Pagan Calendar November 28-4 December

November 28 Sophia, the ancient Greek goddess of wisdom and inner truth, is honored and invoked annually on this day by chants, libations, and secret Pagan rituals performed by those who seek to acquire arcane knowledge.

November 29 Each year on this night (according to ancient legend), vampires in Rumania are believed to rise up from their graves after a year-long sleep and walk the Earth in search of human blood. Garlic and crucifixes are hung on doors and windows for protection.

In ancient Egypt, the Feast of Hathor as Sekhmet was held each year on this day. It honored the lion-headed goddess of battle, who was also the consort of the moon-god Ptah.

November 30 Saint Andrew's Night

In many rural villages in Germany, young women still perform traditional love-divinations on this night. Using various methods of fortune-telling, they read omens and dreams to find out about their future husbands and marriages.

On this date in the year 1942, Otter Zell (Pagan priest and the founder of The Church of All Worlds) was born in Saint Louis, Missouri.

December 1 In some parts of the world, the first day of December is the traditional time for young girls to perform the ancient art of cromniomancy (divination by onion sprouts) to find out the name of their future husband.

To find out who your future husband will be, take some onions and upon each one carve or write a different man's name. Place the onions near a fire and the man whose name is on the onion that sprouts first will be the one.

December 2 In what is now known as Bodh Gaya, India, the world's oldest and most sacred tree (planted in the year 282 B.C. and believed to be an offshoot of the Bodhi or Bo-tree that the Buddha sat under when he achieved enlightenment) is honored annually on this date by Tibetan Buddhist pilgrims with prayers, chants, and brightly colored flags.

On this day, an annual women's festival called Hari Kugo (Broken Needles) takes place in the city of Tokyo. It commemorates women's crafts and is dedicated to all patron goddesses of Japanese craftswomen.

December 3 In ancient Rome, secret women's rites were performed annually on this date in honor of Bona Dea, the Good Goddess. All males were barred from the ceremonies, which were conducted by vestal virgins.

In ancient Greece, this day was sacred to the goddess Cybele and also to Rhea, the Great Mother of the Earth.

December 4 On this date in ancient Rome, the goddess Minerva was honored with an annual festival. Minerva (the Roman counterpart of the Greek Athena) is a goddess of battle and also a patroness of the arts and wisdom.

In West Africa, this day is sacred to the Yoruban god Chango. He is a god of lightning bolts, and the son of the deities Yemaya and Orungan.

Merry Meet fellow Wiccans to my Wiccan World

The week has been a one with a lot of autumn weather outside, with sometimes rain and sometimes storms, and of course, both at the time some days. It has however past away like a wind too, my week that was.

I have during the week got to be an Assistant Dean for Rev. Anna, HPs. This means that I am helping the out for Witchschool Europe and in particular working with Mentors and students for Sweden and the Swedish language. My responsibility will be to assist with anyone in Witchschool classes' site who is Swedish and I can also help out generally with European Mentoring. I feel so honored to be able to help out in a way that is most needed for WitchSchool, and also it will help me when I am now soon will start up some offline courses, hopefully, in Sweden. I am still in the process of getting it all sorted out, but if my will and intent goes as far as I want to... then this will also be a reality in the future.

During the week, I got my full healing session from a friend of mine, and it was very powerful I might say. I feel still very invigorated, and also got more focus from it. I also attended the Healing Ritual on Friday, where we were 8 people and 2 of them new. They had a very good experience from it, also on Saturday it was the New Moon Ritual, where the Ritual leader did an Under World Travel for us. I was meeting up with my mother, father and two of my deceased dogs. We were sitting by river and I was throwing pebbles in it, during our chat that was about general things. It was most powerful that one, too. Tonight, Monday, it's the Memorial Ritual, and I will attend that, and just after that is finished.

Then I will have my first Attunement of set of 5 into Rainforest Reiki. I am going for the Wolf, Hawk, Eagle and Raven this time, and am very excited over what I will experience during it. That I will let you know in my next week's article. I have also read through, and translated both this, and also the Animal Path Healing Reiki. I will have that attunement after all the 5 attunements are finished. It will be an experience to see what all this will lead me, as I feel that animal healing is something that actually is appealing to me.

The manual about Animal Path Healing is more about your own way to find and hear your own Animal Guides, but still it is so you can use it one way or the other in healing sessions, too. The Rainforest Reiki allows you to use the energy from a certain animal; there are 20 of them in the manual. As each animal has its own ability you can call for that certain ability that you want to have in your Reiki session for your client or in self-healing and then send it to them or me. I will need to practice on myself first, so I see exactly was happen and how I can use it on others. It will be a lovely thing to learn, and I look forward to incorporate it in my own Reiki energy and vibration.

Take care until Monday. Blessed be all of you and love always to all my brothers and sisters in Correllian Tradition. Love and Light, Hugz and Blessings

Spell of the Week

Enlightenment Spell

This spell requires two blue candles and one candle to portray yourself, and sandalwood oil. Anoint candles with the oil and visualize yourself being in a trance-like state. Place blue candles on either side of the chosen candle, light the blue candles and say unto thyself:

-Spirit guides/ higher self hear my plea

-Come now and converse with me

-Walk me and guide me through this veil trance, I ask of you

Now sit in a comfortable position and become aware of your breathing patterns. Inhale deeply, exhale deeply, listen to rhythmic body and breathing motions. Become relaxed and close your eyes. Focus on your third eye and visualize red, orange, yellow, green, blue, blue, indigo, purple, and white in order. Hold each color for a count of five. Watch as it fades into each color, still focusing on third eye. Watch your breath and see your chest rise and fall with air (eyes still closed) and watch your breath as it changes into waves. Now visualize a door on water. Visualize yourself go in and visit with your spirit guide and ask questions. Trust he answers you receive. Walk out the door, watch the waves turn back into breathing patterns. Now open your eyes and say upon yourself:

-I return to earth again

-Thank you spirit self and friends

Then blow out the candles in reverse order, first your chosen candle and then the blue candles.

This spell is very good to do before trying other in-depth spells.

Night of the Vampires

29th November

St. Andrew's Eve, also known as "Night of the Vampires," is an important night on the folk calendar. It is the night that the barrier between the visible and the invisible world disappears, allowing ghosts and spirits — both good and bad — to come through.

Malevolent Ghosts In Bucovina villagers claim that ghosts are free to walk the earth on this night. If they are malevolent beings, they steal fruit from the orchards and milk from the cows. And if they are particularly mean, they steal people's minds.

So many ghosts roam the earth that they fight with each other for the best spots to lay in wait for unsuspecting people who are out on the streets this night.

When a traveller reaches a crossroad in the village, a ghost attacks him and steals his horse.

Vampire Protection Special care should be taken to protect yourself and your house from vampires. One of the chief defences against vampires, of course, is garlic. On St. Andrew's Eve, people eat a lot of garlic, being eaten during almost every meal.

People spread a paste made from crushed garlic on their doors in the shape of a crucifix. They then turn their pottery dishes and bowls upside down.

Since vampires cannot get past the garlic and enter the house, they stand at the window and try to attract the attention of the people inside. The vampires peer through the window and ask the people if they've eaten any garlic. But the people inside must be very careful not to answer the questions posed by the vampire. Otherwise they'll be struck dumb.

Guarding the Garlic Party This is the night of the big party known as "guarding the garlic." One house in the village was prepared prior to the party by smearing garlic paste around the windows and doors. Young people gather at this house for a party meant to frighten away vampires. Every young girl brings to the party three garlic bulbs in a vase, which are guarded by an old woman. The old woman lights a candle to help her in her task.

The young people party until the early hours of morning, at which time the vase is taken out in the yard. Then the young men and women dance around the vase. When they finish dancing, the garlic bulbs are distributed to each participant. These pieces of garlic will be placed next to the household icons in their own homes as a means of protection against illness or spells.

Living Ghosts In addition to vampires, people have to watch out for living ghosts that often come disguised as wolves. Living ghosts, the product of incestuous relations, are born with an extra vertebra (looks like they have a tail).

Between sunset and midnight of St. Andrew's Eve, these living ghosts come out of their graves and tombs to harass the people.

Night of the Ghosts In some parts of Moldavia and Bucovina, people join together in a party known as "The Night of the Ghosts." According to folklore, wolves often search for demonic hosts on this night, leading to the alternate name of "The Night of Wolves."

Wolf packs are said to enter into villages on this night in order to steal cattle.

Customs Nine cups of water are put in a vase, which is then placed under one of the household icons. If the water level in the vase goes down overnight, then that person or household will be unlucky.

On this night, people who have the gift of prophecy are able to foresee how the coming year will be.

People might hear the animals trying to talk to them in human language. But they shouldn't listen to the animals. Otherwise, they will die shortly.

Marriage Enhancement There are a few things a young, unmarried woman can do to speed up her wedding date or determine who her husband will be.

Young women who want to get married should take a burning candle to a fountain (or well) and look inside. If they do this ritual correctly, then reflected in the water, they'll see the face of their future husband.

In some regions another technique is used to get a vision of a young woman's future husband. If she stands in front of a mirror, with two candles placed on either side of her, and stares into her reflection, she will see the face of her future husband overlay her own reflection.

Another way to ensure that they'll soon be married is for young women to place 41 grains of wheat under their pillow before going to sleep. If they dream that the wheat is being stolen, then they'll get married soon.

If they place sweet basil under their pillow, they'll dream about their future husband and wearing garlic around the waist is sure to bring young a suitor

In Transylvania young women must steal some flour from the local mill, take it home, and use it to bake a salty cake. If they want to get married soon, they should eat the cake before going to sleep.

In some regions, young women place a wooden comb under their pillow before going to sleep, believing that this will help them to get married the next year.

And if all of the above fail to produce an imminent wedding, a young woman can always visit a witch to receive a special matchmaking charm. Charms such as these are especially powerful when prepared on St. Andrew's Eve.

Cauliflower

squidoo.com

The ruler of this vegetable is the Moon and it is used for protection in times of danger. It should be blessed whole before preparing. Hold it in your hands up to a full moon and say a prayer of protection. When cooked, it must be salted first and can be served to the children of the family to protect them from harm. The cauliflower is also believed to calm down tempers

Stone of the Week

Charoite

Charoite is called a Stone of Transformation. It is a very powerful stone, transforming and releasing negative emotions such as fear, anger and feelings of victimization into courage, insight, creativity and assertiveness. This release allows the user to see more clearly.

This clarity also assists in better psychic impressions. Long esteemed as a spiritual stone, it is thought to strengthen the connection between the heart and the crown chakras, allowing the user to grow spiritually. People who wish to be of service to humanity are drawn to this stone as it aids in the acceptance of others. It is a creative vibration, and the stone has been used to help lengthen the attention span.

Psychically it is used for clairvoyance, precognition and also to remove or release entities. Crystal Healers use Charoite for all kinds of ailments, from headaches and liver problems to heart and eye problems. It is a soothing, yet energetic stone. It is associated with the Crown and Heart Chakras.

Spanish Wiccan Blog and Podcast

Wiccan blog and podcast in Spanish, 13 lunas (13 moons), created and maintained by Rev. Clara Fuentes (aka Harwe Tuileva), a Correllian priestess from Spain.

The blog seeks to keep Pagans and Wiccans from all the Spanish-speaking countries informed by means of an easy access format, and, of course, for free. Besides, the recent creation of a radio program in the form of a podcast completes this successful project that is currently receiving more than 400 visits per day at its website. The wonderful reception granted by the Spanish-speaking community reflects the need of more information of the Pagan and Wiccan community, which was looking forward to counting on this kind of initiatives in their own language.

The blog can be found at <http://www.13-lunas.com>.

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure records are up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

The Order of World Walkers

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystal High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
Krystal

The motto of the Order of Peace Weavers is: "Be Peace, Live Peace, Send Love, Weave Peace." We hold a monthly 15 minute group peace meditation on the first Wednesday of every month and would love to have more join us to promote peace.

The Order of Peace Weavers is a chartered order of the Correllian Tradition. Membership is by invitation or application and is open to Inner and Outer Court members.
