Sacred Circle Dancing

Dancing in a circle is an ancient tradition common to many cultures for marking special occasions, strengthening community and encouraging togetherness. The circle is probably the oldest known dance formation. It is found even today in the community dances of many cultures, including Greek (Greek dances surviving from ancient Greece (chorea)), African, Eastern European, Israeli (see Jewish dance and Israeli folk dancing, Serbian, Irish Celtic, Breton, Catalan (sardana), South American and North American Indian. It is also used, in its more meditative form, in worship within various religious traditions, including, for example, the Church of England and other Anglican Churches..

Modern circle dance mixes traditional folk dances, mainly from European or Near-Eastern sources, with recently choreographed ones to a variety of music both ancient and modern and they draw on a rich and diverse dance tradition. There is also a growing repertoire of new dances to classical music and contemporary songs.

Circle dances can be energetic and lively or gentle and reflective. The style and mood reflects the group and the interests of the teacher. The aim always is to experience the joy of dancing with others and to create a sense of well-being and community. It was Bernhard Wosien who first brought to the Findhorn Community in Scotland the traditional circle dances that he had gathered from across Eastern Europe. He so inspired people there that teachers such as Colin Harrison and David Roberts took the dances (sometimes calling their dance 'sacred circle dance') to other parts of the UK and started regular groups particularly in the south east of England and Somerset, then across Europe, the US and elsewhere until now the network extends also to Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and South America .

Circle Dance is sometimes also known as Sacred Circle Dance from the original importance it had for the Findhorn Foundation community in Scotland following visits there from 1976 onwards by Professor Bernhard Wosien, a German dancer. Known first as Sacred Dance, it has changed over time as enthusiasts have made contributions, and may now be called Circle Dance, Sacred Dance, or Sacred Circle Dance (SCD). A small centrepiece of flowers or other natural or venerated objects is often placed at the centre of the circle to help focus the dancers and maintain the circular shape. Dancers bring many different belief systems to the circle including conventional religions (see above), New age and Neopagan beliefs and no religious affiliations at all. Much debate goes on within the circle dance network about what is meant by 'sacred' in the dance.

Sacred Dance

Sacred Dance has nothing to do with a specific dance style or with particular body techniques. The dancer moves in a way that unites his or her Mind, Body and Spirit with a Higher Spiritual Energy. It is not of importance whether we call this energy "God", "The Creator", "The Great Spirit", "Nature", "The Cosmos" or anything else. What is important is that this results in the dancer feeling spiritually uplifted and filled with joy.

Dance is clearly one of the earliest forms of worship. Cave art from early prehistoric times onwards bears witness to the power of the dance. The paintings and engravings occur worldwide. In the western part of Arnhem Land in Australia a cave painting shows two men playing instruments to accompany the dance. A rock shelter at Cogul near Lenda in Catalonia, Spain portrays a group of nine women. They are wearing knee length skirts and are dancing round a small naked male figure. The State of Madhya Pradesh in India has abundant rock art depicting dancers and musicians. The caves in Tassili Algeria have paintings of female dancers and the Etruscans in 500 BC depicted dancing in wall frescoes.

Certain dances mimic animals or are aimed to ensure that something happens. For example hunters in ancient times are shown in cave paintings dancing wearing animal skins and masks. We can safely assume that this was to ensure good hunting. Dances miming the gathering of the harvest must also be of ancient origin. As time has passed such dances have become folk dance rather than sacred dance. Sacred Dance is often preceded by elaborate secret preparations such as bathing, avoidance of certain foods and drinks and from sexual intercourse. There may be periods of intense prayer and the taking of trance inducing substances.

One of the best documented European sacred dances is that connected to the cult of the Greek god Dionysus. The rituals in his honor included orgies, the sacrifice of animals, copious wine-drinking and trance dancing which continued until the dancers collapsed with exhaustion.

Judaism had no problem with dance being connected to worship. Psalm 150 for example:- "Praise ye the Lord... Praise him with the timbrel and dance". King David is said to have whirled before the Ark of the Covenant. In the Talmud dancing is described as being the principal function of angels.

Dance was part of the service in the early Christian church. It took place in the choir and was led by the bishop. Today there are Christian churches who are reintroducing dance sometimes in a very self-conscious style.

Dance the equinox with Lynn Hartwood and Jane Buchen in Brattleboro VT Sept 20

Valerie Hadden of the Boston Pagan Examiner

The sacred circle dancers that meet in Brattleboro VT are celebrating the autumnal equinox with an afternoon of dances, choreographed and led by Lynn Hartwood and Jane Buchen. Join them on Sunday September 20 from 3:30 to 5:30 pm at the Aikido Center at 11 Cottage St. in Brattleboro VT.

Mr. Hartwood and Ms. Buchen are delighted to be dancing with this group for the equinox. "[The] circle in Brattleboro is just completely accepting of everyone who comes...they say, 'Yes, yes, yes!'...they're wonderful," Ms. Buchen enthuses.

Parker Huber, one of the founders of the group, says that when he dances with Mr. Hartwood and Ms. Buchen he is "transported to something beyond myself...[where I do] not have to use my mind that much."

"Lynn and I are not traditional circle dancers," Ms. Buchen explains. All of the dances that Mr. Hartwood and Ms. Buchen lead are dances that they themselves have choreographed. Ms. Buchen describes the moment she decided not to teach others' dances: "I discovered that one of my favorite dances, Kangeleftos, is about stepping over dead bodies on the ground... It seemed crazy to dance dances that we know nothing about... [I want to] strengthen a culture of peace." She says that when dancers come to circles that she and her husband lead, "they know they're not going to be offered the usual fare... However, it's the same spirit... We create energy and send it out to the world."

Mr. Hartwood and Ms. Buchen lead a dance circle every full moon at Sky Meadow Retreat, a Buddhist retreat center, in a temple Mr. Hartwood built himself. The next gathering is October 3. For more information, contact Ms. Buchen at 802-533-9277 or Jane_circledances@yahoo.ca. Also, visit the center at www.skymeadowretreat.com.

Ms. Buchen says, "We love to dance and believe if everyone did we'd...be living the lives we're meant to live...that's why we dance: peace and harmony."

For more information on this dance circle and equinox celebration, contact Ms. Buchen, above. For more information on this and other gatherings of the dance group in Brattleboro, call Mr. Huber at 802-257-9108.

Sacred circle dance with Barbara Driscoll on October 8

Valerie Hadden of the Boston Pagan Examiner

Barbara Driscoll, sacred circle dance facilitator and choreographer, has come all the way from England and will be leading a circle in Milford NH on October 8 from 7:00 to 9:30 pm.

This Examiner has already written about the Milford sacred circle dance group. (See www.examiner.com/x-11871-Boston-Pagan-Examiner~y2009m8d29-Sacred-circle-dance-in-Milford-NH.) Now its usual leader, Mary Koon, is delighted to announce this special session with Ms. Driscoll.

Ms. Driscoll says, "Dancing is my joy and my passion... I now lead 3 Circle Dance groups and several day workshops. My first choreography – An Irish Tipple, has become a favourite all over the Circle Dance world... My dances vary from lively and fun to slow and meditative. Come and experience the sacred geometry of my latest dance Sanza to Thomas Otten's voice and music."

Ms. Koon says, "[Ms. Driscoll's] choreographies are exquisite... She's a woman with a lot of grace... [Her dances are] not so complex that you can't learn them, but not simple either."

Ms. Koon met Ms. Driscoll and her husband, Mike Driscoll, while dancing in Mexico in 2007. Ever since she has wanted Ms. Driscoll to come lead at her home circle in New Hampshire. Ms. Koon, Ms. Driscoll, and all the Milford dancers are delighted that it is finally working out.

Ms. Driscoll has not always been a sacred circle dancer; in her life she has done many different kinds of dance. She says, "I have come to Circle Dance via Ballet, Ballroom, Latin American and Scottish dancing, having done national competition dancing with my husband Mike and previously appeared on television's Come Dancing." Ms. Koon says that Ms. Driscoll "took to [sacred circle dance] naturally."

Come to this very special evening of dance!

A sliding scale donation of $5 to $20 is requested.

For more information, contact Mary Koon at 603-487-2732 or maryfloyd@mfire.com

Multi-faith Calendar

Rev. Nehal

Multi-faith Calendar – Coming up:

Saturday 19th September – Rosh Hashanah

On the first day of the seventh month hold a sacred assembly and do no regular work. It is a day for you to sound the trumpets. Numbers 29:1

Rosh Hashanah is the Jewish New Year festival and commemorates the creation of the world. It lasts 2 days. The traditional greeting between Jews is "L'shanah tovah" ... for a good New Year.

Rosh Hashanah is also a judgement day, when Jews believe that God balances a person's good deeds over the last year against their bad deeds, and decides what the next year will be like for them.

God records the judgement in the Book of Life, where he sets out who is going to live, who is going to die, who will have a good time and who will have a bad time during the next year. The book and the judgement are finally sealed on Yom Kippur.

That's why another traditional Rosh Hashanah greeting is "Be inscribed and sealed for a good year".

In the synagogue

A lot of time is spent in the synagogue on Rosh Hashanah, when there are special services that emphasise God's kingship.

One of the synagogue rituals for Rosh Hashanah is the blowing of the Shofar, a ram's horn trumpet. A hundred notes are sounded in a special rhythm.

In the home

New Year isn't only celebrated in the synagogue, but at home too. A special meal is served, with the emphasis on sweetness.

Apples are dipped in honey, as a symbol of the sweet New Year that each Jew hopes lies ahead. A sweet carrot stew called a tzimmes is often served.

And at New Year the Jewish Challah (or Challah) bread served comes as a round loaf, rather than the plaited loaf served on the Sabbath, so as to symbolise a circle of life and of the year.

There's often a pomegranate on the table because of a tradition that pomegranates have 613 seeds, one for each of the commandments that a Jew is obliged to keep.

Quote & Thought of the Day

Rev. Nehal

Quote of the Day:

Wherever we may come alive, that is the area in which we are spiritual.

David Steindl-Rast

Source: <http://enlightenyourday.com/2009/04/22/61-spirituality-quotes-for-the-soul-to-ponder/>

Thought of the day:

Real-life reality

Reflection and meditation certainly have their place, yet much of enlightenment is attained through living. Jump into the world that's filled with confusion and contradiction, challenges and obstacles, and make your way through.

You can learn much by observation and study. However, there are many things you can learn only with experience.

Open yourself to new experiences and you'll be opening yourself to an endless stream of rich and rewarding possibilities. The more you get involved in life, the more you get out of life.

Take on a challenging project, and get your hands dirty dealing with all the details. Make a significant commitment, and then do the work to fully follow through on that commitment.

Though life's texture is sometimes rough, there is great and wonderful richness in that texture. Every day is filled with moments that can each be filled with robust experience.

Get out there, get in there, weave yourself again and again into the vivid fabric of real-life reality. It is there that you will create the sweet fulfillment you seek.

Feline Fun

Rev. Nehal

This week in Feline Fun – Cats chase mice away, not adopt them, right?? Wrong..

Cat adopts mouse

A mother cat in China has adopted a mouse, letting it join her family of newborns.

The cat was brought into a children's clothing store to catch mice, reports Yanzhao City News.

Ten days ago, the cat gave birth to five kittens.

"She stays in the box all day long, taking care of her babies, but three days ago, my colleague found a small mouse playing with the kittens," said a spokesperson for the store in Shijiazhuang city.

"The cat was protecting the mouse, and would become alert if anyone came too close."

The store staff threw the mouse out once, but immediately the cat ran to bring it back and let it play with her kittens.

Experts say it's quite exceptional, but that maybe the cat became lenient after becoming a mother.

Poets Retreat

Poetry provided by the Order of Bards

Little Bright Flying Things

So many times
Peripherally I see
Little bright flying things
All around me
They light my path
So I can see
The directions sent
By Goddess for me
They're tricky and sly
They giggle and tweak
If you listen real hard
You hear them speak
My minds wide open
Oh i believe
Little bright flying things
Going by me
Some think I'm crazy
Some think its dope
Fairies they say
For me there's no hope
Oh close minded humans
What you don't know
About little fairies
And mysteries they know
I'm content
Because I believe
Little bright flying things
All around me!

THE ORDER OF WEB WEAVERS CRYSTAL WEB MAPPING PROJECT

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalogue your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly catalogued we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,
The Order of Web Weavers

THE ORDER OF WORLD WALKERS

This Correllian order is headed by the Rev. Krystel High Correll and she is offering training for those who wish to join the order. The training consists of twelve lessons, one a month, for a year, offered through e-mail.

The purpose of this order is to fulfill the deeper purposes of the Correllian Tradition--advanced psychic and spiritual work, primarily conducted on multi-dimensional levels. This work includes:

Learning to connect and work with your spirit guides. Conscious dying and conscious incarnation. Advanced dream work. Exploring the known boundaries of the multi-dimensional universe, then conducting independent work to go beyond those boundaries. The study of time and advanced work within it. Soul rescue (helping those who are not aware they have died, or are not willing to cross over). Mediumship (being a voice for the so-called dead, visiting the land of the dead and communicating with them, and building a pathway between the living and the dead). Healing, both personal and of our Earth.

These purposes are divided among five houses that consist of the members who are dedicated to the work of the House.

The Order of World Walkers is a working order. The training is only the beginning. Each of the houses offer work that can be done for the rest of your life, if you choose to do it.

I believe that everyone who chooses to become a member of the order chose this before coming into this life time to continue work begun in other lives.

For more in-depth information, including the cost of the lessons, contact me at krystelneuman@yahoo.com

May You Blessed Be
Krystel
