Pagan Calendar December 5 - 11

December 5 In ancient Greece, an annual seaside festival (the Poseidea) was celebrated annually on this date to honor the sea-god Poseidon, consort of the Mother Goddess. In Italy, the First Feast of Saint Lucia is held on this date each year. Before being Christianized into a Saint, she was originally worshiped as Lucina, a Pagan goddess of light who also presided over childbirth.

December 6 On this day in the year 1890, famous occultists and ritual magician Dion Fortune was born in Wales. Although Ms. Fortune never proclaimed herself to be a Witch, her numerous writings are popular among (and inspiring to) many modern Witches, Wiccans, and Neo-Pagans around the world. She died from leukemia on January 8, 1946.

December 7 On this date in ancient Greece, an annual rite called the Haloia of Demeter was performed. According to mythology, each year the goddess Demeter wanders the earth in search of her stolen daughter Persephone. The goddess' sorrow brings Winter to the world and all trees and flowers cease to bloom; however, Spring returns when Persephone is allowed to temporarily leave the darkness of the Underworld and Demeter once again rejoices.

December 8 On this day, the birth of the ancient and powerful goddess of the sun (Amaterasu) is celebrated annually at Shinto temples throughout Japan. In Egypt, the Festival of Neith is celebrated annually on this date to honor the Earth-Goddess of the Delta.

December 9 The ninth day of the last month of the year (along with the sixth and seventh days) is considered to be an extremely unlucky time, according to Grafton in his Manuel (a sixteenth-century book of unlucky days as determined by professional star-gazers). In Mexico, the healing virgin-goddess Tonantzin is honored on this day with an annual festival called the Fiesta of the Mother of Health.

December 10 On this night (approximately), Inuit hunters in the far north begin an annual five-day series of purification rites, followed by a propitiation ceremony under the full moon, for the souls of the animals they had hunted in the last year. The December Moon ceremony has been performed in the Arctic coastal regions of North America for hundreds of years.

December 11 Day of Bruma. On this date, the ancient Roman goddess of the winter season was honored by Pagans in Italy with an annual festival. This day is also sacred to Arianrhod, the Snow Queen goddess, and Yuki Onne.

Merry Meet fellow Wiccans to my Wiccan World

This week has been a busy one for me, I might say, and we also have got the winter cold. However, we have not get any of the snow, yet. I always wish for a white Yule/Christmas.

In my ordinary life, I have been to the doctor. I needed the, sort of, yearly check-up, and some blood-tests were drawn. I will during this week, on Thursday, get to know what they said. My dog has gotten some strange rash between his front legs, and I had to shave some fur off. Now, that I am tending for it, it has gone much, much better. I do use a fungi-lotion on it, to see if it is something like that he catch on him. At least, it is on its way back, for the moment.

During the week, I have got 3 of the 5 attunements for the Rainforest Reiki, and they have been mighty powerful for me. I thought that, OK, now I am asking permission for using this or that animal, but it turned out to be something much deeper than I ever imagined. I do love it, and it is a welcoming energy to my Reiki. I have so far got Attunement for the Wolf, Hawk, Eagle, Raven, Bear, Frog, Horse, Dove, Fox, Owl, Tiger and Lion. I have Butterfly, Snake, Monkey, Fish, Gorilla, Turtle, Lizard and Deer left. In my Reiki-sessions I am still using the ordinary hand-positions, but I am leaning towards to be more and more intuitive. I think, I always have sensed where people need healing, but I have been too critical on myself to really allow it. Now, that I am getting more and more comfortable with the whole thing, I am also much more self-assure about how I shall use the Reiki energy that I am channeling.

I just realize that I actually missed out on the Healing Ritual on Friday. I was scanning my mind, and there was no one that I could remember. I have joined the club of the forgetful people, but with things that has happen during the week it has been hard for me to remember which day was which, actually. I usually am, at least trying, to live in the moment and the now. This week, I have lived up to that, and that has given me problems to memorize which day was it I was on. Oh, well... it can happen to anyone, and now it has happened to me. I must remember to put the alarm on my phone on; so that it remembers me of that it is Healing on that day. I have done it, with most of the other Rituals. But, I always forget to put this one in. Maybe, because I think it is the easiest to remember, but also the easiest to forget.

Take care until Monday. Blessed be all of you and love always to all my brothers and sisters in Correllian Tradition. Love and Light, Hugz and Blessings

Spell of the Week

Prosperity Ritual

Tools

Poppet made out of green cloth, leave the head open
Chamomile for money
Rosemary for luck
Basil for success
Needle and thread
Directional elementals (earth, incense for air, fire, water)
Altar Devotion

Casting the Circle

As you walk around the circle three times, imagine a green, soothing mist trailing from your fingers, enveloping you and enclosing your magic circle.

"I conjure the magic circle I am safe within the Goddess' womb
A sacred place, a world apart
Where enchantment births and magic starts
With Air and Fire, Water and Earth
I circle round the Mother's girth
This circle is sealed"

Drawing Down the Moon

Stand holding your athame, legs slightly apart, arms at your side. Breathe deeply. Raise the athame to your lips, holding it with both hands, and then point it toward the moon. Feel the energy of the moon move through the athame, down your arms and into your whole being.

Invocation to the Goddess

"Wondrous Lady of the Moon
Mistress of all magic and protectress of all Wicca
Life-giving mother
I greet you at the waxing of the moon's power
I invite you to attend my Full Moon rite"

Invocation to the God

"Radiant King of the Heavens
Master of beasts wild and free
Horned stag
I greet you at the waxing of the moon's power
I invite you to attend my Full Moon rite"

Meditation and Chant to the Goddess

Sit with your spine straight, legs crossed, hands in your lap.
Close your eyes and visualize the Goddess, however she appears to you. Feel her arms around you in a protective embrace. When you have the vision firmly planted, begin chanting softly:

"Starry Goddess, Full of Light
I honor you this Full Moon Night"

Repeat, feeling your energy grow. This energy will be used during the following spellworking.

Spellworking

Cleanse and consecrate poppet for workings of magic. Stuff it with the herbs. Sew the opening closed.

"Goddess of Opportunity
Bring good things in life to me
I'll be alert to all you send
Goddess be my helpful friend"

Repeat 3 times, envisioning the opportunities you wish to come to you.

Reverse Lunar Draw

Raise the athame to the moon, then bring it to your lips and back down to your side, releasing the energy you built during the Drawing.

Thank the Goddess and God

Release the Circle

Walk back around the circle, pulling the mist back into your hands. Place the poppet in your closet, your car, your handbag or somewhere else close to you. You can re-work this spell at the next full moon if you feel it's necessary.

Universal Feeling

*But, spite of all the criticizing elves,
Those who would make us feel—must feel themselves
—Charles Churchill*

Holiday cheer, families in mourning, fans going wild, world-wide panic: these are all examples of occasions where people are known to experience joy, grief, celebration or fear on a corporate level. Psychology experts might suggest that these people are reacting with herd mentality, in other words, the crowd is responding as a unified body rather than as individual members. However, one savvy programmer and NYU graduate has recently postulated a very different theory which suggests that humans may share a psychic connection during major life events. Rob Seward has become quite well known for his invention of the “consciousness field resonator.” The device, which sounds like something out of a fifties science fiction novel, is actually rather simplistic in its creation and is not much more than a glorified random number generator. Despite the simplicity of the device, Seward refers to “One experiment, the Global Consciousness Project, [which] has identified correlations between high levels of pattern and highly emotional global events.”

Random number generators are generally created to exacting scientific standards to assure that the numbers produced truly are indeed random and thus when the numbers produce a pattern they are going against probability and the results become statistically significant. In Seward’s example, during the Global Consciousness Project, the random number generator showed patterns during events such as the attacks of September 11th on the World Trade Center and Princess Diana’s funeral. Both events held interest on a world wide scale and were emotionally charged experiences.

While the Global Consciousness Project aims to “examine subtle correlations that reflect the presence and activity of consciousness in the world...,” Rob Seward’s Consciousness Field Resonator is meant to be personal and not to be used as a purely scientific device but rather an object which causes “... a visceral impact on the user’s belief system—especially his beliefs about psychic phenomena, physics, spirituality, technology, academic research, and art.” In any case, the idea of a global consciousness is supported by experiments in micropsychokinesis. Science is literally showing evidence that, while we are individuals with our own thoughts and ideas, we are also all existing as members of a universal intelligence as well. This suggests that whatever actions, feelings, or even thoughts that we choose to have will directly impact the universe around us whether directly or indirectly and that the impact. That impact then in turn comes back to us in what is commonly termed Karma.

Wiccans can easily relate to this idea with the commonly held Wiccan belief in the Law of Three. Donald Lewis says in his First Degree lessons “... in Correllian terms, the Law of Three means that you will experience the Karma of your actions as many times as necessary to learn the lesson.” Thus, no matter whether you subscribe to science, karma, the golden rule or the Wiccan Law of Three, please remember during this holiday period to be patient with others, considerate of your choices, and give to the world what you also wish to receive.

The flower of this plant is used in magic to stop arguments and calm fiery tempers. Add whole fresh flowers with stems in bathwater to get rid of a bad mood. Enjoy Yoga Exercise for Beginners

Become Your Best

Practicing yoga is a daily exercise routine that helps you grow as a person. It teaches you how to live with awareness, while it strengthens you in both body and mind. The practice of yoga is a learning process. You will come to a better understanding of your own strengths, limitations and needs. Whether you repeat a specific sequence of exercises, or just muddle through a few of your favorite poses, you're still doing yoga. Explore the poses you enjoy. Tune in to how your breath feels. Notice where your mind goes and the sensations that each pose invites. Advance at your own pace. For a beginner's workout, the suggested poses are not complicated and are held for very short periods of time. When you are ready to advance, find a nearby yoga class and a teacher that you like.

Beginning a Program of Yoga Exercises

The exercise program we in the West call yoga is technically known as Hatha Yoga. Modern Hatha Yoga focuses primarily on an exercise plan of yoga postures, which are called asanas. Yoga starts with centering poses, gentle stretches bringing awareness and quiet to your senses. Next are standing poses to release tension, increase circulation, expand the lungs, and help you breathe more deeply. Next, there are forward bends cool the body and bring quiet to the nervous system. The final restorative poses are so relaxing that you may fall asleep.

Traditional Yoga is a vast collection of spiritual techniques and practices through recorded history. Yoga is not a religion, but an approach to integrate mind, body and spirit and achieve a state of enlightenment or oneness with the universe.

The Benefits of Yoga Exercise

You'll be surprised at the benefits of regular yoga exercise. You will notice improvements in your health, strength, flexibility and general quality of life. Many scientific studies confirm the remarkable benefits of yoga. Yoga improves the flexibility of your spine and decreases pain in people suffering from chronic back pain. People who practice yoga have higher levels of antioxidants in their blood to fight free radical damage. When your busy schedule, daily stresses and low spirits upset you and take you down, yoga is a way to nurture yourself.

Yoga teachers will often refer to "your practice," which means your individual experience with yoga as it develops over time. The amazing thing about yoga is that your exercise practice is always evolving and changing, so it never gets boring. The core of yoga is discipline and exertion. It is a process of working through the exercises with patience. Along with each pose you are encouraged to focus your mind on the breath. Breathe deep into the belly to pull the air deep into the lungs and then lower into the abdomen. Be conscious as your body fills up with air and then releases it slowly. If at any point you lose track of your breathing, don't be discouraged. Just notice it and bring your attention back to the breath.

A yoga practice is a balanced sequence of exercises or poses to move your body and spine through its full range of motion, stretching and challenging the entire body. The yoga exercises include standing, forward bends, backbends, balancing, hip openers, twists, inversions and restoratives.

Standing postures ground your energy, strengthen the legs, improve balance and digestion, build bone density and mobilize the joints. Forward bends sooth the nervous system, release the tension in your back and promote sound sleep. Balancing postures improve your balance, build bone density, focus the mind and strengthen the joints. Backbends open the chest, keep the spine supple and energize body and mind. Hip openers promote pelvic health and reduce sciatic pain. Twists loosen the spine and tone and cleanse the internal organs. Inversions, when the head is lower than the feet, relax the internal organs, improve circulation, ease the heart, center the mind, and improve concentration. Restorative poses allow the mind and body to relax and reduce stress and tension.

Yoga will reward you for the time you spend exercising. Don't expect too much of yourself, and don't get discouraged. If any pose is unpleasant or painful, don't push beyond your personal comfort level. Yoga is not a competitive sport. There is no grading system, no judge or final exam. Do what you can do without forcing your body. The challenge of yoga is to grow and improve over time. Even the experts tell us they are still learning.

Yoga Exercise Equipment for the Beginner

For your comfort during yoga exercise, wear clothing that is loose fitting. Practice barefoot. A yoga mat is recommended to keep you grounded and help with your footing. Set aside a bit of space where you can practice regularly. If you feel anxious or jumpy you can use music to relax you.

Other than the recommended yoga mat, there is no equipment that you need, but you might benefit from the suggested optional equipment to help you achieve the poses. When you start your yoga practice, your joints are tight and you are not especially flexible, you will find that a few pieces of equipment will help you move into the positions. The suggested equipment includes a block to support your hand when you can't quite reach the floor. A belt will help raise your legs and support them when you aren't strong enough to bring them all the way into a position. Use a bolster or pillow to sit on or to support your body while you learn how to do seated forward bends. A folded blanket will cushion you while sitting or lying.

If you are a newbie to yoga exercise, an instructional DVD like Yoga for Beginners with Patricia Walden will start you off right. Yoga for Beginners with Barbara Benagh or A.M. P.M. Yoga with Rodney Yee will guide you gently into the poses. The magazine Yoga Journal introduces you to the yoga community and provides helpful ideas and encouragement. Yoga exercise equipment and instructional DVDs are available from many online sources, including Amazon

In all the yoga exercises, you are encouraged to pay attention to your breathing during the exercise. Hold each pose for a brief time, from 10 to 30 seconds.

Mountain pose is a simple standing posture in which you open your chest and lengthen your body.

In Tree Pose you stand on one foot, resting the other foot against your thigh. This pose develops balance and pelvic strength. Newbies who need support can hold onto a chair or touch the wall for balance.

If you've touched your toes, you are familiar with standing forward bends. If your hands don't reach the floor, you can rest your hands on the yoga block. With practice over time, you'll become flexible enough to rest your hands flat on the floor.

Downward Facing Dog Pose starts with a standing forward bend. Then you walk your feet back, so that the body forms an inverted letter "V". For support, a beginner can rest the forehead on a block.

As a beginner, you can try other poses like Triangle Pose, Extended Side Angle Pose, Cobra Pose, Bound Angle Pose, Seated Forward Bend and a Seated Twist Pose.

At the end of your yoga exercises, Corpse Pose quiets and relaxes the body and mind. Lie relaxed on the floor, while you stretch and then relax your arms and legs without lifting them. Then spend 10 minutes with your eyes closed and your breath calm.

I hope life brings you much success. I wish you a very happy day.

Stone of the Week

Chrysoprase

Chrysoprase is very powerful stone with multiple uses, all of them very desirable and beneficial. Many people have worn it through the ages to manifest prosperity, abundance and bring business success. It is also a stone traditionally used to bring happiness to the wearer as it is thought to dispel negative thoughts, calm anger and sooth irritability. It is also called the stone of Courage, for it is reputed to bring the awareness of ones inner convictions and the courage to follow through with them to the wearer. It is said to enhance and strengthen friendships. Chrysoprase is a stone used to balance and equalize the male/female, yin/yang energies and allow one to reach deep meditative states. It is used in crystal healing for eye problems and immune systems problems. Chrysoprase is related to the heart chakra, which it activates, opens and energizes and aids in releasing stress and healing 'heartbreak.' It is also used to align the chakras.

Poetry Place

"Lady Winter"

Slowly and silently she glides in, on the wings of the cold north wind.
Briskly she slides in and winter begins, again.

Her icy fingers smooth the snow around my heart,
As I watch the amber lights of autumn swiftly depart.

Her soft, glacial song lulls the world to sleep,
Sleep away the chilly day and the bare frigid night,
Underneath the soft, silvery rays of the pale moonlight.

I can see her magic in the snow,
Glimmering bits of crushed diamonds strewn over the once grassy plateau.

She's stripped the trees of their green;
Their artfully placed branches can now be seen.

They grace the whisper grey backdrop sky,
Their beauty and wisdom etched into the year gone by.

The world turns now and changes her face,
As I look on through my window draped in snowy lace.

My mood shifts to a melancholy blue,
Thinking of the songs that I once knew.
Sang beneath a fickle moon,
The melody lingers but the words forgotten too soon.

Sound of mind but lost of soul,
Each changing season taking its toll.

Stolen moments of delight,
A lovers whisper in the night,
Warm sweet scent of the lilacs bloom,
Stolen kisses in the twilights gloom.

But Lady Winter has the hour,
And the words of love begin to sour.
Spoken with a gilded tongue
The spell has now become undone.

So soon forgotten all that was once dear,
Rose colored glasses now becoming clear.

In the stark light of a winter's day,
those golden words all turn to clay.

But I will mend these broken dreams,
All torn apart by their fragile seems.

New words to the song I will compose,
Replacing fallen petals from the rose.

Under the chilly earth she will sleep,
All of her memories I will keep.
Until the suns long awaited return
And her summer fires again do burn.

For now she'll slumber safe and warm within,
As the nights grow longer and winter begins, again.

Spanish Wiccan Blog and Podcast

Wiccan blog and podcast in Spanish, 13 lunas (13 moons), created and maintained by Rev. Clara Fuentes (aka Harwe Tuileva), a Correllian priestess from Spain.

The blog seeks to keep Pagans and Wiccans from all the Spanish-speaking countries informed by means of an easy access format, and, of course, for free. Besides, the recent creation of a radio program in the form of a podcast completes this successful project that is currently receiving more than 400 visits per day at its website. The wonderful reception granted by the Spanish-speaking community reflects the need of more information of the Pagan and Wiccan community, which was looking forward to counting on this kind of initiatives in their own language.

The blog can be found at <http://www.13-lunas.com>.

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

The Order of World Walkers

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
Krystel

Order of Peace Weavers

The Order of Peace Weavers was created to provide members of the Correllian Tradition with the means of gathering together to collectively promote the weaving of peace into the fabric of society through meditation, prayer, Reiki, visualization, spell working, ritual, creative writing, intentional art and music, and other positive energy work and light work, with harm to none, and for the highest good of all concerned.

The motto of the Order of Peace Weavers is: "Be Peace, Live Peace, Send Love, Weave Peace." We hold a monthly 15 minute group peace meditation on the first Wednesday of every month and would love to have more join us to promote peace.

The Order of Peace Weavers is a chartered order of the Correllian Tradition. Membership is by invitation or application and is open to Inner and Outer Court members.

For more information, please find us at
