Saturday 17th October – Diwali (Hindu, Jain, Sikh)

Diwali, the Hindu festival of lights, is the most popular of all the festivals from South Asia, and is also the occasion for celebrations by Jains and Sikhs as well as Hindus.

The festival of Diwali extends over five days. Because of the lights, fireworks, and sweets involved, it's a great favourite with children.

The festival celebrates the victory of good over evil, light over darkness, and knowledge over ignorance, although the actual legends that go with the festival are different in different parts of India.

The Times of India summed up the modern meaning of Diwali:

Regardless of the mythological explanation one prefers, what the festival of lights really stands for today is a reaffirmation of hope, a renewed commitment to friendship and goodwill, and a religiously sanctioned celebration of the simple - and some not so simple - joys of life. Times of India editorial

For Sikhs, Diwali is particularly important because it celebrates the release from prison of the sixth guru, Guru Hargobind, and 52 other princes with him, in 1619.

The Sikh tradition holds that the Emperor Jahangir had imprisoned Guru Hargobind and 52 princes. The Emperor was asked to release Guru Hargobind which he agreed to do. However, Guru Hargobind asked that the princes be released also. The Emperor agreed, but said only those who could hold onto his cloak tail would be allowed to leave the prison. This was in order to limit the number of prisoners who could leave.

However, Guru Hargobind had a cloak made with 52 pieces of string and so each prince was able to hold onto one string and leave prison.

Sikhs celebrated the return of Guru Hargobind by lighting the Golden Temple and this tradition continues today.

Diwali dates

The date of Diwali is set by the Hindu calendar and so it varies in the Western calendar. It usually falls in October or November.

Diwali is a New Year festival in the Vikrama calendar, where it falls on the night of the new moon in the month of Kartika.

Business people regard it as a favourable day to start a new accounting year because of the festival's association with the goddess of wealth.

Diwali is also used to celebrate a successful harvest.

A row of lights

The name of the festival comes from the Sanskrit word dipavali, meaning row of lights.

Diwali is known as the 'festival of lights' because houses, shops, and public places are decorated with small earthenware oil lamps called diyas. These lamps, which are traditionally fueled by mustard oil, are placed in rows in windows, doors and outside buildings to decorate them.

The lamps are lit to help the goddess Lakshmi find her way into people's homes. They also celebrate one of the Diwali legends, which tells of the return of Rama and Sita to Rama's kingdom after fourteen years of exile.

In towns (and in Britain) electric lights are often used in Diwali displays.

In India oil lamps are often floated across the river Ganges - it is regarded as a good omen if the lamp manages to get all the way across.

Fireworks

Fireworks are also a big part of the Diwali celebrations, although in recent years there has been a move against them because of noise and atmospheric pollution and the number of accidental deaths and injuries.

Goddesses

Two Goddesses in particular are celebrated at Diwali: Lakshmi and Kali.

Lakshmi, wealth and prosperity

For many Indians the festival honours Lakshmi, the goddess of wealth.

People start the new business year at Diwali, and some Hindus will say prayers to the goddess for a successful year.

Some people build a small altar to the goddess and decorate it with money and with pictures of the rewards of wealth, such as cars and houses.

Celebrating Lakshmi

Hindus will leave the windows and doors of their houses open so that Lakshmi can come in. Rangoli are drawn on the floors - rangoli are patterns and the most popular subject is the lotus flower. This because images of Lakshmi traditionally show her either holding a lotus or sitting on one.

There is much feasting and celebration, and the Diwali lamps are regarded as making it easy for Lakshmi to find her way to favoured houses.

Kali

The goddess Kali is celebrated at Diwali in the Bengali and Oriya areas of India.

Gambling

The downside of the festival is that many Indians see it as an occasion to gamble. This comes from a legend that the goddess Parvati played dice with her husband on this day and she said that anyone who gambled on Diwali night would do well.

Gifts

Like Christmas in the West, Diwali is very much a time for buying and exchanging gifts.

Traditionally sweets and dried fruit were very common gifts to exchange, but the festival has become a time for serious shopping, leading to anxiety that commercialism is eroding the spiritual side of the festival.

In most years shopkeepers expect sales to rise substantially in the weeks before the festival.

Diwali is also a traditional time to redecorate homes and buy new clothes.

Some Diwali legends

The night is black
Kindle the lamp of love
With thy life and devotion.

Two of the legends of Diwali show the triumph of Good over Evil, and tell of the destruction of two monsters that preyed on humanity.

The killing of the demon Narakaasura

The demon was the evil king of Pragjyotishpur, near Nepal. He ruled with a reign of terror, abducted 16,000 daughters of the gods and stole the earrings of Aditi, mother of the gods.

The gods asked Lord Krishna for help, and after a mighty battle he killed the demon, freed the girls and recovered the earrings.

The rescue of the 16,000 girls is said to be the origin of the story that Krishna had 16,000 wives. After his victory Krishna returned very early in the morning and was bathed and massaged with scented oils. Taking an early morning bath with oil is still a Diwali tradition.

The killing of the demon Ravana

Ravana, who had ten arms and ten heads, was the wicked king of the island of Sri Lanka, who kidnapped the wife of Rama. Rama had been in exile for 14 years because of a disagreement as to whether he or his brother should be the next king in Ayodhya.

After a great battle Rama killed the demon and recovered his wife. Rama's return with his wife Sita to Ayodhya and his subsequent coronation as king is celebrated at Diwali.

When Rama and Sita first returned to Ayodhya it was a dark moonless night and they couldn't see where they were going. Their people put little lamps outside their houses so that the new king and queen could find their way, thus beginning the tradition of the festival of lights.

Thought of the day:

Authentic and unique

You are unique. So think like it, act like it, and make the most of it.

Breakthroughs do not come from following the crowd. You are capable of truly great achievements if you will simply and authentically and passionately be you.

Why would you let anyone else define who you can be and what you can do? Those are decisions that are best made by you.

You have something valuable that no one else has. You have the unique perspective of being you, of seeing the world in a way that cannot be duplicated.

You have dreams that are yours alone, hopes, passions, things that interest you, things that make you laugh and things that make you cry. They all combine to create outstanding opportunities for fulfilment.

In all you do, richly express the wonderful, unique person that is you. And find joy in seeing your greatest achievements flow from your most authentic and unique efforts.

The Samhain Dumb Supper

The date for this holiday is October 31st, the same date as the secular observance of Halloween. A lot of anti-Pagan ire is thrown at Samhain, and many mistaken people claim that the holiday is the worship of the Devil. The character known as Lucifer or Satan is not part of Neo-Pagan or Wiccan beliefs.

Samhain is a time when the beloved dead are honored and remembered, as well as a time for rejoicing for the new year and offering well wishes and blessings for times ahead. This duality happens because the calendar year is viewed as a wheel that turns, and then comes back to where it started. This night marks both an end and a beginning.

One of the more interesting rituals that some people conduct on Samhain is called a "dumb supper." This doesn't mean the meal is stupid. The usage of dumb here goes back to the archaic meaning, where "dumb" meant "silent" or "without speaking." In essence, the entire dinner party is conducted without any talking or conversation on the part of the participants.

This type of ritualized meal can be found noted in a variety of Pagan faiths. Most often the dinner happens late at night, sometimes even being served at midnight. Doors or windows to the house may be left slightly ajar to allow the blessed dead or spirits to enter the house.

For those living participants, the entire meal is served and eaten in silence. This allows each person to commune with the spirits or energies, and also symbolizes how the deceased are no longer able to speak with voices. Some people watch and listen for signs from the spirits as they dine. Plates of food for the spirits are portioned out and set at places at the table along with the corporeal guests.

Source: <http://hubpages.com/hub/Samhain>

To most modern Pagans, while death is still the central theme of the festival this does not mean it is a morbid event. For Pagans, death is not a thing to be feared. Old age is valued for its wisdom and dying is accepted as a part of life as necessary and welcome as birth. While Pagans, like people of other faiths, always honour and show respect for their dead, this is particularly marked at Samhain. Loved ones who have recently died are remembered and their spirits often invited to join the living in the celebratory feast. It is also a time at which those born during the past year are formally welcomed into the community. As well as feasting, Pagans often celebrate Samahin with traditional games such as apple-dooking.

Death also symbolises endings and Samhain is therefore not only a time for reflecting on mortality, but also on the passing of relationships, jobs and other significant changes in life. A time for taking stock of the past and coming to terms with it, in order to move on and look forward to the future.

PUMPKIN TREATS

Ingredients:

Filling –

1 cup canned pumpkin

1 cup sugar

1 1/4 cup. flaked coconut, lightly packed

1/2 tsp. cinnamon

1/4 tsp. nutmeg

walnuts or pecans, finely chopped

Directions:

Mix the first five ingredients well in a large saucepan. Cook over medium high, stirring constantly for 15-20 minutes. It is done when it is very thick and leaves side of pan, forming a ball in the center as you stir. Turn onto a greased baking sheet. Cover loosely with foil or plastic wrap. Let cool completely. Lightly grease your hands and shape candy into balls. Roll the balls in nuts. Cover, store in refrigerator.

This recipe makes about 2 1/2 dozen. Vary by stirring 1 cup crushed granola into cooked candy before cooling and shaping.

Cinnamon : Attracts Prosperity, Love, Lust and Protection. It also helps to reduce stomach acid and relieve menstrual cramps, and helps heal from colds and flu.

Nutmeg : Attracts Prosperity, Luck and Psychic Awareness.

Ginger : Attracts Prosperity, Love, Lust & Heightens Magickal Powers. Also relieved Headaches and is an anti-inflammatory.

Vanilla : Invokes Memory, Heightens Magickal Powers, and Attracts Love & Lust.

It's no surprise that the foods served in the harvest season should draw wealth into your life. You may wish to empower the food with your intent to draw prosperity in the coming months while you are preparing any of these recipes. Or you could empower them to serve as aphrodisiacs if you wish!

Make a Samhain Skull Garland

By Patti Wigington, About.com

The skull appears regularly in symbols around Samhain -- after all, this is the time when the earth is dying, plus everyone is focusing on Halloween. The Samhain sabbat celebrates the cycle of rebirth, and acknowledges that with life, there must also be death. This skull garland, inspired by the candy skulls of Mexico's Day of the Dead celebration, is a simple craft project you can make with scrap material around your house.

You'll need the following:

- * Felt in a variety of colors
- * Embroidery floss
- * Cotton balls
- * 1/2" wide ribbon

Start by cutting out skull shapes from the felt. The ones in the photo are about two inches long and about an inch wide. You'll need two pieces -- a front and a back -- for each skull you plan on making.

To make the faces, snip a pair of small circles for the eyes. Place a contrasting piece of felt behind the holes, and then use the embroidery floss to stitch them in place. Once you've done that, add other features like noses or teeth. Get as creative as you like -- add flowers, swirls, dots, etc., to your skulls.

Once you've decorated the face, place the backing piece of felt on, and stitch about 3/4 of the way around the edge of the skull. Stuff the inside with a pair of cotton balls, and then stitch closed.

After you've made all your skulls, measure out a length of ribbon. Use a whip stitch to anchor the skulls to the ribbon, about 8 - 10" apart. Hang your garland over your door or place it on your altar.

If you have cats, you can add a pinch of catnip to the skull stuffing before you stitch it closed. My intention was to do this with a pair of skulls, and tie them, along with a bell, to a piece of ribbon and a stick to create a cat toy. Instead, Gypsy the Ten Ton Calico came along, grabbed a skull, and ran off with it, growling and nomming it all the way. I haven't seen it since!

Samhain Ancestor Tree

copyright 2003 Lora Craig-Gaddis

Find and cut a gnarly old twisted, twiggy branch from a tree.

Spray paint it black and then use screws to attach the cut end to a piece of plywood also painted black.

Now, you know the cobweb stuff you can buy at this time of year? Get some of that and puff and clump it to make “fog” around the base of the tree. You can also take some thin strands to weave through the twig “branches” to make spider webs.

On old looking pieces of yellowed parchment paper (available at any stationery, office or computer supply store) that have been cut into small squares, write the names of deceased family members and ancestors – one name on each square of parchment. Another option is to actually print out small photos of your loved ones.

Using whatever glue you have on hand, glue more black twigs around each piece of parchment to create a frame. You can make some frames square, others round, some octagonal – whatever!

Take some natural brown twine and glue that onto the frames to create a loop for hanging the names from the “branches” of your ancestor tree.

It’s fun to dress your tree up with little seasonal decorations that you find in stores at this time: small plastic spiders, owls and crows, tiny skeletons or skulls or even make little ghosts out of tissue paper or gauze fabric to hang from the branches between the names and photos. Our family likes to skewer candy corn and candy pumpkins with old hooks left over from Yule tree ornaments and hang those for the kids to nibble on. It draws their attention to the tree, makes it more fun and enticing, and gives you an opportunity to tell them about the people behind the names that are hung there.

You can even try hanging one treat on each name and then before getting the treat, ask your child to remember and tell you something about that person. If your child is very young, you can adjust this to letting them hear a little story about that person as they enjoy the treat. The Ancestor Tree makes a nice altar decoration and can be surrounded by more old photographs and mementos handed down through the family.

Poets Retreat

From her to me to her from me

From her...
Through the astral mists I travel
A million miles there
Images of you I guard
My love, my heart, my dear
I hear you in the sunlight
I see you in the night
I feel you pull me closer
And embrace me in your light
Together we delve into the past
Hoping to heal the years
A hundred lonely heartaches
A thousand unshed tears
We were before the moons were hung
We watched in awe as stars were strung
We weave the tapestry of life
With the fragile enduring threads of strife
Oh what a Blessed event it be
To join with the hands of the weavers three
As, was, and shall be
Forever my soul resides with thee
For her...

Autumn came upon me so quickly
I didn't have a chance
To say goodbye to summer
One last sunkist dance
This year has led me
To you my dearest love
You came to me just like that
My true love
Now we know each other
Found ourselves at last
Splendidly embracing
The wreckage of our pasts
I came to you with truths to tell
My life an open book
To say that I've always loved you
And that I needed you
A river walk revealed to me
A plan so carefully made
It involved you and I
And the price we paid

Beaten bruised, defeated
We held each other tight
Knowing deep inside us
We shared a blessed light
Time to rest, time to love, that times now
And I won't ever let you go
Ours a dance amongst the milky way
A trillion billion planets till our own
My hearts screaming baby
Screaming out your name
To be so far away from you
Is a lingering pain
Soon my love
Soon my tinks
We shall be together
I love you

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: www@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
Krystel
