The Spiritual Journey

Bret Burquest

Man is a religious animal, the only religious animal, and he has many religions at his disposal. He is the only animal that loves his neighbor as himself and is tempted to cut his throat if his theology differs. He has spilled vast quantities of blood across the globe while trying to bring heaven to his fellow man.

Every few years, usually on a Saturday morning while I'm still sleeping, a couple of well-groomed strangers will knock on my front door and smile at me in a failed effort to make me feel at ease. Then they'll attempt to hand me some literature while uttering some gibberish about Armageddon and the End of Days and the Rapture.

Before they get very far in their verbal diatribe, my dog will invariably snarl at them. In fact, these are the only two-legged beings my dog will ever snarl at. Apparently, he is very good at sensing evil.

My first reaction is an overwhelming urge to explain to them how downright rude it is to knock on the door of a stranger under the assumption that they are properly spiritual and that their task in life is to bring everyone else up to their lofty level of understanding. Instead, I will abruptly tell them, "No thanks, I do not care to join your cult" and close the door in their face without slamming it too hard or accepting their literature.

There are a multitude of spiritual paths, including numerous religions, conceived by the human race.

AGNOSTICISM: The view that any ultimate reality (such as God) is unknown and probably unknowable. They do not believe in the existence or the nonexistence of a God or gods. They simply don't know.

ANIMISM: Considered to be the original human religion, as practiced by aboriginal and native cultures. They believe in multiple gods and the existence of spiritual beings. Animals, plants and celestial bodies have spirits.

ATHIEISM: There is no such thing as a supreme deity. To believe in God is to have blind faith (wishful thinking) in something that can't be proven to exist, therefore it's only logical to assume it doesn't exist.

BUDDHISM: The essence of existence is suffering. The cause of suffering is pleasure of the senses. You grow through meditation. To end the suffering one must give up the craving for pleasure (both joy and sorrow).

CHINESE TRADITIONAL RELIGION: A combination of Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism. Although Communist laws prohibit religion, an estimated 350 million people still practice this divergent faith privately.

CHRISTIANITY: Through a wide variety of differing denominations and practices, they believe Jesus Christ was the son of God who came into being through an immaculate conception and was crucified for their sins.

GNOSTICISM: God is found within the self as well as outside the self. The soul suffers in this delusional, evil world. Each person has a divine counterpart watching over us. Essential spiritual knowledge comes from within.

HINDUISM: Human and animal spirits reincarnate, returning to earth many times in different forms. Your devotion goes to the god you choose. You go up and down a Karmic hierarchy while seeking Nirvana.

ISLAM: There is one true God named Allah. Their doctrine is the Koran, written by Muhammad, and they must pray five times per day. Those who follow Allah will go to paradise, those who don't will go to hell.

JUDAISM: The world was created by an all-knowing divinity and all things were designed to have purpose. God's will was revealed to Moses on Mt. Sinai and the Torah regulates how humans are to live their lives.

PAGANISM: Pagan means "of the country" or rustic or heathen. It adheres to the religions of classical antiquity, such as Greek mythology. Sub-categories include polytheism, pantheism and shamanism.

WICCAN: A nature-based duo-theistic system that started as sorcery or witchcraft. They worship a Goddess and a God, have a basic code of morality, believe in magic and celebrate eight seasonal festivals per year.

OTHERS: Other belief systems (# of followers) include: Secular (1.1 billion), Primal-indigenous (300 million), African Traditional (100 million), Sikhism (23 million), Spiritism (15 million), Baha'i (7 million), Janeism (4.2 million), Shinto (4 million), Cao Dia (4 million), Zoroastrianism (2.6 million), Tennkyo (2 million), Neo-Paganism (1 million), Unitarian-Universalism (800,000), Rastafariansim (600,000), Scientology (500,000) and so on.

And within each category above, sub-groups abound. For example, Christianity has many offshoots. Some believe Jesus Christ was divine and others believe he was a mortal human. Some believe John the Baptist was the true messiah and Jesus Christ was a false prophet. Some believe Mary Magdalene was the true messiah and crucified on the cross, only to be replaced historically by a male figure later. Some believe Jesus Christ and Mary Magdalene faked the crucifixion and fled to France. Some believe Jesus Christ and Mary Magdalene faked the crucifixion whereupon Mary Magdalene fled to France with their children while Jesus journeyed to India. And so forth.

One thing for certain, the history of religion is a history of horrific wars and bloodshed and torture and injustice and subjugation.

For some, a specific religion manifests a sense of superiority, no doubt overcoming a sense of inferiority. And far too often organized religion has become organized bigotry.

There are those who believe their particular religion is the true path to divine salvation and assume the world would be a better place if everyone believed as they believe. They may even knock on your door to enlist you into their narrow-minded realm of truth.

Some religious zealots will not rest until the world adopts their beliefs. Even in these enlightened times, certain religious zealots feel an obligation to exterminate those who do not follow their path, to be rewarded for their bloody deeds in the afterlife.

Life is a journey. Many people get stuck in the trap of seeking pleasure or riches, but once you start the spiritual aspect of your journey your self-indulgence is replaced with simple pleasures (a beautiful sunset) and a sensible lifestyle (living within your means) as the glory of your spiritual awakening becomes far more rewarding.

Being whole isn't a matter of having money or fun; it's a matter of appreciating your existence.

Your spiritual journey is a profound individual experience of everlasting discovery. While you may rejoice in this discovery, your personal religious principles should remain personal, especially on sleepy Saturday mornings.

Treating others as you wish to be treated includes tolerating other points of view.

A belief is a blind trust in something that has not been proven. One person's belief system is another person's pile of garbage. Keep it to yourself.

When we blindly adopt a religion we cease to grow.

In the Image of God: You are the Divinity you Seek

William Meader

The search for God is central to most world religions. Whether called God, Allah, Brahman or Universal Intelligence, the yearning to feel the presence of a greater being is innate within human consciousness. Regardless of cultural, racial and religious biases, the desire to establish an intimacy with God is a universal urge. Indeed, it has existed since humanity's dawning hour. Yet a new understanding about our relationship to the divine is slowly emerging. We are discovering that the path to God leads to our own divinity. It is an awakening to the fact that the seeker and the sought are one.

In essence, there is only One Life. It is a living singularity, and is what is meant when using the word God. From this oneness, all things arise. Whether we are considering a tree, an animal, or the entity that ensouls the entire Earth, the life essence within all forms is an aspect of the One Life in expression. And, if the One Life is the essence underlying all that is, then every human being must be an expression of that essence. At the deepest and subtlest levels of human consciousness is found a place of divine realization. It is a place where sacredness is touched. When this inner place is found we shall discover that the god we are striving to find is ourselves, in essence.

Ancient wisdom states that "as above so below." This idea is useful when considering the divinity of a human being. It not only suggests that we are a part of God, but that the attributes inherent within God are also found within every one of us. For example, the energies of will, love and intelligence are qualities we often attribute to God. If this ancient proverb is correct, it means that the will, love and intelligence that we experience are extensions of the same qualities emanating from God. Though these qualities are stepped down and greatly distorted when experienced by a human being, they are nonetheless of divine origin.

The Obstacles to Seeing

It may be asked, why is it difficult for us to see ourselves as cells within the One Life? One reason is that we are keenly aware of our shortcomings. Our human imperfections seem to disqualify us from godhood. We see our many mistakes and feel regret; we are aware of our unwholesome thoughts and define ourselves as unworthy; we remember the wrongs we have committed and feel shame for these transgressions. Our divinity is often unrecognized because we condemn our shortcomings and the smallness of our actions.

The solution is to start seeing ourselves in our wholeness, not simply our shortcomings. The day must come when we realize that, though we are flawed, the greater part of us is wise and loving. As Kahlil Gibran states in his book The Prophet, "to measure you by your smallest deed is to reckon the power of the ocean by the frailty of its foam." Each human being is a cell of consciousness within the One Life. Though we are not perfect in our capacity to express this divinity, we are slowly evolving toward that ability. Indeed, this is what the evolution of consciousness is all about.

The belief in God as separate from humankind can also be traced to the exploits of theology, particularly those rooted in the West. As one of many examples, let us consider the Doctrine of Original Sin. The idea that Adam and Eve were cast out of the Garden of Eden has falsely conditioned our collective consciousness to believe that we are exiled from God's countenance. It has created the illusion that a gulf exists between God and creation, and that redemption is conditional. The truth is that no human being is exiled from God. Instead, we are each unique emanations streaming from God.

Humanity as a Hologram

The study of holography can help us understand how every human being is made in the image of God. A hologram is a photographic process that can create unique images. Unlike regular photography, holographic images are three-dimensional and intangible. Essentially, a hologram is a formless three-dimensional image of an object that has been photographed. At first glance, this may seem unrelated to spiritual matters. Yet, the principles behind holography are the same as those that govern the relationship between God and humanity. It makes it possible to understand how the One reflects itself into the many.

One of the remarkable things about a holographic image is that all of the features of a photographed object are three-dimensionally revealed within the hologram. For example, if we were to create a hologram of a flower, every aspect of that flower will be imprinted onto the holographic film. Then, by projecting a laser light through it, the image of the flower will three-dimensionally appear. Amazingly, if we then cut the film in half and project a laser light through it, a three-dimensional image of the entire flower will still appear. If we cut it in half again, the image will again appear. In other words, a hologram makes it possible for the whole to be contained within all of its parts.

By analogy, holograms can help us better understand how we are made in the image of God. In the ultimate sense, there is only One Life (God), and the universe is simply a holographic expression of it. Because every attribute of God is found within all of its holographic extensions, each of us has (within consciousness) these same attributes. As strange as it may seem, you and I, as well as everything in the universe, are holographic images projected from this Universal Being.

Living Your Divinity

The question is, if we are made in the image of God, how can we live it more fully? We must first remember that human consciousness is dual. The lower part is the personality (ego), and the higher division is the soul. Essentially, both the personality and the soul are expressions of the One Life. The essence behind both is divine. The difference is that the personality distorts this essence, while the soul does not. Inwardly recognizing this duality is therefore the first step when trying to live your divinity.

Once this internal duality is acknowledged, the second step is to commit yourself to more fully expressing the higher consciousness that you inwardly sense. It means to favor those psychological qualities that seem lofty and spiritual. Compassion, wisdom, and purpose are just a few of the many attributes conveyed by the soul. These are the aspects of consciousness that need to find greater expression in our lives.

To live your divinity also involves the upliftment of humanity in some way. The soul is always governed by the Law of Service. Inherent in its nature is the urge to contribute to the betterment of the larger whole. When you begin to sense your divinity, you start to see it within others as well. Indeed, you start to realize that the One Life is expressing through everyone and everything. From this realization the impulse to serve will surely arise.

The Angel and the Dweller

It should be noted that living one's divinity is by no means an easy task. The habit of personality consciousness is strong, and it has the historical advantage. For countless incarnations, personality consciousness has been the dominant force within each of us. Shifting to live by the subtle promptings of the soul is therefore difficult.

This also explains why we have moments of deep soulful alignment, followed by the experience of slipping back into the lower-self, the personality. When we strive to live and express our divinity, the personality becomes fearful that it is losing control. Because of this fear, it will often attempt to reassert its authority. We then feel ourselves dropping back into ego consciousness. In the ancient literature this has been called the battle between the Angel of the Presence (soul) and the Dweller on the Threshold (personality). Though sometimes it may feel like the dweller is too strong, by steadily favoring your higher consciousness, the soul will eventually win the day.

Begin to realize that the soul is who you truly are. Yet, this does not mean that the personality is an enemy to your evolution. In truth, the personality has a sacred destiny. Its role is to be the servant of the soul, and not to act as an independent agent. The more you can use your personality to carry the soul's wisdom into the outer world, the more you are expressing your divinity.

Concluding Remarks

For many centuries we have been conditioned to believe that humankind was created by a distant and remote god. Yet a new paradigm is starting to be realized by many people around the world. Deep within ourselves we are beginning to recognize that we are not separate from God, but are integral parts of God.

Yet, to be made in the image of God is not the same as to live it. Enlightenment does not happen by itself. Rather, it must be earned. Every human being must individually do the work of transforming their personality so that it becomes an agent to the soul. The soul is the gate that leads to your Essential Self, which is the part of you that fully knows its divinity. It is you as divine essence.

Though we have many imperfections that seem to deny our godhood, this is only an illusion. Eventually, the divinity of every human being is realized as the intangible essence lying far beyond day-to-day consciousness. It is found in the formless realms deep within. In truth, enlightenment is nothing more than becoming the divine light that you are, and always have been. You are a point of light within a Greater Light.

The subtitle of this article states that "you are the divinity you seek." Though this is profoundly true, it is only a partial truth. To sense your own divinity requires that you realize it within everyone, even those to whom your personality may dislike. The greater truth can therefore be stated this way.

We are the divinity we seek.

Samhain Recipes

Remembrance Cookies

These cookies can be made on Hallow's Eve. They can be shaped like people and the herb rosemary is added to the dough as a symbol of remembrance. Some of the cookies are eaten while telling stories or attributes of special ancestors, reminding us that we still have access to their strengths--or perhaps a predisposition to their weaknesses. The rest of the cookies are left outside by a bonfire as an offering. This can be a solemn ritual, but it need not be.

Ingredients for the cookies:

1 1/2 c. powdered sugar
1 c. butter or margarine (softened)
1 egg
2 t. vanilla
1 t. almond extract
2 1/2 c. all purpose flour
1 t. baking soda
1 t. cream of tartar
1 1/2 T. chopped rosemary

Heat oven 375 degrees. In a large bowl, beat sugar, butter, egg, vanilla, almond extract, and rosemary until creamy. In a separate bowl, sift flour, baking soda, and cream of tartar. Fold flour mixture into sugar mixture. Beat until dough forms and refrigerate for three hours.

Divide dough into halves. Roll out one portion to 3/16 of an inch on a floured surface. Cut out with gingerbread women or men cutters and place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Repeat rolling and cutting with second portion. Bake for 5-7 minutes.

Pumpkin Muffins

1 c Unbleached Flour, Sifted

2 t Baking Powder

1/4 t Salt

1/4 t Ground Cinnamon

1/4 c Vegetable Shortening

2/3 c Sugar

1 ea Large Egg

1/2 c Canned, Mashed Pumpkin

2 T Milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; set aside. Cream together shortening and sugar in mixing bowl until light and fluffy, using electric mixer at medium speed. Beat in egg. Combine pumpkin and milk in small bowl. Add dry ingredients alternately with pumpkin mixture to creamed mixture, stirring well after each addition. Spoon batter into paper-lined 2 1/2-inch muffin-pan cups, filling 2/3rds full.

Bake in 350 degree F. oven 20 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot with butter and homemade jam

by Aurora

This mead is the color of a ripe peach and smells like autumn leaves - perfect for a Harvest party or sabbath.

1 sound, hard-rind pumpkin (approx. 2 quart capacity)

Paraffin wax

1 1/2 quarts of water

4 lbs. honey

2 each oranges and lemons

1 pkt. wine yeast

1 tea bag (black tea)

Prepare yeast starter.

Sterilize honey and water by boiling for 10 minutes, skimming the froth as it rises.

Remove from heat; stir in sliced citrus fruits, including skins.

Cool to room temperature; pitch yeast.

Allow to sit over night.

Prepare pumpkin by cutting off the top with a sharp knife. The top must "mate" with the bottom so cut carefully. Clean out the seeds, strings, and membranes of the pumpkin. Rinse out with water.

Pour the must into the pumpkin, leaving an inch of air space between the liquid and the rim of the opening. Replace the top.

Prepare the paraffin/water bath: Fill a plastic bucket with hot water, melt the paraffin wax and float it on the water.

Dip the pumpkin, bottom first, into the warm paraffin until it is coated up to its lid. Once the paraffin begins to harden on the pumpkin skin, seal the lid by carefully pouring paraffin over the top, making sure to coat the seam.

Set the pumpkin in the middle of a shallow dishpaaan full of water to keep and thirsty pickle worms at bay and place it in a dark, quiet spot.

Allow to sit for two months, then siphon off and bottle.

Note: It is probably a good idea to rack the mead into a glass fermenter, fitted with an air lock, for evaluation prior to bottling. If the fermentation is not complete and you bottle prematurely, the corks and glass may blow.

Samhain Crafts

Leaf Faeries Materials

Heavy paper such as construction paper or posterboard

Autumn leaves

White glue

Markers or crayons

Select one or 2 large leaves for your faery's body and 4 smaller leaves for the hands and feet.

Glue the large leaf to the center of your paper.

Glue the smaller leaves about 2" out from the larger leaf.

Use the marker or crayons to draw a head at the top of the large leaf. Draw "stick-figure" arms and legs connecting the small leaves to the large leaf.

You may wish to draw a background for your leaf faery. What is your faery doing? What does s/he see?

Spooky Spoons

Materials:

Plastic spoon

"Sharpie" pen (permanent marker)

scissors

Pipe cleaner

2 pieces facial tissue

1' ribbon

Using the permanent marker, draw a face on the rounded side of the spoon.

Wrap the pipe cleaner around the spoon handle, just below the bowl of the spoon. Twist the pipe cleaner once to hold it tightly around the spoon handle

Open the 2 pieces of tissue out flat. Fold them accordion (fan) style across the width of the tissue.

Fold one piece of tissue across the pipe cleaner on the left side of the spoon. Wrap the left piece in front of the spoon handle. Push the tissue towards the spoon so that it is gathered as much as possible, and then wrap the pipe cleaner around the handle again. Repeat with the other piece of tissue on the other side of the spoon and taking the tissue around the back of the spoon.

Wrap the ribbon around the spook's "neck" and tie in a bow.

Bend the pipe cleaner arms to any position you wish.

If desired, you can tie a piece of string through the ribbon on the back of the spook's neck and hang your spook to fly in the breeze...

The Veil Is Getting Thin

As I went out walking this fall afternoon,
I heard a wisper wispering.
I heard a wisper wispering,
Upon this fine fall day...

As I went out walking this fall afternoon,
I heard a laugh a'laughing.
I heard a laugh a'laughing,
Upon this fine fall day...

I heard this wisper and I wondered,
I heard this laugh and then I knew.
The time is getting near my friends,
The time that I hold dear my friends,
The veil is getting thin my friends,
And strange things will pass through.

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: www@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be Krystel
