Pagan Calendar December 6 – 12

December 6. On this day in the year 1890, famous occultists and ritual magician Dion Fortune was born in Wales. Although Ms. Fortune never proclaimed herself to be a Witch, her numerous writings are popular among (and inspiring to) many modern Witches, Wiccans, and Neo-Pagans around the world. She died from leukaemia on January 8, 1946.

December 7. On this date in ancient Greece, an annual rite called the Haloia of Demeter was performed. According to mythology, each year the goddess Demeter wanders the earth in search of her stolen daughter Persephone. The goddess' sorrow brings Winter to the world and all trees and flowers cease to bloom; however, Spring returns when Persephone is allowed to temporarily leave the darkness of the Underworld and Demeter once again rejoices.

December 8. On this day, the birth of the ancient and powerful goddess of the sun (Amaterasu) is celebrated annually at Shinto temples throughout Japan. In Egypt, the Festival of Neith is celebrated annually on this date to honor the Earth-Goddess of the Delta.

December 9. The ninth day of the last month of the year (along with the sixth and seventh days) is considered to be an extremely unlucky time, according to Grafton in his Manuel (a sixteenth-century book of unlucky days as determined by professional star-gazers). In Mexico, the healing virgin-goddess Tonantzin is honored on this day with an annual festival called the Fiesta of the Mother of Health.

December 10. On this night (approximately), Inuit hunters in the far north begin an annual five-day series of purification rites, followed by a propitiation ceremony under the full moon, for the souls of the animals they had hunted in the last year. The December Moon ceremony has been performed in the Arctic coastal regions of North America for hundreds of years.

December 11. Day of Bruma. On this date, the ancient Roman goddess of the winter season was honored by Pagans in Italy with an annual festival. This day is also sacred to Arianrhod, the Snow Queen goddess, and Yuki Onne.

December 12. The victories of good over evil and light over darkness are celebrated annually at sunset on this date (approximately) with the Zoroastrian fire festival of Sada. In Mexico, the annual Our Lady of Guadalupe religious festival takes place on this day. It is a sacred day to the goddesses Coatlique, Tonantzin, and the Black Madonna.

Egyptian Goddess Neith

Neith was a goddess of war and of hunting and had as her symbol, two crossed arrows over a shield. Her symbol also identified the city of Sais.[2] This symbol was displayed on top of her head in Egyptian art. In her form as a goddess of war, she was said to make the weapons of warriors and to guard their bodies when they died.

Her name also may be interpreted as meaning water. In time, this meaning led to her being considered as the personification of the primordial waters of creation. She is identified as a great mother goddess in this role as a creator.

Neith's symbol and part of her hieroglyph also bore a resemblance to a loom, and so later in the history of Egyptian myths, she also became goddess of weaving, and gained this version of her name, Neith, which means weaver. At this time her role as a creator changed from being water-based to that of the deity who wove all of the world and existence into being on her loom.

In art, Neith sometimes appears as a woman with a weavers' shuttle atop her head, holding a bow and arrows in her hands. At other times she is depicted as a woman with the head of a lioness, as a snake, or as a cow.

Sometimes Neith was pictured as a woman nursing a baby crocodile, and she was titled "Nurse of Crocodiles". As the personification of the concept of the primordial waters of creation in the Ogdoad theology, she had no gender. As mother of Ra, she was sometimes described as the "Great Cow who gave birth to Ra". Neith was considered to be a goddess of wisdom and was appealed to as an arbiter in the dispute between Horus and Seth.

In the late pantheon of the Ogdoad myths, she became identified as the mother of Ra and Apep. When she was identified as a water goddess, she was also viewed as the mother of Sobek, the crocodile.[3] It was this association with water, i.e. the Nile, that led to her sometimes being considered the wife of Khnum, and associated with the source of the River Nile. She was associated with the Nile Perch as well as the goddess of the triad in that cult center.

As the goddess of creation and weaving, she was said to reweave the world on her loom daily. An interior wall of her temple at Esna records an account of creation in which Neith brings forth from the primeval waters of the Nun the first land ex nihilo. All that she conceived in her heart comes into being including the thirty gods. Having no known husband she has been described as "Virgin Mother Goddess":

“ Unique Goddess, mysterious and great who came to be in the beginning and caused everything to come to be . . . the divine mother of Re, who shines on the horizon . . . ”

Proclus (412–485 AD) wrote that the adyton of the temple of Neith in Sais (of which nothing now remains) carried the following inscription:

“ I am the things that are, that will be, and that have been. No one has ever laid open the garment by which I am concealed. The fruit which I brought forth was the sun. ”

In much later times, her association with war and death, led to her being identified with Nephthys (and Anouke or Ankt). Nephthys became part of the Ennead pantheon, and thus considered a wife of Set. Despite this, it was said that she interceded in the kingly war between Horus and Set, over the Egyptian throne, recommending that Horus rule.

A great festival, called the Feast of Lamps, was held annually in her honor and, according to Herodotus, her devotees burned a multitude of lights in the open air all night during the celebration.

There also is evidence of an resurrection cult involving a woman dying and being brought back to life that was connected with Neith.

Intuitive Reason

by Owen Waters

Intuition brings you direct information on the true nature of any situation.

Once you make a habit of looking within and focusing on your spiritual nature, you open up your awareness to the intuitive information that can come from your soul consciousness. Intuitive insight is available to both men and women and, with its development, you can achieve more than you have ever imagined possible.

The conscious, reasoning mind assesses a situation using the physical senses as well as past information. Intuitive reason is possible when you include intuitive information in the process. Intuition comes from your inner, soul consciousness and is directly tuned into the thoughts and energies that surround any situation.

Intuition adds to your knowledge and understanding of a situation, allowing your actions to achieve objectives with greater ease and harmony.

With intuition, you know what action will best work and when.

Intuition is your doorway to direct information on the consciousness of people, places, and events. It can also warn you about danger ahead and reveal what hidden risks you could avoid in order to stay safe.

Intuition prompts you to take actions which will help you in ways that you had not been able to detect using the physical senses alone. It also puts you in touch with the natural flow of unfolding situations so that you can adapt to them and, therefore, succeed with relatively effortless action.

Spell of the Week

BANISHING SPELL

This spell can be used for a variety of banishing needs:
banishing illnesses, bad habits, negativity, etc.,

You will need:

Carbon or flash paper Business size envelope

A slip of paper that will fit in the envelope Appropriate herbs

Healing: Eucalyptus, Rosemary, Sandalwood, Juniper, Thyme, Willow

Banishing: Basil, Asafoetida, Valerian, Black Pepper, Patchouli, Agrimony, Acacia, Cypress

Appropriately colored candles:

Healing: Green, Blue

Banishing: Black

Fast Action: Red

Appropriate oil for anointing the candles

Healing: Eucalyptus, Rosemary, Sandalwood

Banishing: Basil, Cypress, Acacia, Frankincense

Appropriate incense

Charcoal for the incense if necessary

A disposable pen in black ink

At the full moon anoint and charge the candles with the essential oil and bless and charge the herbs you are going to use.

Surround the base of the candles with the appropriate herbs and light the candles, cast your circle or otherwise prepare for magic as you normally would.

Cut a human figure out of the carbon paper (designed appropriately as specifically male for men, female for women) that will fit inside the envelope. Of course, if you need to, you can use a larger envelope but the business size is generally sufficient.

Lay the figure on the slip of paper between the candles, charge and name it as the individual and with intent write on the figure what you are working on. Such as, if the spell is to heal an illness you might simply write whatever that illness is, in example:

"cold/flu." You might also write it over the appropriate body part, such as if it is a head cold write it on the head. If it's to overcome an addiction to cigarettes you might write "cigarettes" on the chest (or where ever you identify most with smoking) and even add a cigarette in the envelope! Be creative with it.

Charge both the paper and the doll with intent, by the elements, etc., and place them and some of the herbs in the envelope and seal it up. Lay it between the candles and allow them to burn until half gone charging and meditating on the purpose of the spell all the while!

Store the candles somewhere secure to use later when finishing the spell.

Then place the envelope under the mattress of the "ill" person or recipient of the spell if possible.

You may also, if it is not possible to put it with the person, place it behind a picture of the person in a frame; inside of a book they gave you, etc. You can also include nail and hair clippings if you like or what you will.

Let this stay undisturbed for as long as needed but it should not exceed one full lunar cycle. When the magic has run its course and the deed is accomplished, or when the cycle is done light the remainder of the candles and set your circle or prepare as you did before.

Then open the envelope and put everything on your altar, between the candles in a fire proof bowl. First burn the slip of paper with the writing along with the herbs and the hair, nails, etc., if you included them in the spell, then burn the doll.

As the doll burns it will turn from black to white (great sympathetic stuff here)! As you burn these things be sure to keep focused on the intent (such as banishing the illness, visualize the person whole and healthy, no longer addicted, etc.) Scrape all of the ashes back into the envelope and use some of the candle wax to seal it up again. You can carve symbols in the wax if you like.

Be sure to, get rid of EVERYTHING which you used with this ritual (candle nubs, any remaining bits of herbs, the pen, etc., you should not have to get rid of the incense or oil as you should have used it anyhow). Bury or otherwise dispose of the envelope, far away from anyone's home or property.

*Flash paper (the kind magicians use) is great to use for the paper, just be sure the paper is safely in the dish before lighting it! This shows the problem properly vanishing in a flash and the doll burns removing the black and turning to white.

Use extreme caution with Asafoetida, just a whiff of this herb has been known to cause vomiting, better to substitute Valerian

Its a deadly little number so be sure about casting it as what goes out comes back three fold.

A Brief Guide on Vampire Bites

By Rev. Karl Ben-Jedi

This is a very tricky subject and should be treated with great caution. The main course of action is to seek medical attention for any strange open or closed wounds that look infected or not healing well.

Vampire wounds at first appear like any other, normally looking like a small insect bite. Do not be fooled into thinking you need two puncture marks the size seen in the movies. Later they may look that way, but at the beginning they are very tiny indeed. The reason for this is due to how the attack happened in the first place.

Method of basic Vampire attack

The Vampire in its early existence has no physical form and starts by attacking weak and ill animals, but later as it gains strength will attack weak and ill humans.

Human blood is more like the Vampires in one important respect, its higher spiritual life force mixture. All creatures have a mental, spiritual and physical body. The mental and spiritual aspects dictate how the physical body will manifest itself.

The Vampire has a human physical shell that it is desperately trying to prevent from natural decay. It is able to prevent decay by feeding on the life force of other beings which is the spiritual component of blood that allows physical life to exist.

Eating food and breaking this down requires large amounts of energy, but the new energy created is more than enough to renew any lost and store the remainder for later use.

However, the Vampire requires very little energy as we understand it for its energy is mental & spiritual.

The process is as follows:-

The donor is in a state of deep sleep, but may be ill or very weak for some health reason. An animal or human is susceptible to attack if there are no mental or spiritual defenses put into place. If the Vampire is able to come close to the donor it can connect to its mental and spiritual body. Then it would be able to access the physical body's blood stream and life force. It does not need to connect to the whole body for that would need tremendous amounts of energy. Most commonly it will just place its hand into the donors and then form a microscopic channel upon the hand. Its mental and spiritual body will change to allow this sucking process to occur.

Each blood cell contains a small amount of life force, once removed it would cause that cell to naturally break down. If too much life force is taken from the same donor a blood clot may form and cause death. Due to the change in pressure under and through the skin a small hole or bite mark will form. Depending on the health of the donor this may heal naturally or become infected.

A Vampire infected wound must be treated like any other and the victim should seek medical treatment as soon as possible. Physically it will look just like an insect bite, but as it becomes infected and spreads its behaviour and appearance will look more like a malignant growth.

However, follow all medical treatment which may start with antibiotic cover and simple dry dressings. Antibiotics will work to reverse any negative effects of a Vampire attack, the wound however will behave rather strangely. This is due to the mental & spiritual nature of the wounds formation. Nothing should be done to interfere with any medical treatment, but Holy items should be used for protection.

It can take several months for recovery, here are some possible symptoms:-

General physical weakness in one of your lower limbs, mainly a leg.

The wound may need to be medically removed, further antibiotic cover plus referral to Dermatology.

You may get referred to a Neurologist and have possible MRI scans

Whatever happens always follow orthodox medical tests and treatment. These were not available in the past and will aid a speedy recovery. Plus you must always take the view that it may not have been a Vampire attack in the first place.

So how can you know that it was Vampiric in nature?

If the Nurse or Doctor indicate that they have never seen anything like it before!

If it starts as a simple insect bite, but takes months to heal.

A simple test can be carried out once the wound no longer needs dressing.

Once you are able to wash over the area normally use some holy oil in the following way.

Place a small amount onto you finger and rub gently in a clockwise direction, then draw the shape of a cross over the scar tissue.

Over a few days you should notice an improvement in its colour and size.

The physical tissue has been repaired by your Doctor, once that has occurred the holy oil will heal any mental or spiritual damage in that area.

Repeated use daily can be done for a week or so, but if the skin start to react negatively in any way stop. Then seek medical attention for any physical symptoms

Finally the living area should be spiritually protected in anyway that is holy to your beliefs.

Shortest Day

December 21

What do we mean by the shortest day?

The shortest day, winter solstice and midwinter are the colloquial terms used to describe the 24 hours around an annual astronomical event which occurs around the 22nd December. The shortest day marks the point when the days start to get longer and the nights shorter, and has profound cultural meaning around the world and throughout history. The cultural significance varies, but generally refers to a time of rebirth and renewal and is celebrated with festivals and rituals.

The astronomical event of the solstice occurs when the angle of the Sun to an observer is at its greatest, for an observer in a given hemisphere. For the Northern hemisphere this will be when the Sun is at its southern most position, and for an observer in the Southern hemisphere the northern most, see Figure 1.

The opposite of the winter solstice is the summer solstice and occurs around the 22nd June, and marks the point when the days are longest and nights shortest.

Yule-Tide

Yule or Yule-tide is a winter festival that was initially celebrated by the historical Scandinavian and Germanic people as a pagan religious festival, though it was later absorbed into, and equated with, the Christian festival of Christmas. The festival was originally celebrated from late December to early January on a date determined by the lunar Germanic calendar. The festival was placed on December 25 when the Christian calendar (Julian calendar) was adopted. Scholars have connected the celebration to the Wild Hunt, and some have theorized a connection to the Roman festival of Saturnalia.

Terms with an etymological equivalent to "Yule" are still used in the Nordic Countries for the Christian Christmas, but also for other religious holidays of the season. In modern times this has gradually led to a more secular tradition under the same name as Christmas. Yule is also used to a lesser extent in English-speaking countries to refer to Christmas. Customs such as the Yule log, Yule goat, Yule boar, Yule singing, and others stem from Yule. In modern times, Yule is observed as a cultural festival and also with religious rites by some Christians and by some Neopagans.

Yule is the modern English representative of the Old English words ġeól or ġeóhol and ġeóla or ġeóli, with the former indicating "(the 12-day festival of) Yule" (later: "Christmastide") and the latter indicating "(the month of) Yule", whereby ǣrra ġeóla referred to the period before the Yule festival (December) and ǣftera ġeóla referred to the period after Yule (January). Both words are thought to be derived from Common Germanic jeχ^wla-*, and are cognate to Gothic (fruma) jiuleis and Old Norse (Icelandic) jól (Danish, Swedish and Norwegian jul) as well as ýlir. The etymological pedigree of the word, however, remains uncertain, though numerous speculative attempts have been made to find Indo-European cognates outside the Germanic group

Gothic and Old English

Yule is attested early in the history of the Germanic peoples; from the 4th century Gothic language it appears in the month name fruma jiuleis.

About AD 730, the English historian Bede wrote that the Anglo-Saxon calendar included the months geola or giuli corresponding with either modern December or December and January. He gave December 25 as the first day of the heathen year and wrote that the Anglo-Saxons celebrated all night long to honor the Germanic divine "mothers":

They began the year with December 25, the day some now celebrate as Christmas; and the very night to which we attach special sanctity they designated by the heathen term Mōdraniht, that is, the mothers' night — a name bestowed, I suspect, on account of the ceremonies they performed while watching this night through.

Neopaganism

As forms of Neopaganism can be quite different and have very different origins, these representations can vary considerably despite the shared name. Some celebrate in a way as close as possible to how they believe Ancient Germanic pagans observed the tradition, while others observe the holiday with rituals culled from numerous other unrelated sources including Germanic.

Wicca

In most forms of Wicca, this holiday is celebrated at the winter solstice as the rebirth of the Great horned hunter god, who is viewed as the newborn solstice sun. The method of gathering for this sabbat varies by practitioner. Some have private ceremonies at home, while others do so with their covens. Yule festivities for modern Wiccans and neopagans involve the burning of the Yule log on an open fire to honour the lord Cernunnos or the Horned God; the log is decorated with holly and other symbolic paraphernalia.

Also during the many Wiccan Yule rituals, the Holly King dies and the Oak King is born. This signifies the changes in the season.

Yule Ritual

Zaratyst's 1996 Yule Ritual
Conducted for the UU Fellowship, Clinton, Iowa
December 22, 1996

Note: I performed this with a group of non-pagans, so I tried to make it as clear and straightforward as possible. I received a lot of positive feedback from them, yeah for acceptance of different ways! I have taken bits and pieces of many Yule rituals written by other people, in books, on the web, people I have known, etc. I thank any and all of them, though since it was put in the cosmic blender with my own imagination, I have no idea who they are, or what parts I harvested from them.

Statement of Intent

Since the beginning of time we have gathered in this season

To celebrate the rebirth of the Sun.
On the Winter Solstice - the darkest of nights
The Goddess becomes the Great Mother
And once again gives birth to the Sun
Beginning the yearly cycle anew
Bringing new light and hope to all the World.
On the longest night of winter
Flares the spark of hope
The Sacred Fire,
The Light of the World,
We gather here to welcome the new light.
As we join the Goddess in greeting the new Sun
We also welcome the new light within ourselves.
Calling the Quarters and Casting the Circle

Hail guardians of the east, spirits of Air, powers of Thought
I call you to lend your essence to this rite and protect us from all negativity from the east.

Hail guardians of the south, spirits of Fire, powers of Will
I call you to lend your essence to this rite and protect us from all negativity from the south.

Hail guardians of the west, spirits of Water, powers of Emotion
I call you to lend your essence to this rite and protect us from all negativity from the west.

Hail guardians of the north, spirits of Earth, powers of Stability
I call you to lend your essence to this rite and protect us from all negativity from the north.

I conjure ye O Circle of Light to be a temple between the worlds
In the name of the Silver Lady and the Golden Lord.

Wherefore do I bless and consecrate thee, So Mote It Be

Invocation

Lady, you who are the beauty of the snowy earth and the white moon among the stars the mystery of the waters the desire in the heart of humanity. We invite to you to come among us and attend this rite, for you are the soul of nature that gives life to the universe.

Lord, You who are the freedom of the wild things the bright sun that lights the day the mystery of the forest. The resolve in the heart of humanity. We invite you to come among us and attend this rite, for you are the body of nature who gives life to the universe.

Meditation

The old solar year has run its course and completed its cycle. So to have some of our habits or traits completed their cycles and outlived their usefulness. This is a time for shedding that which is no longer needed. Take a few moments now to consider which things you would leave behind as you go into the coming year.

(pause)

As the old year dies away so to will these old ways will fade into memory.

In the beginning we came from the darkness of the womb. There we were created, nourished and prepared for our birth into the light. Within us, we still carry that fertile darkness. there we hold the seeds of hopes and dreams to come. There we nourish are hopes for love, joy and peace for all. We shield these tender roots until they are strong enough to come forth and flourish in the light. Spend a little time now tending these creations to come. Name them, nurture them for they will grow with you and bloom in the coming year.

(pause)

As the sun strengthens above, so will our new ways grow.w.

Reading

We light this candle for the infant Solstice Sun One small flame to pierce the darkness

A ray of hope

A symbol of the Light within us all

Light that can never be extinguished

Light that will grow in glory

Waxing strong, despite the cold to come

Light that dispels despair and resignation

Giving us a glimpse of golden days ahead

Behold the light that can never die

Reborn anew in the Solstice Sky!

Chant

Think of those who you would send positive energy to: Loved ones perhaps, those in need of healing or added strength. Perhaps people who's names you do not know, who are living with war or hunger. You may wish to focus on that which important to you, your values, Perhaps the earth itself, or the animals who share it with us Whatever it is you wish to send your healing energy to. As we chant we will build the our energy with the turning of the wheel. As you chant feel the energy of change resonate within you.

When I stop the chant, visualize the positive energy bursting forth, like the sun coming out from behind a thick cloud, and imagine strong rays of streaking out, empowering your wishes, and carrying your healing thoughts to their targets.

Hoof and horn, hoof and horn

All that dies will be reborn

Corn and grain, corn and grain

All that falls will rise again

Blessing of Cakes and Wine

This food and wine is the blessing of the Goddess and God to our bodies. Let us partake in it freely. As we share, let us remember to share what we have with those who have nothing.

Releasing

Thank you, Goddess of the Moon for attending these rites in your honor, and for sharing with us your gifts of compassion and wit. Hail, and farewell.

Thank you, God of the Sun for attending these rites in your honor, and for sharing with us your gifts of freedom and rejuvenation. Hail, and farewell.

Guardians of the north, we thank you for your presence here and for your gift of stability. Hail and farewell

Guardians of the west, we thank you for your presence here and for your gift of empathy. Hail and farewell

Guardians of the south, we thank you for your presence here and for your gift of purity. Hail and farewell

Guardians of the east, we thank you for your presence here and for your gift of clarity. Hail and farewell

The circle is open, yet never broken, merry meet, and merry part, and merry meet again.

Incense - Mixing Winter's Magic

Scents have a way of making time stand still for us sometimes, and the aromas of the winter holidays are no exception. For many people, re-creating the smells and emotions of our childhood, or even of some distant ancestral memory, is part of the magic of the Yule season.

To make your own magical winter night's incense, first determine what form you'd like to make. You can make incense with sticks and in cones, but the easiest kind uses loose ingredients, which are then burned on top of a charcoal disc or tossed into a fire. This recipe is for loose incense, but you can always adapt it for stick or cone recipes.

As you mix and blend your incense, focus on the intent of your work. This particular recipe is one which evokes the spices and magic of a cold December night. Use it during a ritual, if you like, or as a smudging incense to purify a sacred space. You can also toss some into your fire just to make the house smell like winter.

You'll need:

- 2 parts Juniper berries
- 2 parts mugwort
- 1 part cedar
- 1 part pine resin
- 1 part laurel leaves
- 1 part chopped sweetgrass
- ½ part rosemary

Add your ingredients to your mixing bowl one at a time. Measure carefully, and if the leaves or blossoms need to be crushed, use your mortar and pestle to do so. As you blend the herbs together, state your intent. You may find it helpful to charge your incense with an incantation, such as:

As the sun returns, back to the earth,
we celebrate life and death and rebirth.
Cold winter nights and chilly days,
smoke in the sky, carry ills away.
A time of magic, at the longest night,
for without the dark, there cannot be light.
Herbs of power, blended by me,
As I will, so it shall be.

Store your incense in a tightly sealed jar. Make sure you label it with its name and date. Use within three months, so that it remains charged and fresh.

The Yule Log

Come, bring with a noise,
My merry, merry boys,

The Christmas log to the firing;
While my good dame, she
Bids ye all be free,

And drink to your heart's desiring.
With the last year's brand
Light the new block, and

For good success in his spending,
On your Psaltries play,
That sweet luck may

Come while the log is tending.

Spanish Wiccan Blog and Podcast

Wiccan blog and podcast in Spanish, 13 lunas (13 moons), created and maintained by Rev. Clara Fuentes (aka Harwe Tuileva), a Correllian priestess from Spain.

The blog seeks to keep Pagans and Wiccans from all the Spanish-speaking countries informed by means of an easy access format, and, of course, for free. Besides, the recent creation of a radio program in the form of a podcast completes this successful project that is currently receiving more than 400 visits per day at its website. The wonderful reception granted by the Spanish-speaking community reflects the need of more information of the Pagan and Wiccan community, which was looking forward to counting on this kind of initiatives in their own language.

The blog can be found at <http://www.13-lunas.com>.

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystal High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
Krystal

Order of Peace Weavers

The Order of Peace Weavers was created to provide members of the Correllian Tradition with the means of gathering together to collectively promote the weaving of peace into the fabric of society through meditation, prayer, Reiki, visualization, spell working, ritual, creative writing, intentional art and music, and other positive energy work and light work, with harm to none, and for the highest good of all concerned.

The motto of the Order of Peace Weavers is: "Be Peace, Live Peace, Send Love, Weave Peace." We hold a monthly 15 minute group peace meditation on the first Wednesday of every month and would love to have more join us to promote peace.

The Order of Peace Weavers is a chartered order of the Correllian Tradition. Membership is by invitation or application and is open to Inner and Outer Court members.
