to relax.

With each deep breath you take allow the stress and anxiety to leave your body.

Find your center and allow yourself to let go and relax.

When you are ready light your candle and close your eyes.

Focus on the following questions.

Where do you need the energy of the Queen of Wands?

How can you open the path and create movement in your life?

What do you need to do to open up and listen to the wisdom of the Queen?

Write your answers in your journal and focus on the following questions.

What does the Queen wish you to let go?

What do you need to move away from?

How does this make you feel?

Write your answers in your journal and when you are ready open your eyes and extinguish the candle.

Now is the time for you to embrace the next beginnings in your life.

DragonAngel

Litha – Midsummer: An Interstitial Moment

Rev. Terry Power, HP

Interstitial spaces are those places that are not places. They are the “in-between” places like doorframes, etc. You are not in the room, nor are you out of it. You are in-between.

There are also interstitial moments. Imagine a ball thrown into the air. There is that moment when the ball has ceased to climb, but has not yet started to fall. It is in-between.

There is magick in the in-between – there is transformation.

A solstice is like that. In a few days we in the Northern Hemisphere will be celebrating the height of the Sun’s power and the beginning of the decline toward Yule. Our Brothers and Sisters in the Southern Hemisphere will be experiencing the opposite solstice. But wherever we are; for that interstitial moment, the whole world will be in-between. And magick will be in the air.

The ancients left us a tradition that at the solstices, the veil is thinnest and spirit communication is easier. This is a traditional time for divination of all sorts as well as drawing down and other spirit contact.

Our magick circles are in-between places as well. Many of us actually use words to the effect that we are cutting a space out of time and out of space. We are creating an in-between space to do our working.

A simplified definition of initiation is “the death of the old and the birth of the new.” We all know that something profound changes in any initiation – be it formal or otherwise. But there is that moment in-between the death and the birth where the real magick happens. That is the interstitial moment where there is transformation.

At the Solstice, that moment seems to stretch for the day. It allows us to see what normally happens in a flash. On that day, we have a slightly longer time to contemplate the magick that is all about us all the time – and to marvel.

I believe this is why there is also a tradition to dedicate or rededicate oneself to a path on these days. And that is the real point of all this rambling.

I have been blessed by the Holy Ones with what seems to have been a greater than average number of informal initiations. This incarnation has been a series of radical changes that have often left me dizzy and searching for the lessons and the answers. But each has been a gift – and an opportunity for growth.

As we approach this Solstice celebration, I am once more faced with major changes in my life. And like the stretched interstitial moment of the solstice, I have a greater opportunity to see the change as it occurs and to look into the in-between.

An international move requires a great deal of planning and work. But when that container with all our worldly goods is closed and put on the ship; there is that amazing time between here and the new location. During that time, my family and I will be experiencing that stretched interstitial experience.

We will no longer be fully in Barbados. Nor, once we fly up, will we be fully in Canada until our stuff arrives. What a marvellous gift. The Holy Ones have blessed me with a chance to see the time of the change extended in a way that I can appreciate the subtlety and beauty of the transformation itself.

But even without the prolonged time of being in-between, we can all still take a moment to appreciate the day of transformation that is the Solstice. We can rededicate ourselves to our chosen path. We can take a brief pause from our celebrations to ask the ancestors for guidance. Or, perhaps, we can take the opportunity to just marvel at the in-between place.

Whatever we do, however, it is important to remember that something profound changed in that in-between moment of the Solstice and that the following day will be of a different length than the one before it.

And the next time we cast a circle, we can remember the special magick of the in-between places – those in the world itself, and especially those we create for ourselves.

May the Blessings of the Ancestors and the Holy Ones be with you in the season to come.

Quote & Thought of the Day

Rev. Nehal

Quote of the Day:

You are here to enable the divine purpose of the universe to unfold. That is how important you are!

Eckhart Tolle

Source: www.ascensiongateway.com

Thought of the day:

Let life come, without striving to force it. Let life come, and it will unfold with great abundance.

The feeling you seek is already yours. If it was not, then how could you even know about it?

Allow that feeling to live and breathe and grow and flow throughout your life. The life you wish to experience is yours when you let go and let it be.

Listen to those little inspirations that quietly whisper. There is a reason why you hear them and feel their truth.

Act in harmony with what you know is right and what you know is best. Instead of struggling against what is, ride joyously and successfully along with life's continuously unfolding possibilities.

Let life come. And live the beauty as each new moment is born.

-- Ralph Marston

Litha Lore

Rev. Mehitabel

<http://paganwiccan.about.com/od/lithathesummersolstice/a/LithaFolklore.htm>

Litha, or Midsummer, is a celebration that has been observed for centuries, in one form or another. It is no surprise, then, that there are plenty of myths and legends associated with this time of year!

In England, rural villagers built a big bonfire on Midsummer's Eve. This was called "setting the watch," and it was known that the fire would keep evil spirits out of the town. Some farmers would light a fire on their land, and people would wander about, holding torches and lanterns, from one bonfire to another. If you jumped over a bonfire -- presumably without lighting your pants on fire -- you were guaranteed to have good luck for the coming year.

After your Litha fire has burned out and the ashes gone cold, use them to make a protective amulet. You can do this by carrying them in a small pouch, or kneading them into some soft clay and forming a talisman. In some traditions of Wicca, it is believed that the Midsummer ashes will protect you from misfortune. You can also sow the ashes from your bonfire into your garden, and your crops will be bountiful for the rest of the summer growing season.

It is believed in parts of England that if you stay up all night on Midsummer's Eve, sitting in the middle of a stone circle, you will see the Fae. But be careful - carry a bit of rue in your pocket to keep them from harassing you, or turn your jacket inside out to confuse them. If you have to escape the Fae, follow a ley line, and it will lead you to safety.

Residents of some areas of Ireland say that if you have something you wish to happen, you "give it to the pebble." Carry a stone in your hand as you circle the Litha bonfire, and whisper your request to the stone -- "heal my mother" or "help me be more courageous", for example. After your third turn around the fire, toss the stone into the flames.

Astrologically, the sun is entering Cancer, which is a water sign. Midsummer is not only a time of fire magic, but of water as well. Now is a good time to work magic involving sacred streams and holy wells. If you visit one, be sure to go just before sunrise on Litha, and approach the water from the east, with the rising sun. Circle the well or spring three times, walking deosil, and then make an offering of silver coins or pins.

Sunwheels were used to celebrate Midsummer in some early Pagan cultures. A wheel -- or sometimes a really big ball of straw -- was lit on fire and rolled down a hill into a river. The burned remnants were taken to the local temple and put on display. In Wales, it was believed that if the fire went out before the wheel hit the water, a good crop was guaranteed for the season.

In Egypt, the Midsummer season was associated with the flooding of the Nile River delta. In South America, paper boats are filled with flowers, and then set on fire. They are then sailed down the river, carrying prayers to the gods. In some traditions of modern Paganism, you can get rid of problems by writing them on a piece of paper and dropping them into a moving body of water on Litha.

William Shakespeare associated Midsummer with witchcraft in at least three of his plays. A Midsummer Night's Dream, Macbeth, and The Tempest all contain references to magic on the night of the summer solstice.

Multi-faith Calendar

Rev. Nehal

Multifaith Calendar – Coming up:

14th June – Corpus Christi (Catholic Church in England and Wales)

Corpus Christi falls on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday. The Catholic Church in England and Wales celebrates it on the following Sunday instead.

The festival of Corpus Christi celebrates the Eucharist as the body of Christ. The name 'Corpus Christi' is Latin for 'the body of Christ'.

This jubilant festival is celebrated by Roman Catholics to proclaim the truth of the transubstantiation of bread and wine into the actual body of Christ during Mass.

In some countries in the world, Catholic churches still celebrate the festival, not only with a Mass, but also with a procession that carries the consecrated wafer through the streets as a public statement that the sacrifice of Christ was for the salvation of the whole world.

It's worth noting that Christians already mark the Last Supper, when Christ instituted the Eucharist, on Maundy Thursday (the day before Good Friday). Because Maundy Thursday falls during the solemn period of Holy Week, it was thought necessary to have a separate festival of the Eucharist that would allow the celebration not to be muted by sadness

Poets Retreat

Poetry supplied by members of the Order of Bards

Under Great Mother

High upon this saged mountaintop
I reach my hands skyward
Taking handfuls of vanilla moon
Lungfuls of crisp night air
And I give to her
That which hinders my spirit
Lovingly asking for peace and good thoughts
For me and my friends
Oh great Mother
How I love you so
How I am so very grateful
For your light along my evolving path
I offer you all that I am
For I am because of thee
Happier than ever before
Anticipating this summer to come
But right now...
Right here...
Under your silver glow
I look up to your symbol in the sky
And humbly offer my service
An offering of silver
For your warm moony kiss
Under great Mother
All is possible
Attainable
Steely faith and chutes of hope
Flower into manifestation
And I am grateful always..
White moon mother
Thank you

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers
