Pagan Calendar January 30 – 5 February

January 30 In ancient Rome, an agricultural festival called the Feriae Sementiva (Feast of Spring) was celebrated annually on this date with sacrifices to Ceres (the goddess of agriculture) and Tellus Mater (the goddess of the Earth and fertility), as well as other lesser gods and goddesses associated with agriculture. On this date in the year 1940, Z. Budapest (the founder and leader of the main branch of feminist Dianic Wicca) was born in Budapest. Among her many accomplishments, she founded the Susan B. Anthony coven (named after the famous suffragist), hosted a radio show in San Francisco, directed the Women's Spirituality Forum in Oakland, and led a successful public hexing against a mass murderer.

January 31 Each year on or around this date, a sacred festival is held in the Katmandu Valley of Nepal in honor of the goddess Sarasvati, an ancient Indian deity who presides over all forms of education. As temples dedicated to her, offerings of food, flowers, and incense are made by faithful Hindus and students who seek her help on their school exams. In the courtyard of the Hanuman Dhoka, an ancient palace where the king is accompanied on this day by Nepalese officials, the annual rites of Spring begin with a traditional gun salute, followed by veneration ceremonies which are performed by the royal priest. In the Hawaiian Islands, a joyous flower-filled festival in honor of an ancient goddess associated with the narcissus flower is celebrated each year on this day; while in China, an annual festival honoring Kuan Yin takes place.

February 1 Candlemas Eve

Brigit, the Celtic Earth-Mother and goddess of fire, wisdom, poetry, and sacred wells, is honored on this day. In Ireland, offering of yellow flowers are made to the goddess at sacred wells dedicated to her. In ancient Greece, the three-day Lesser Eleusinian Mysteries began each year on this day in honor of the goddesses Ceres, Demeter, Persephone, and Proserpine.

February 2 On this day, the Candlemas sabbath is celebrated by Wiccans and Witches throughout the world. Candlemas (which is also known as Imolc, Oimelc, and Lady Day) is a fire festival that celebrates the coming of Spring. New beginnings and spiritual growth are represented by the "sweeping out of the old," symbolized by the sweeping of the circle with a besom (a Witch's broom). This is traditionally done by the High Priestess of the coven, who wears a brilliant crown of thirteen candles on top of her head. In ancient Europe, the Candlemas sabbath was celebrated with a torch-light procession to purify and fertilize the fields before the seed-planting season, and to honor and give thanks to the various deities and spirits associated with agriculture.

February 3 On this date, an annual ceremony called the Blessing of the Throats takes place to honor the healing powers of Saint Blaise and to magically ward off throat ailments brought on by the winter's cold.

February 4 Throughout Japan the evil demons of winter are exorcised annually on this day with a festival called the Setsu-bun. Beans are placed in every corner of a family's house, and pointed branches and sardine heads are mounted over the doors. Centuries-old purification rites are performed by priests in all temples and shrines. Prayers are written on slips of paper and then cast from bridges into the rivers below.

February 5 On this date in the year 1962, the Great conjunction of the Sun, Moon, Venus, Mars, Mercury, Jupiter, and Saturn occurred in the sign of Aquarius.

On this day, the annual Feast of Ia is celebrated in honor of, and to invoke the power of, the Sacred Maiden of the Pagan mythos.

Imbolc – The Feast of Bride

The First of February belongs to Brigid, (Brighid, Brigit, Bride,) the Celtic goddess who in later times became revered as a Christian saint. Originally, her festival on February 1 was known as Imbolc or Oimealc, two names which refer to the lactation of the ewes, the flow of milk that heralds the return of the life-giving forces of spring. Later, the Catholic Church replaced this festival with Candlemas Day on February 2, which is dedicated to the Virgin Mary and features candlelight processions. The powerful figure of Brigid the Light-Bringer overlights both pagan and Christian celebrations.

In most parts of the British Isles, February is a harsh and bitter month. In old Scotland, the month fell in the middle of the period known as Faoilleach, the Wolf-month; it was also known as a' marbh mhiòs, the Dead-month. But although this season was so cold and drear, small but sturdy signs of new life began to appear: Lambs were born and soft rain brought new grass. Ravens begin to build their nests and larks were said to sing with a clearer voice.

In Ireland, the land was prepared to receive the new seed with spade and plough; calves were born, and fishermen looked eagerly for the end of winter storms and rough seas to launch their boats again.

In Scotland, the Old Woman of winter, the Cailleach, is reborn as Bride, Young Maiden of Spring, fragile yet growing stronger each day as the sun rekindles its fire, turning scarcity into abundance. Of her, Alexander Carmichael wrote:

Bride with her white wand is said to breathe life into the mouth of the dead Winter and to bring him to open his eyes to the tears and the smiles, the sighs and the laughter of Spring. The venom of the cold is said to tremble for its safety on Bride's Day, and to flee for its life on Patrick's Day.

Candlemas

In keeping with the policy of the Catholic Church to subsume pagan festivals into Christian feast-days, the Day of Bride became equated with Candlemas on February 2nd, the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary. At this time, forty days after childbirth, Mary was supposed to have gone to the Temple at Jerusalem to make the traditional offering to purify herself. As she entered the temple, an old man named Simeon recognized the baby as the Messiah of Israel, and a “light to lighten the Gentiles.”

So, once again we encounter the archetype of the young Sun or Light come to redeem the darkness, but now in Christian clothing. Certainly, the service most used for this day in the medieval church made much of this symbolism, playing upon images of the appearance of divine light in the darkness of human sin, of renewal and rebirth of light in the dark time of the year, and of the new light of heaven come to transform an old world.

In Britain, Candlemas was celebrated with a festival of lights. In the dark and gloomy days of February, the shadowy recesses of medieval churches twinkled brightly as each member of the congregation carried a lighted candle in procession around the church, to be blessed by the priest. Afterwards, the candles were brought home to be used to keep away storms, demons and other evils.

This custom lasted in England until it was banned in the Reformation for promoting the veneration of magical objects. Even so, the symbol of the lighted candles had too strong a hold on the popular imagination to be entirely cast aside. Traces of the festival lingered until quite recently in other areas of the British Isles like little lights that refused to be blown out.

In Wales, Candlemas was known as Gwyl Fair y Canhwyllau, Mary’s Festival of the Candles, and was celebrated as late as the 19th century by setting a lighted candle in the windows or at the table on this night. Special Candlemas carols were sung by singers who processed from house to house.

An Inner Journey Meditation to invoke Brigit: The Forge in the Forest

Light your candle. Gaze into the flame for a few moments, then close your eyes. You will still see the image of the flame against your eyelids. Now imagine it is growing brighter and brighter, and go one step further and imagine you are standing in a place filled with the warmth and red gold light of leaping flames... Imagine, in fact, that you are standing in the entrance to a forge in a forest, where a blazing fire is roaring, and in front of it stands a woman. Thick, auburn hair is tied back, but a few rippling curls have escaped around her face. She is dressed in dark green with sleeves rolled up to the elbows, revealing strong white arms. Brigit, for of course it is she, stands over a large anvil where all her concentration is focused on beating a sheet of soft gleaming bronze with a great hammer... At last, she looks up and smiles at you warmly. She has finished her creation and holds it up to the light of the fire for you to see. As you look at it, it appears to continually change shape: first it seems to be a leaf, then a globe, ... and now it has become a star. Brigit laughs deeply, musically, and tosses the star into the air, where it sails into the night sky and takes its place among the glittering constellations...

And now Brigit turns towards you and asks: What have you come here to create? ... You tell her of your vision, whether great or small, personal or for the wider community... and she beckons you over to the fire. As you look into the flames, pictures start to move and you see yourself at work, filled with enthusiasm and passion as you make your vision a reality... ... You and your creation are surrounded and shot through with the golden light of inspiration. Brigit is there too, watching over you with love as you work, encouraging you and filling you with confidence and creativity... If any self-doubt or fears start to arise, see Brigit surrounding you with her mantle of protection: a warm soft cloak of green that makes you feel safe and inviolable... Now see yourself with your vision turned into reality, feeling a sense of accomplishment and pride... Thank Brigit for showing you this vision, and ask her to tell you what your first step should be towards bringing it into reality.... Listen carefully, and ask her questions if you need more clarity... When you have finished the conversation with her, see the forge suddenly glow even more brightly, so that all forms and shapes, including that of Brigit herself, melt into a suffusion of golden light... and now see that the light is just the candle flame reflected on your eyelids... Slowly come back to the room. Open your eyes and write down what she has suggested. In the coming weeks, call upon Brigit to help keep your inspiration alight.

Lughnasadh 2nd Februry Southern Hemisphere

The Celtic harvest festival takes its name from the Irish god Lugh, one of the chief gods of the Tuatha De Danann, giving us Lughnasadh in Ireland, Lunasdál in Scotland, and Laa Luanyis in the Isle of Man.

Lugh, the Celtic deity who presides over the arts and sciences. According to Celtic legend, Lugh decreed that a commemorative feast be held each year at the beginning of the harvest season to honor his foster mother, Tailtiu. Tailtiu was the royal Lady of the Fir Bolg. After the defeat of her people by the Tuatha De Dannan, she was obliged by them to clear a vast forest for the purpose of planting grain. She died of exhaustion in the attempt. The legend states that she was buried beneath a great mound named for her, at the spot where the first feast of Lughnasadh was held in Ireland, the hill of Tailte. At this gathering were held games and contests of skill as well as a great feast made up of the first fruits of the summer harvest....

This is the time when the powerful gods of the grain harvests are honoured. The festival of the First Fruits of the Harvest, and is the first festival of the Waning Year.

“Lammas” was the medieval Christian name for the holiday, and it means “loaf-mass”, for this was the day on which loaves of bread were baked from the first grain harvest and laid on the church altars as offerings. It was a day representative of “first fruits” and early harvest.

Believing is Seeing

by Owen Waters

Today's massive, ongoing Shift in consciousness is a shift from intellectual awareness to holistic awareness.

Intellectual awareness is a function of the solar plexus chakra, where mental ability is developed in a linear direction. Examples of linear thought include the performing of arithmetic and the operating of machinery. In this mode of consciousness, people have learned to develop a rigid discipline of "seeing is believing" in order to find what works and what doesn't.

With holistic awareness, the heart chakra is developed, allowing issues of separation to be resolved and integrated. Holistic awareness means that mind, body & spirit are seen as closely related facets of the human being. This heart-centered awareness is a viewpoint of integration or wholeness which heals the fears and discords that come with solar plexus consciousness.

There is a paradox with moving from linear intellect to heart-centered consciousness. While the intellectual phase of consciousness may say that "Seeing is believing," the holistic phase requires quite the reverse. In holistic consciousness, opposites are often both true as they are seen as opposite sides of the same coin or as polar opposites of the same issue.

Awareness that is limited to the intellect is subject to issues of separation; of us versus them, of struggling for resources that are perceived as scarce instead of solving the problem of their scarcity. Holistic awareness includes the idea that consciousness creates realities, that something must be created in consciousness – "believed" – before they can become a reality.

So, in holistic consciousness, "Believing is seeing" becomes a statement of truth, even though it is the opposite of "Seeing is believing." Instead, it adds the understanding that reality is created by consciousness. We are not merely observers of what is. We create what is.

Traditionally, people have entered a realm of holistic, heart-centered awareness when they pass on from this life. In the afterlife, their task is to heal the fears and hates of their physical lives and transform them into love and forgiveness, thus integrating themselves with others, rather than feeling separate from them.

Today, due to The Shift, more and more people are embracing holistic, heart-centered consciousness while still alive in physical bodies. As the heart is also the gateway to spiritual consciousness, this global movement is producing a revolution in spiritual unfoldment.

Spiritual consciousness is flowering in the global consciousness of humanity as The Shift progresses. Today's pioneers in consciousness are people just like yourself. They are exploring the new territory of unconditional love and experiencing a reunion with their own inner, spiritual connections.

The higher aspect of heart-centered consciousness is fully connected to your inner being, or soul. Your inner being is fully connected to the consciousness of the universe and to that which created the universe. Infinite Being is within each of us. We are Infinite Being.

The daily focus that we apply to our five senses and their connection to the outside world is just like performing a part in a play. We act out the part of being us, along the general theme of the type of events that we planned for this life. We ride along through the journey of this life, gaining the type of experiences that we planned to gain.

When you open up to your heart, and through that, reconnect to your own spiritual source, then you have become a part of the very future of humanity.

The Shift is heading towards a world where unconditional love and acceptance is normal, where strife is relegated to the distant past, where the true potential of human beings can express itself in the daily joy of being all that you are.

Spell of the Week

A Sprinkling of Protection

Keep your house safe and sound with a little protection magic. Of course, that doesn't mean you should leave your door unlocked either. Common sense works well with magic. You just need:

- A handful of salt
- A teaspoon or so of garlic powder

And no, you can't use pre-made garlic salt. Mix the salt and garlic together, and sprinkle a little bit of it at each door threshold and windowsill. It will help keep out negative energy. And vampires.

Merry Meet fellow Wiccans to my Wiccan World

My week has been one with a lot of relaxation, and just land after my trip to my friend. Even though we didn't do much, it was still intense. I have also got two out of three of the Kundalini Reiki Attunements. The weather in Sweden has really turned to winter with snow on the ground and the kids out and playing in it.

I have been resting a lot since I came home from my friend, and it has done me really good. It was my first trip away for about 2 ½ years, so it was well on time for me to get away for a couple of days. My husband was at home with our dog, and he have had a relaxing time and just read through a book (Eragon saga – the last of the four) with 890 pages. So he had some reading to do, but he had nearly finished it when I had come home. We had missed each other while I was away, but still we needed the time away to miss each other too. The dog had also missed me, and I was greeted with a lot of kisses from his part.

I have had two of my Attunements for Kundalini Reiki, and will have the last one on Wednesday, this week. I am so excited to see what that will give me, as I have waited for these Attunements and the Kundalini Reiki energies since I read about the Kundalini in the 1st Degree Correllian Wicca. Which is about 8 years ago, so far it has given me what I have expected and I will let you know next week how the Level 3/Master Attunement went. But I bet it will be mighty powerful, though.

I have also been involved in a project, and that has taken up a lot of my time during the last week. I cannot tell so much about it at the moment, but as soon as we have it publically I will let you know what I have been working on. It is however a very fun project and I love working with it. We are a couple of person that is involved and with it, and I think that we all have loads of fun with finalizing the project so we can get it out for all. But as I said, at the moment I cannot say what it is. I think that you all will like the work we have put down into it, and have much use of it, too. I have still about two weeks of working with it, before we are completely finished with the project. Then I can rest and feel proud along with the others that have worked with the project, and see the fruit of our labor that we have done and is for others to see. I don't think that anyone not will like what we have accomplished, as it will benefit for so many out there. I am over-whelmed over that I am one of the people that make this happen and also that I was asked to be a part of it all. I feel a lot of honor, and I am so, so proud over my co-workers in this, too. Thanks to you all for letting me be a part of it, and also thanks to our group- leader that started all this about one or two months ago. We are progressing in lightning speed, and we will be finished in no time with the project and then the true fun starts. Look out for new announcements, and I will let you know what we have up our sleeves when it is publically.

Take care until Monday. Blessed be all of you and love always to all my brothers and sisters in Correllian Tradition. Love and Light, Hugz and Blessings

Frank's Weekly Horoscopes (30th January)

Frank Pilkington's weekly horoscopes commencing Monday 30th January 2012

ARIES (March 21st-April 20th) Although you like being flavour of the month at the start of the week, the novelty starts to wane as you approach the weekend, and you'd like some peace and quiet to yourself again. Treat relationships and friendships with care and others will co-operate. Keep opinions to yourself.

TAURUS (April 21st-May 21st) There's underlying friction building over communications, so do your best to pre-empt problems and you'll side step eruptions. Take as much time as you need to attend to banking and money issues as it's vital you have long term plans and finances in place. Make them watertight.

GEMINI (May 22nd-June 21st) The Venus/Mars contact mid week heats up relationships and social interactions, but it can also bring a hefty dose of trouble and friction, so make sure you've got the balance right in both work and social arenas. The moon in your sign gives you an edge and news is good by the weekend.

CANCER (June 22nd-July 23rd) There's no denying you're feeling the heat of passion, but is it the hot, sweaty carnal version or just passionate differences of opinion? Use your intuition and trust your instincts when making major decisions over work and money this week and keep arguments at bay at home by co-operating.

LEO (July 24th-August 23rd) This week is all about meeting new people, interacting with new people and working out what new people can give you in the way of advice or opportunities. Communicating with old friends will be hard if their opinions vastly differ from yours. Don't lose your patience or you'll lose them.

VIRGO (August 24th-September 23rd) Petty work squabbles could affect you more than you think, so make reparations as quickly as you can and get things back on an even keel. Avoid confusion and chaos by speaking clearly and being as upfront as you can. Say what you mean and mean what you say. Plain and simple.

LIBRA (September 24th-October 23rd) If others can't or don't match your level of emotional intensity this week, you'll want to move away from them. Is that really fair? People don't always move at the same tempo so give them a chance. Someone's stinging comments over your attitude to others hits home this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 24th-November 22nd) If differences with others aren't settled by the weekend you'll feel a sense of chaos and confusion descending over your life. My advice would be to sit round the debating table until things are back on an even keel and everyone knows where they stand again. It's vital.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23rd-December 21st) If communications are complicated they'll lead to misunderstandings this week, so keep things simple and take your time before responding to edgy comments. Don't allow co-operation to veer off into competition, and be on your guard against being manipulated.. It could happen!

CAPRICORN (December 22nd-January 20th) If you can manage to balance compassion with critical analysis when interacting with others, you'll have found the foolproof formula we all need to keep the peace. It'll be hard to stick to routine as the weekend approaches, but you're heading into party time, so let your hair down.

AQUARIUS (January 21st-February 19th) The fusion of Venus and Mars stirs up your desires and passions, but also encourages you to spend somewhat lavishly and indiscriminately. Is this wise? Think of the consequences. You forget at times that the piper always needs to be paid at some point. Time for a rethink?

PISCES (February 20th-March 20th) If others are overly critical or pushy it may send your sensitivities into over drive. You need to try to harden up, especially in the work arena. There will always be someone out to knock you off balance and fill your position. Emotional complications don't need to be such hard work.

2012 - The Year of the Water Dragon

by Jane Lyle

Enter the Dragon, it's 2012. It's dramatic, intense, and mystical, and it begins with the new Moon on 23rd January 2012

Chinese New Year always begins on the second new Moon after the previous Winter Solstice, according to the traditional Chinese lunar calendar. The fifth animal in the Chinese astrological system, the Dragon is very fortunate for some of us - but volatile, creative, and feisty too. It is the only magical, mythical creature amongst the Chinese animal signs, and as such enjoys a quite a reputation for drama and good fortune. The Dragon is said to guard the Gates of Heaven.

2012 is the year of the intelligent Water Dragon, last experienced in 1952. The five elements of Chinese astrology, feng shui, and medicine are earth, metal, water, wood, and fire. They, too, unfold in cycles. The basic larger Chinese astrological animals cycle is sixty years - although the last Dragon year was 2000, when the Metal Dragon glittered - metal is the preceding element in the elements cycle. Each animal comes around every twelve years. But whichever element he finds himself in, The Dragon is a masculine, yang sign - active, fiery, and glamorous.

So, what does Chinese astrology have to say for our year ahead? The Year of the Rabbit had a strong message for the Euro, and Europe as a whole - as we predicted in 2011. The Water Dragon presided over the dawn of the European community just after the Second World War. So once again we can expect upheavals in Europe, and perhaps a massive change for the Euro itself as some countries opt out. Global finances continue to be unstable, and you certainly don't need Chinese astrology to tell you that!

Areas favoured by the Water Dragon include hospitality, agriculture, environmentally friendly projects, medical research, and innovative, inventive thinkers in general. Property may actually be ok amidst the stormy seas of 2012, but that will depend upon where it is. This is a stormy year in every way, with news of dramatic floods, earthquakes, and storms. We can also expect many more storms of protest, as people continue to demonstrate and strike around the world. Revolution is in the air in both Chinese and Western astrology, and there's no stopping it now.

Lucky animal signs in this wild year are Monkey, Rabbit, Rat and Tiger. For the Goat, Rooster, Pig and Ox it's a neutral year, for Horse and Snake a year with much to think about. The Dog can expect many challenges, while the Dragon will be energized, but must be cautious when making important decisions. If you don't know what Chinese sign you are - here's a guide. And remember, Chinese astrology is very complex, so anything based on your animal sign alone is just a little new year taste of this huge subject.

Gung hay fat choy! Wishing you a happy and prosperous Chinese new year!

Want to know which Chinese animal you or your friends and family are? Here they are:

1. Rat - 2008, 1996, 1984, 1972, 1960, 1948, 1936, 1924, 1912, 1900

* If your birthday is in January or February check the exact date of the Chinese new year. Because it is a lunar calendar, it varies annually.

Northern Hemisphere

Imbolc

by Ian R Thorpe

Pale winter sun lingers, lengthening each day,
On twig and branch new buds begin to swell.
Songbirds give voice, each striving to excel,
Seed senses change in its deep bed of cold clay,
Earth goddess weaves her magic to propel
Reborn cycle of her womb along its way

Life returns in every tree's slow thought,
In pond and stream the dance begins again
Spring flowers show, their purpose to proclaim
A new season comes; winter's reign is short
And darkness no longer exercises any claim;
Green growth dispels grey moods it brought.

Lughnassadh

By Mike Garofalo

“Under the summer sun,
thirty birds feeding
on figs.

Young tree branches sagging so low - ripe peaches.

Still in the shade,
on wet soil,
a black dragonfly.

An old mind surprised by seeing a purple fairy at sunset, dancing to the crickets’ tunes, leaping as guinea hens screech,
wary of the bats,
hovering to say,
“Lugh’s Day, Lugh’s Day.”

Crackling fires glowing under the full moon.

Peace in the Valley.”

Spanish Wiccan Blog and Podcast

Wiccan blog and podcast in Spanish, 13 lunas (13 moons), created and maintained by Rev. Clara Fuentes (aka Harwe Tuileva), a Correllian priestess from Spain.

The blog seeks to keep Pagans and Wiccans from all the Spanish-speaking countries informed by means of an easy access format, and, of course, for free. Besides, the recent creation of a radio program in the form of a podcast completes this successful project that is currently receiving more than 400 visits per day at its website. The wonderful reception granted by the Spanish-speaking community reflects the need of more information of the Pagan and Wiccan community, which was looking forward to counting on this kind of initiatives in their own language.

The blog can be found at <http://www.13-lunas.com>.

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,

The Order of Web Weavers

Order of Peace Weavers

The Order of Peace Weavers was created to provide members of the Correllian Tradition with the means of gathering together to collectively promote the weaving of peace into the fabric of society through meditation, prayer, Reiki, visualization, spell working, ritual, creative writing, intentional art and music, and other positive energy work and light work, with harm to none, and for the highest good of all concerned.

The motto of the Order of Peace Weavers is: "Be Peace, Live Peace, Send Love, Weave Peace." We hold a monthly 15 minute group peace meditation on the first Wednesday of every month and would love to have more join us to promote peace.

The Order of Peace Weavers is a chartered order of the Correllian Tradition. Membership is by invitation or application and is open to Inner and Outer Court members.

For more information, please find us at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/orderofpeaceweavers/> or contact moonraven3x3@yahoo.com.

The Order of World Walkers

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition-- advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it. I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
