More Success Stories from the Animal Health Trust

AHT Case Studies- Oscar

Oscar, a 7-year-old gelding, was brought to the Trust by his owner, Elizabeth Ellis, with left forelimb lameness. There was no heat, pain or swelling but the lameness worsened when moving on a left circle, especially on hard ground. Desensitisation of the whole foot abolished the lameness, indicating that Oscar's pain was within his foot or lower pastern. An ultrasound scan led Dr Sue Dyson, Head of Orthopaedics, to suspect damage to the deep digital flexor tendon (DDFT).

Magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) of the foot confirmed this and revealed a large tear in the tendon. The images showed an adhesion between the tendon and navicular bone which may have prevented normal tendon movement and predisposed Oscar to the DDFT injury.

Dr Dyson was able to tell Elizabeth that Oscar was likely to improve, although it may take many months for the tendon to heal adequately through rest and controlled exercise. Although there is a risk of re-injury, Oscar has resumed work with Elizabeth, albeit at a reduced level.

Magical Moon Garden

Rev. Anna

Source: http://paganwiccan.about.com/od/moonphasemagic/a/Moon_Garden.htm

Many Wiccans and Pagans love to garden, but a lot of people don't realize you can grow plants and flowers that bloom at night. Cultivating a moon garden is a great way to get in touch with nature, and it provides a beautiful and fragrant backdrop for your moonlight rituals in the summer. If you plant these lovelies close to your house, you can open the windows and take advantage of their aromas as you sleep.

Many night-blooming plants are white, and give a luminous appearance in the moonlight. If you plant them in a circle or a crescent shape, when they bloom, you'll have the moon herself right there "as above, so below." There are a number of plants that open at night -- mix them in with silver-foliaged day bloomers.

Night Blooming Plants

Moonflower: Yes, it should be painfully obvious, but the Moonflower really does bloom at night. It releases a slightly lemony scent when it opens up, and during the day the white flowers are tightly shut. Some species of this climbing plant, a cousin of the Morning Glory, can get up to eight feet long*. The flowers, when open, are around 5 - 6" in diameter.

Evening Primrose: This perennial spreads rapidly, and can cover a lot of ground for you. The pale pinkish-white flowers open at dusk, and release a sweet aroma.

Night Phlox: these pretties open up at dusk, and have a fragrance reminiscent of honey or vanilla.

Evening Stock: the tiny purple and pink flowers aren't very fancy, but they smell divine when they open at night.

Angel's Trumpet: Another vine, this annual spreads like crazy. Its trumpet-shaped, white flowers have a bell-like appearance when open.

Night Gladiolus: this plant isn't actually nocturnal, but that's when the creamy yellow flowers smell the strongest -- it's a very spicy scent that's a glorious addition to any night garden.

Day Blooming White and Silver Plants

Dusty Millers

Silver Thyme

Lamb's Ears

Mugwort (Artemesia)

Silver Sage

White vegetables such as Alba eggplants or Baby Boo or Lumina pumpkins

Herbs and Flowers with Lunar Connections

Camphor
Eucalyptus
Gardenia
Jasmine
Moonwort
Sandalwood
Willow
Water Lily
Sleepwort

What to do With Your Moon Garden Plants

When you have plants that have blossomed under the powerful energy of a full moon, the possibilities are just about endless. Harvest the flowers and dry them to use in talismans or charms. Use them to dress a Moon Candle or as part of a purification bath. Include them in incense blends to help enhance your intuition and wisdom.

*Note: Be sure to provide a trellis or other support for climbers like the Moonflower. If they don't have a stable surface to hang onto, they're less likely to fully bloom.

Spiritual seekers drawn to Egyptian sacred sites

By JESSICA DESVARIEUX
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Great Pyramid of Giza was one of the ancient wonders of the world, and even most travelers today would not consider a trip to Egypt complete without seeing the pyramids.

But for some tourists, the pyramids and other sites are much more than stops on a sightseeing itinerary. These visitors view Egypt as an ancient sacred homeland, and they come hoping for a spiritual transformation.

Numerous specialized tours cater to these seekers. June Schatilly, 82, of Saginaw, Mich., signed up for a spiritual tour earlier this year despite the discouragement of her family. She was drawn to Egypt, she said, after having several visions of herself in a past life there. After a two-week excursion, Schatilly said she feels renewed.

"I'm 82, but I'm a kid again," Schatilly said. "Everything might be the same thing, but I'm going to be experiencing it in a different manner."

Schatilly took her trip through Heartlights Sacred Journeys, a company that combines Egyptology and metaphysics with visits to sacred sites. The trip starts with visits to the Pyramids of Giza and the mysterious Sphinx. Visitors explore the subterranean chamber or otherwise known as the pit, the queen's chamber and the king's chamber. Group members are also encouraged to participate in meditations and chants.

Then the group travels to the grand-step pyramid of Saqqara, one of the oldest of Egypt's more than 100 pyramids. From there, they hop on an overnight train to the southern city of Luxor in Upper Egypt.

Waking up in an archeologists' treasure trove, spiritual seekers say they are overwhelmed with the mystery and magic that surrounds each site, especially at the Temple of Karnak, which was used in ancient times for major religious ceremonies. The temple is known for its massive towers, some of them 70 feet tall.

The quest continues with a Nile cruise to the city of Aswan, with stops along the way at temples and tombs. Then, the journey ends full circle at the Pyramids of Giza where they perform an initiation ceremony at dawn.

The group forms a circle while holding hands and chants in rhythmic tones. Before they enter the Great Pyramid, they shake rattles over themselves in order, they say, to align their energies. In complete darkness, they crouch to reach the pit of the pyramid where they comfort themselves with the meditations. Then, they climb their way up to the queen's chamber, and finally reach the highest chamber, the king's chamber.

Each participant takes turns lying in the empty sarcophagus of King Khufu, also known as Cheops, who reigned some 4,500 years ago. Tour groups are allowed to engage in activities like this during private time in the pyramids, when they're not open to other tourists. The participants are also invited to do or say whatever comes to them in that moment. Some shout out words:

"Powerful!" "Woman!" The group responds to the calls and repeats them with enthusiasm. The reverberating sound fills the dark room and leaves people shaking even after they've exited the pyramid.

Nancy Joy Hefron, 61, head facilitator of Heartlights Sacred Journeys, has been taking spiritual groups to Egypt for the past decade. Hefron considers herself a professional emotional healer. She says the trips awaken personal growth in every group she's led.

"I have seen it over and over again. From the minute someone chooses to take a journey of initiation to Egypt, Egypt begins to affect them," said Hefron.

Spiritual tours often draw attention from onlookers with their sometime unorthodox methods. Sometimes members break out into dance, which can invite stares from other tourists and locals. But Star Charney, an American on the Heartlights tour, welcomes the questions of non-believers. "The skeptics are the best. It's when you try too hard, you're not going to feel things," Charney said.

In this predominantly Muslim country, Egyptologist and spiritual tour guide Amro Mounir, 34, said he encounters many Egyptians who criticize his tours for practicing a form of paganism. But Mounir says the tours are about tapping into the energy of the earth and helping people find the truth.

"They are trying to get wisdom. They are looking for the truth and wisdom of the Earth. Africa holds the wisdom of the Earth," Mounir said.

"Bent" pyramid

Meanwhile, Travelers to Egypt will soon be able to explore the inner chambers of the 4,500-year-old "bent" pyramid, known for its oddly shaped profile, and other nearby ancient tombs. The increased access to the pyramids south of Cairo is part of a new sustainable development campaign that Egypt hopes will attract more visitors but also to avoid some of the problems of the urban sprawl that have plagued the famed pyramids of Giza.

Egypt's chief archaeologist, Zahi Hawass, said the chambers of the 330-foot-pyramid outside the village of Dahshur, 50 miles south of Cairo, was expected to be opened for the first time to tourists some time before the end of June. "This is going to be an adventure," he said.

Dahshur's bent pyramid is famous for its irregular profile. The massive tomb's sides rise at a steep angle but then abruptly taper off at a more shallow approach to the pyramid's apex.

Archaeologists believe the pyramid-builders changed their minds while constructing it out of fear the whole structure might collapse because the sides were too steep.

IF YOU GO: Heartlights Sacred Journeys is based in the U.S. but teams up with a local Egyptian tour operator, Wonder Egypt Travel. Details at www.heartlights.net on the Web. The tour price of $3,500 includes hotel accommodations, a Nile cruise, local flights and trains, group transfers and ground transportation, site entrance fees, breakfast and main meals, private ceremonies, and meetings with Egyptologist Amro Mounir. Airfare to and from Cairo is not included.

Poets Retreat

Poetry supplied by members of the Order of Bards

The Man in the Moon

The man in the moon cried out today.
It seems his lover went away.
The stars wept sparkling tears for his pain.
Would he ever see her again?
She left as he slept and the sun brightly shone,
She left his beautiful lunar home.
Why did she go and to where?
His beautiful maiden so fair -
The stars gathered him into their light,
They tried to save him from his blight.
But sorrow his heart did fill,
And the lunar light ceased to spill,
To light our way in the night -
So we're cursed to the dark with no light.

A new membership has been created called the Correllian Clergy Degree Program.

This is a 3-year program that can help you earn your Wiccan Degrees and Legal Clergy Status. Of course every lifetime and supporting member has access to this main program.

The purpose of this level is for those individuals who are interested in gaining their clergy status, and this offers an opportunity for members to do so affordably.

Witchschool Referral Program

Witch School, our long-time educational partner, has made an offer to the Tradition and its member Temples and groups.

Witch School has created a new Referral Program. The Tradition itself has enrolled in this program –as you can see from the button in the left-hand menu on orrellian.com. You are encourage to consider enrolling your Temple or group as well, as a means of generating potential passive income.

The program works like this: members receive their own button which they can put on their website, in their email signature, etc... offering Witch School memberships. If anyone purchases a membership through your button, you will receive (approximately) 25% of the payment –that is $4 of a $19.99 yearly membership, or $25 of a $99.99 Lifetime Membership.

Each button has its own unique code which tracks payments made through it. If someone buys a membership through your button, then you get the abovementioned 25%.

Witch School are offering a discount on supplies to Correllian Temples and groups in good standing: for example the Witch School books at 40% off cover price, and other discounts on the various items the school produces. If you would like to learn more about this, contact Lady Virginia at Virginia@witchschool.com and she will be happy to explain further.

These offers are being extended to all of our Correllian Temples, Proto-Temples, Witan Shrines, Formal Shrines, Personal Shrines, Orders, and Study Groups who might wish to sign up.

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers
