Profile of Reader

Rev. John (Ing) Snodgrass, HP:

What I am offering to you is a free basic 3 Card - Tarot Card Reading which can help guide you through periods when your emotions have become troubled and clouded thoughts are all you have. I wish to be of service to you by offering this free reflection of your past, present and possible future and thus offer to you For this project, I am calling upon all Temples, Proto-Temples, Witan Shrines, a short fresh perspective on your life, and its many problems.

Creating a Crystal Access Point

Dig the hole in which you will bury the crystal before you start to cast the circle. Begin by casting a Circle. Since you will be out of doors and may not be burying your crystal in a private place, you may want it to be a very simple.

Circle: you can do it entirely in your head, imagining the Circle around you, then silently calling the Quarters and imagining Them as pillars of white light.

You may invoke Goddess and God

Announcements

silently.

Of course if you are in a more private place, or are comfortable being observed casting a Circle, you may do the Circle as elaborately as you choose.

Hold your crystal. Above the crystal imagine a three dimensional triangle of white light. Imagine this fully.

Then imagine the triangle spinning clockwise.

Imagine a ball of white light in the Heart Chakra. When this is clear in your head, send a beam of green light from the Heart Chakra into the spinning triangle. As the green light enters the triangle, it will change its shape, becoming a cube (still spinning clockwise). Imagine this change fully.

Fill the cube with green light from your Heart Chakra.

Once the cube is full of green light the flow will reverse, and green light will flow back to your heart. Let the green light fill your heart, your chest, your whole body, as well as the crystal you hold. Let the crystal fill with this light.

Put the crystal in the hole and cover it with earth.

Place both hands directly over the now-covered hole and focus white light down into the earth and the buried crystal. Now charge the crystal to link into the Crystal Web.

Announcements

This may be spoken aloud or done silently.

"O crystal, I charge you to link into the Crystal Web, becoming one with its energies.

Through you I gain access to the Web, which links my Correllian family."

Imagine a beam of white light coming from the crystal and shooting off in one or another direction, underground – this is the crystal linking into the Web.

To use this crystal in the future, follow these steps:

Imagine the buried crystal within a cube of white light. Imagine the cube spinning clockwise.

Focus a beam of energy from your heart into the cube, and imagine it changing into a triangle, still spinning; the crystal will then be open and may be interacted with. When finished, allow the image to fade. This can be done from a distance; you do not need to actually be at the site where the crystal is buried.

Crystal Access Point!

Chancellor's New Year's Address

Greetings everyone,

Well it is that time again, the dawning of a new calendrical year. For many years now the calendrical New Year has been the occasion of an annual Chancellor's address by me, and this year will be no exception.

Year 10 has been a rather difficult year, with much success but many struggles. I think that many of you, like me, are probably looking forward to Year 11 with high hopes. For me this is especially so because 11 has long been a special number for us. Number of the Master Psychic, 11 is a very magical number indicating not only spiritual but physical communication, enlightenment, and teaching. It is my hope that this Year 11 will be dominated by these highly spiritual qualities, and will be a time of understanding and growth.

For me here in Salem Year 11 has certainly begun with many challenges but also with one significant advance. For many years we have been attempting to create a religious and cultural center to serve as our administrative headquarters and public interface. This has been a goal of ours for decades. Having such a center not only allows for public worship, classes, and social events, but also allows for the development and preservation of physical culture through the arts, music, and theater. It can also greatly aid in the preservation of history through the public display of artwork and artifacts.

We have of course been working on this for many years. We attempted to create such a center in Chicago in the `90s, in the form of the original Holy City Temple space at Irving and Milwaukee, and later the Spirit Center on Lawrence Ave. These centers were the site of many rituals and events as well as psychic and healing services, and both of them featured access to our massive library. However the cost of public space in Chicago in those days was such that these early centers proved to be unsustainable.

In Year 3 we moved to Central Illinois, the birthplace of the Correllian Tradition, in the belief that the lower cost of living there would allow us to establish a permanent center, and indeed, despite some local resistance, we were able to establish a fine center in Hoopston and Rossville. Here we not only had ritual, teaching, and healing space, as well as our library and our administrative headquarters and gift shop, but we were even able to establish a film studio. Unfortunately Hoopston and Rossville were rather isolated geographically and, while this was not such an issue in the early years and many people made the trip out to see us, when the economy fell in Year 8 that geographical isolation a huge problem. People were no longer so willing to make a long trip to visit an isolated religious center in the country.

Now we have always been a very public organization with a major emphasis on outreach, and being so we had been feeling that we needed to create a second center in a more urban area even before the economy fell. An urban center would allow a more direct interface with the public as well as being easier for people to get to, not requiring hours of travel on country roads. We looked at several possible areas including Chicago, New Orleans, Minneapolis, and Salem. At the time this proposed urban center was intended to augment, rather than replace our main headquarters in Illinois. But when the economy fell we found the already limited resources of central Illinois became downright scarce, and visitors few and far between.

So as Year 9 was ending, we determined that we needed to proceed with the creation of an urban center that would allow us to continue our mission of public outreach, and settled upon Salem as the best candidate. As America's "Witch City" Salem seemed a perfect fit for us, and the Salem community is highly accustomed to public Witches of every stripe, so we were certain we would not face the kind of opposition we had encountered among conservative Hoopeston/Rossville churches.

Initially we only intended a small teaching and worship center within a local business, as opposed to a dedicated space of our own as we felt a dedicated space was beyond our means. But Spirit had other ideas for us. We had barely set foot in Salem when we were presented with the opportunity for the World of Witches Museum and Salem Chapel. Now a Museum is something we have long desired and planned to open sometime in the indeterminate future. We had even considered opening such a Museum in Rossville, and indeed our Rossville Office had featured exhibits of historical materials. But we had thought we might establish a Museum sometime in the next decade. The idea that we would do so in Year 10 was absolutely not in our minds when we came to Salem. Yet this is what happened.

And so, despite many ups and downs, we find ourselves with an ideal public center as Year 11 dawns. A large center with ritual space, reading rooms, historical exhibits, and a gift shop, easily accessible via major roadways to people who want to come visit. We have been able to resurrect our film studio and will soon be moving the library so that it can once again be accessible to people. Just when it seemed as if we might lose our center altogether due to the failing economy, Spirit instead moved us to an even better position, albeit one with many new challenges of its own.

But this is what it means to be Wiccan. To be guided and aided by Spirit, to have magic and unexpected good fortune as a regular feature in your life. Not that we don't have to work hard, not that we don't have to think for ourselves... of course we do. But Spirit moves through us, and moves us in ways and to places we often could not have imagined. Year 10 was a hard year, but in its own way miraculous. Now in Year 11 we must consolidate the new center for the future.

Another very important aspect of Year 11 for me is that this is the twentieth anniversary of the Ride the Dragon ritual, our first major public ritual through Church of Gaia Holy City Temple. It is hard to believe that it has been twenty years. Oh how our family has grown in those twenty years. We have seen victories and accomplishments that make the heart soar to think of them, and struggles and challenges that brought us to the point of exhaustion, only to get up again and continue forward. And always we have found strength in Spirit and in each other, one family, one Tradition. We will be honoring the anniversary of Ride the Dragon by re-enacting the ritual on Pagans Tonight on Tuesday, January

11, at <http://www.blogtalkradio.com/witchschool>

Finally I must say that Year 10 was a year in which I had to appeal for help from you, my family. And I want to take this occasion to thank again all those who helped me either with donations, prayers, or emotional support. Your help in my moment of need means the world to me, and I will always be grateful for the outpouring of love and support I received. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you. I am especially grateful to those who have chosen to make ongoing donations through the Tradition's new subscription system, featured on the front page of <http://www.Correllian.com>. Your monthly donation helps me and all of our Tradition family more than you can possibly imagine. If more people made ongoing donations, who knows how much more we could accomplish?

So thank you everyone. And I would like to make a special thank you to Rev. Anna Rowe, HP, for all of her hard work as Witan Herald, a difficult and all too often thankless job. Bless you Lady Anna. And MaryAnn Kay who does so much for so many through Witch School. Bless you MaryAnn. And Bless all of the wonderful people who work to help others through the Mentoring programs, through the Clergy, and in so very many capacities throughout our family. Bless you all.

And may Year 11 bring many more blessings to all of us.

One part sandalwood oil

One part patchouli oil

One part clove bud oil

One part frankincense oil

One part nutmeg oil

Monthly Incense/Oil

You will also need a green candle, parchment, a pen and dragon's blood ink.

You may also use a green or gold ink pen.

On the waxing or full moon, fold all the herbs into the cloth and tie a ribbon around it and place it on your altar.

Combine the oils together and place the bottle on your altar.

On the parchment draw the symbol for Jupiter, a money symbol (like a dollar sign or the symbol for the pound or a rune for prosperity).

Also make a general list of all the things you'd like to gain from your new job.

Take the green candle and with a pen, tack or crystal, carve the word "Prosperity" into the wax. Anoint the candle with some of the oil and allow it to burn out.

Wear the remainder of the oil as a perfume, add it to a bath or put a drop or two on your application or resume.

Sleep with the sachet under your pillow for at least a week.

You should see results in 1-3 months.

Make Your Own Altar Pentacle

By Patti Wigington, About.com Guide

http://paganwiccan.about.com/od/shoppingandsupplies/ss/Altar_Pentacle.htm

Why Have A Pentacle?

This altar pentacle is easy to make using a simple wooden circle and a woodburning pen.

Make Your Own Altar Pentacle

The pentacle is one of the most commonly used magical tools in the Wiccan religion, as well as in some traditions of Paganism. Typically, it is used on the altar as a place to hold items that are about to be ritually consecrated or charged. In some traditions, the pent represents the element of Earth.

There are many absolutely beautiful pentacles available commercially, made of wood, tile, metal, ceramic, and just about every other type of material. If you're operating on a budget, however, or if you just like the idea of handcrafting your own magical tools, it's not hard to make a pentacle of your own.

You'll need a wooden disc in the size of your choice, available at nearly any hardware or craft store. The one in the photo is a 7" circle, and cost less than $3.00. You'll also need to decide whether you want to paint your pentacle pattern, or burn it into the wood. The one in the photo is burned on, using a woodburning pen that I bought for $2.00 at a craft store. Finally, you'll need some clear polyurethane and a brush.

Making the Magic

Make Your Own Altar Pentacle

Print out this pattern, resize as needed using a copier, and use it to create your own altar pentacle.

Image © Patti Wigington 2007

First, print out the image above. Use a copy machine with resizing capabilities to either enlarge or shrink the image, depending on the size of your wooden disc. Once you have it the size you want, place it on top of the wooden disc.

Using a pencil, trace over the outline of the pattern, pressing down so that you make an indentation in the wood. Once the design is indented, use the pencil to go back over the indents, making a complete pencilled pattern on the wood.

If you're painting, use your paints to go over the pencil lines. If you're using a woodburning pen, carefully trace over the lines -- depending on how experienced you are with woodburning, it may take a couple of hours.

When you're done, brush a few coats of polyurethane over the design to give it some shine and to protect it from wear. If you like, use a small drill bit to make a hole in the center for incense sticks. Finally, if you're concerned that your pent might scratch your altar top, cut out a circle of felt the same size as the wooden disc, and glue it to the bottom of the wood.

Use your pentacle on your altar to consecrate ritual items, to bless or charge talismans, or to represent the element of Earth. Alternately, you could attach a hook to the back and hang it on your wall.

What the Secret for Using Triggers in Wicca

<http://www.thefreelibrary.com/What+the+Secret+for+Using+Triggers+in+Wicca...-a01073987928>

This article can be reproduced

First, let me talk about what Witchcraft "Trigger" is. (And trust me, even some experienced Witches have never heard of Triggers before. You can use this with any Wicca spells you get for free (or otherwise). A Trigger is a way have "assigning" your spells to a word, a bodily movement, or sometimes even a thought or state of mind.

For example, instead of sitting down and doing a full spell ritual to bring "self love" to you, you can actually assign the focus, intention and emotion that the spell entails to a simple movement of your hand or arm.

First, let me talk about what Witchcraft "Trigger" is. (And trust me, even some experienced Witches have never heard of Triggers before. You can use this with any Wicca spells you get for free (or otherwise).

For example, instead of sitting down and doing a full spell ritual to bring "self love" to you, you can actually assign the focus, intention and emotion that the spell entails to a simple movement of your hand or arm.

The advantage of having some prepared Triggers for your Wicca spells is that you can cast them on the fly any time you want. You could be at the mall and be talking to someone that is giving off a bad energy... with just a slight motion, and maybe a word, you can instantly create an egg of protection (I show you an egg protection spell in my course).

The disadvantage of using a trigger is that there is no way to build the same amount of preparation, emotion, focus and intent into the spell as you could if you were doing it in a full ritual situation in front of your altar.

So you really need to decide if you are willing to sacrifice some of the "power" of the spell (for lack of a better word) by using a trigger - in exchange for being able to cast the spell any time you need it - in any situation.

Here's an example of how to create a Wicca Witchcraft trigger:

Sit at your altar, visualizing the spell that you last cast, and picturing how it went wrong. You don't need to spend much more time than thirty seconds to do this. After all, you do not want to add any more negative energy to empower the spell, you just want to make sure that you have the spell clearly in your mind.

When you have it visualized, use your hand to cut through the image in front of you, slicing it up with your hand like a knife, while saying the following:

"My spell went wrong
Please reverse it"

Past XVI

Cosmology: The future is in many ways the product of the past. Our experiences, and the circumstances which shape our lives, connect in an inexorable chain leading us to the present. This chain of events would seem to be immutable. But is it? If Time is illusory in nature – simply a device which the Soul uses to organize its experiences- then the past can be as variable as the future. This approach to Time –the idea that a variable past and future radiate from the Now Moment if only the adept can transcend the limitation of the concept of “Time” – allows a very different view of things “past”. Healing of past situations, even changing of past situations become possible to the adept. But only if the adept can overcome their ingrained belief in the immutability of that past.

Tarot Cards to Use for Spells

INTRODUCTION

This page is not an introduction to the tarot for readings. It is rather a manual for the person who tends to put the tarot cards to use for spells. It is a how-to page where you will find exact instruction on how to set up the tarot cards to get the desired effect.

Most people know the tarot only as a tool for divination. Each of the tarot cards represents a field of experience and/or a function in life. In a tarot reading you shuffle the cards then you lay them out in a specific manner such as the celtic cross method or the tree of life method. Then you judge each card by its position in the layout and how it relates to the other cards. From this you can then divine important facts about the person for whom you are reading.

Beyond Weird

All the following is about tarot spells.

When you give a tarot reading you channel energies from the universe towards yourself. You use the cards as indicators of what the universe tells you. If you do a spell with the tarot you use the cards as energy filters. They represent the energies that you are about to send off. I have mentioned above that each tarot card is a archetypal symbol that represents a field of experience or a function or an idea. To combine tarot cards means to combine ideas. Consequently the tarot cards are an ideal tool to creatively act upon your universe in magical operations.

A magical operation is any action at a distance that involves the use of structural links and life energy, or psychic power. Therefore, to be effective in magical work, you need a source of life energy, a psychic link to the target of your magical operation (unless the target of the magical operation is present), and a structural link that represents the specific action that you desire. The success of every magical work depends on these three key factors.

* The better the psychic link to your target is, the easier you can influence it with a magical operation, or spell. Psychic links for targeting are structural links that are near identical with the target. Hair and fingernails contain genetic code that is unique for every individual, therefore, these items are an excellent structural or psychic link to the target. This genetic code allows you to connect with every cell in the body of the target person. Clothing has a similar effect. This is so because clothing has skin rubbings in it even after it went through the washer and drier. Other good psychic links with the target are visualization, the writing down of the name (which involves visualization), and radionic settings. These psychic links are not of the identical kind, but of an "equivalent nature."

Equivalent structural links are an excellent substitute in cases where near identical links are missing. Photos are somewhat in between two extremes that we have just described. There is more information on structural links in the course Magic of the Future.

* For a strong effect of the spell, you need a strong source of life energy. Many magicians create their own energy as they need it. The creating of psychic energy, or life energy, is an integral part of every magical ritual. Magicians use a variety of methods to create life energy. These methods range from chanting, dancing, sex magical practices, and processes of visualization all the way to the sacrificing of animals. A most effective way to generate life energy continuously is the Welz Generator which we promote highly here (see Gadgets & Gizmos).

* The third, equally important, factor is the "energy filter." This energy filter is a structural representation of a desired action or of an energy (entity) that works toward a desired result. The structural link to the action, or energy filter, needs to be a correct representation of the intention of the magician. Otherwise the spell may not be effective or it may have an unexpected outcome. (We will be using tarot cards as our "energy filters").

For all these reasons, to be a good magician means years of training, practice and study.

Many of the spell books on the market make the task of casting effective spells seem easy. However all too often would-be magicians get only meager results. This is so because they are not capable of creating the psychic connection with the target or they cannot generate a sufficiently large amount of psychic energy for the spell.

With the invention of the WELZ GENERATOR this situation has changed dramatically. Now even a beginner can cast effective spells. The Welz Generator creates sufficient psychic energy to lock on to the target, and to actively effect the outcome of every spell AT THE TURN OF A DIAL!

To do magical work successfully you need to have the following:

- * A good structural link to the target of your work.
- * A good power source for life energy.
- * An appropriate filter that correctly represents the energy that you send to the target of your work.

It is up to you to find a good structural link. It may be hair, a photo, or a transfer design that the person whom you help carries with him/her. For the life energy you have one of the Welz Generators, or energy charged within some sort of battery such as a crystal.

Mike Gleason's Books & CDs Review

Murder by Another Name By Jo

Mike Gleason's Books & CDs Review

Regular readers of my reviews will know that, occasionally, I review books which have absolutely no connection to the subjects normally discussed in the newsgroups and mailing lists which routinely carry my reviews. I do this for a number of reasons, some of which are purely selfish (I find a book which intrigues me for some reason and request a copy which I then feel obligated to review, or I receive an unsolicited book which piques my interest), and some of which are a bit harder to explain (I hate for people to become complacent and enjoy shaking things up a bit). This is one of those reviews. Murder by Another Name is a mystery novel with no Pagan, or paranormal, elements whatsoever, so if you don't enjoy this type of book, or if you feel you have more important things to be reading, you can skip this review. If, on the other hand, you (like me) like occasionally blowing the cobwebs out of your mind by radically shifting gears, read on.

I noticed a few inconsistencies in this book beside the occasional spelling errors and dropped words (which is just further indication that the roles of proofreaders and editors need to the subject of a revival) – one character went from Ann to Nancy and back to Ann within the space of a couple of pages.

Mike Gleason's Books & CDs Review

However, that is mere nit-picking on my part.

Ms. Stone is an attorney who has been involved in litigation concerning silicone breast implants, so she brings a unique perspective to this story. On top of that, she is a more than adequate storyteller. Her knowledge of courtroom procedures shows though, and her perception of the need for pacing helps to move things along at a reasonable and believable rate of speed.

This is not a feel-good story; the good guys may win in the end, but it is not a clean victory; and the “villains” may lose, but there is little to celebrate at the end. It is, nonetheless an excellently told story, and one which is thoroughly believable.

If you are looking for “...something completely different” this is a book you will enjoy. I am willing to bet that it is probably a “one off” (i.e., not likely to become a series), but even though I really like series, I have no hesitation recommending this book to one and all.

Forest Song: Letting Go by Vila Spiderhawk © 2010 Vanilla Heart Publishing ISBN: 978-1935407829 280 pages Paperback $14.95 (U.S.)www.VanillaHeartBooksAndAuthors.com

Mike Gleason's Books & CDs Review

This is a continuation of the story begun in Forest Song: Finding Home and continued in Forest Song: Little Mother and you really need to have read those books to be up to speed at the start of this book. It continues the evolution of Judy Bauman, whom we first saw as a gawky pre-teen running away from an over-controlling family, and then followed the beginning of her life as a woman.

In Forest Song: Little Mother, we got to see Judy begin the process of maturing from a dependent young child living with her teacher to creating her own home and finding a lover. She confronts her own shortcomings and learns to stand up for herself.

In this book we see her come into her role as "Mother" of the forest. She is unsure of herself at the start, but at the end she passes along her hard-won knowledge to a new generation.

The background is Europe immediately preceding and during the rise of Nazi Germany. Much of the action revolves around saving members of the Jewish community from their impending destruction. The story teeters on the edge of reality, since it blends a certain amount of Hollywood-style magic (teleportation, fairies, and such) with common sense herbalism, simple rituals, etc. Ms. Spiderhawk uses her considerable talents to create a world which allows the reader to absorb the wisdom she imparts in the same way the heroine does – by experiencing it in life, not by being “taught” it. As such, it may not immediately appeal to many younger readers, who have grown up with high-speed chases and shoot-outs. This is a kinder, gentler novel, and is well worth the time spent reading it.

This is a more fast-moving story than its predecessors. It deals with topics which are more likely to stir up emotions - the Nazi conquest of large swaths of Europe, their blatant disregard for basic human feelings and amenities, and the feeling of betrayal which those engendered. It carries us beyond that point, however, and shows us the continuation of life which is central to our Pagan way of life.

Judy Bauman's leg of the journey comes to an end in this book (although there are many unanswered questions), but the journey itself continues.

Ms. Spiderhawk knows how to tell a story. It will appeal to a wide range of readers, ranging in age from young adult through senior citizen; from those looking for a fun story to members of the Pagan community looking for a way to pass along some basic knowledge in a painless way. I cannot recommend this author's work strongly enough.

*Celtic Trees Pt.1: Febuary,
Ash/Nion*

By Chinobus/Michael Victor Krain
<http://www.novareinna.com/constellations/ash.html>

"Cruel the Ash tree,
Turns not aside a foot-breadth,
Straight at the heart runs he."

Tree/Name/Season/Month: Ash/Nion,
Winter-Spring

Color: Green/Forest Green

Polarity: Feminine/Beauty

Class: Chieftain

Month Reference/Meaning: This tree falls under the Fifth month of the Celtic Oghum calendar and is associated with Mars, the Roman God of War and Agriculture. To the Celts this was known as the time of "Alban Eilar" or "Lady Day" associated with fertility rites. March, as well, celebrated the Vernal Equinox/Spring Equinox and the First Day of Spring. The Celts believed that Hares (which are sacred to the Moon Goddess) came to chase away the Spirits of Winter this month. Easter is associated with this because Hares were natives to the British Isles and were foretold by March (The March Hare) of a need to be aware of the inner and outer worlds and the fine balance between the two; hence the tradition of the March

*Celtic Trees Pt.1: Febuary,
Ash/Nion*

Hare "hiding eggs" so that the people would learn to discern between them (The Inner and Outer Worlds).

Textual Reference/Meaning: Nion/Ash is a tree/word that is associated with a time where warriors gather together and check on the peace and stability of there tribes and or nation; it is a sacred and most revered tree in comparison to other trees because Nion stands for when the spear-shafts (symbols of peace and war) are broken thus leading to a crucial and most important decision regarding the coming year.

Physical Goal: A realization of our actions, inward and outward, and its echoes without the cosmos much like a pebble thrown into a stream creating ripples that affects all Life and Unlife in the Universal Construct. Awareness and Acceptance of oneself and the world in which we are all connected to and that the effect of actions demands careful consideration.

Spiritual Goal: Become aware that we all are connected and we all effect/affect one another with each and every interaction/inaction we choose. This is a time to meditate and contemplate of actions committed in the past so that the future can be brought back into balance with the Universal Construct once again.

Celtic Trees Pt.1: Febuary, Ash/Nion

Oghum Alphabet: Costud Side (Checking of Peace), Bag Maisi (Flight of Beauty/Weavers Dream)

Amergin Verse: "I Am a Wind on a Deep Lake"-repeat during meditation or ritual or even during your daily routine.

Magickal Properties: Prosperity, Protection and Healing

Prayer/Ritual: Perform a cleansing spell during a Full Moon and meditate upon the actions you committed in the past, be thorough and leave none out (for this could cause serious repercussions later on). Forgive and forget all past wrongs you or others have done via your actions/inactions and bless those of whom have blessed, aided, or carried you in the past.

Monthly Tarot Reading

For FEBRUARY 2011

By: Rev. John (Ing) Snodgrass, HP

Note: Although I will show all the Tarot Cards in their Upright view - their true positions are noted under the individual card.

You should take note that February has been divided into 4 increments which are 7 days long.

The deck of Tarot Cards I am using for this month is "The Norse Tarot" by Clive Barrett...a very beautifully illustrated deck steeped in imagery based on Norse Mythology.

The First 7 Days: 02 - 1 to 02 - 7

8 of Swords (Reversed)

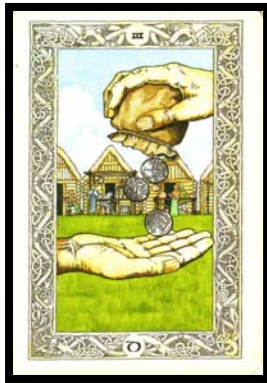

Illustration: A weaponless man is surrounded by eight hostile men armed with swords.

The First 7 Days of February finds the 8 of Swords in its Reversed position ... The dreaded "trapped!" card, surrounded by swords we begin the month feeling isolated, banished and even ostracized. We stand bold and steadfast in our position, not cowed - yet unable to move in any direction towards safety.

Monthly Tarot Reading

The Second 7 Days: 02 - 8 to 02 - 14

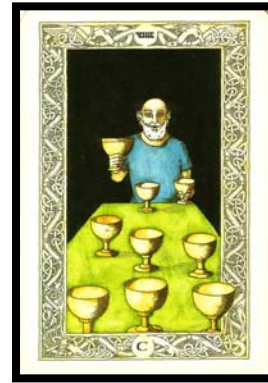

3 of Pentacles (Upright)

Illustration: Three coins fall from the merchant's purse onto the hand of the craftsman. In the background are shops selling their wares.

The Second 7 Days of February finds the 3 of Pentacles in its Upright position ... This is the "craftsman's" card and it indicates you have or are about to create something that brings in needed funds, help and support, and the promise of more to come in the near future. Health wise, this card can also indicate positive results from tests, surgery, or therapy.

The Third 7 Days: 02 - 15 to 02 - 21

Monthly Tarot Reading

9 of Cups (Reversed)

Illustration: A happy man. He is content with the material aspects of life and waits for friends to join him and share his hospitality.

The Third 7 Days of FEBRUARY finds the 9 of Cups in its Reversed position ... The "wish" card is really about the completion Earthly things or project versus Spiritual. It is a card about feasting with friends and family, the comforts of good food, friendship, and cheer. Reversed it and you are not going to get what you wish or long for.

The Fourth 7 Days: 02 - 22 to 02 - 28

Prince of Pentacles (Upright)

Monthly Tarot Reading

Illustration: The Prince is dressed in the green and brown of the earth. Over his shoulder is his shield representing the element of earth. Behind him are the stone remains of a burial mound, the last resting place of man.

The Fourth 7 Days of FEBRUARY finds the Prince of Pentacles in its Upright position ... The first court cards are the Pages/Princes. It is always best to imagine them as young, and with a letter or scroll in hand or on their person. The element of the pages is "Earth" indicating something young, growing, a seed planted. The starting something very new and fresh, like the arrival of a message about money, luck or a good, unexpected turn in health.

The Month in Summary:

The Chariot (Reversed)

Illustration: Thor, the Norse God of Thunder, was tall and strong, his hair and beard were red. In moments of anger sparks would fly like lightning from his beard. Mjolnir was the name of his hammer, which he hurled it at his enemies with great destructive power, yet no matter how hard or far he threw it, it would return safely to his hand.

Thor was the God of the Common Man, which explains his great popularity. When the storm clouds gathered, the rumble and roar of thunder was thought to be the sound of the wheels of his chariot, drawn by the two dark goats.

In Summary, Here we find The Chariot in its Reversed position...

Upright, the Chariot is all about moving forward. It is not just about charging blindly ahead, but rather seeing where you want to go, taking the reins in your hands and directing every energy forwards. Reverse this card and your chariot is at full stop - no movement in any direction – plus the complete loss of any means to get going again for now - You are stuck in the mud and mire of your own making.

From the Witch's Armchair

On energy

In witchcraft, we talk about energy a lot, but what is it?

In physics (as I understand it) energy is the innate ability of matter to move or change, to influence its surroundings. A simple example is the way an incredible amount of change (or destruction) is released during a nuclear explosion. Another example is burning coal - the coal is inert or non-reactive, but is full of energy that is released when you put a flame to it. Energy is stored up ready for use, and you have to create the right conditions for the energy to be released. Otherwise everything would be exploding all the time!

So the first thing you need to be able to do is recognize how to access the energy, how to create the right conditions to release it, and make sure that you direct it exactly where you want it to go! In witchcraft we do this using the sacred circle and the four Watchtowers or Guardians to aid us.

The next question is, what kind of energy are we harnessing in our magic? I don't think anyone has a definitive answer to this (in a scientific sense), all we have is descriptions of what the energy is like. The simplest energy to harness is life energy or qi, since we've got so much of it and ready access to it. However, qi is a much higher vibration than that of physical matter - the skin and bones you are made of. The word 'vibration' is a way of describing what kind of energy or how much of it is present in the system, and is at least a useful analogy for describing qi when it manifests. So if qi is a higher vibration than the body, then how are they linked? How does the body affect the aura, for instance, and vice versa? How does healing work?

My view is that physical matter emanates qi automatically, just as matter automatically creates gravity, and mass, simply by its existence. Whilst matter automatically emanates some qi, it doesn't have very much, or it is of a lower vibration (or both). When life develops, say at the level of bugs and worms, the biological functioning of the creature accumulates or manifests more qi (though I've no idea how). Higher organisms do this much better, and each organism has its own kind of qi, just as it has its own unique physical make up. It is the fact that we humans have consciousness, in addition to instinct, that we can manipulate the life energy for our own purposes.

...Um, weren't we talking about magic? Sure! So, just as we can consciously manipulate life energy, we can significantly magnify the effects we want to achieve, as well as focus the energy, by using a spell. It's like when you use a magnifying glass to focus the sun's rays and create a flame. The spell raises the energy you need, as well as focusing it in a specific place, which is dictated by the spell itself. We can call on our guides, the angels, and deity, to help us, and by creating a sacred circle, we make a place where this happens easily, a place between the worlds.

We can perceive many other kinds of 'energy': emotional, mental, personal will, karmic energy etc. My feeling is that these are different aspects of the way that life energy and the physical self interact and exist. They are different 'vibrations', for want of a better word. As such, we can perceive them as different colours of the aura, and can seek to find balance within ourselves or others by addressing the associated physical, emotional, mental or karmic issues. We can also try to manipulate the life energy, by giving or grounding it, where necessary to help the body to rebalance and heal.

Blessings to all,

White Sophia

The essence of well-being

Spell of the Month

The ancient Pagan art of aromatherapy owes its newfound popularity to its remarkable capacity to heal the mind and alter the emotions. To enhance your spiritual health combine:

Six drops of lavender oil

Four drops of frankincense

Six drops vanilla oil

Two ounces almond oil

Light your way to a healthier outlook by burning these oils in a lamp or, for a quick pick me up, dab them onto light bulbs in your home or office. A soothing, meditative smell will soon envelop you.

turn losses into gains. Not only are our material objects going or gone, but our spiritual (or, inner strength) has become weakened. In other words, we are on our own.

CARD TWO: Strength (Upright): This is a card of courage and energy. The inner self is more powerful than raw physical strength. It shows that we have the forces to control the things, situations, and opportunities around us but also knowing where to look outside for creative answers, and inside for the best use of our personal abilities.

CARD THREE: The Lovers (Upright): "Love" is a force that often makes us choose or decide matters for reasons we often can't understand; it also makes us surrender our control over to a higher power or person. Some thing, some place, or someone - a missing part of our self, one so perfectly attuned to us and we to them, without which we will never become whole and thus completes us - is just ahead...

CARD TWO: The High Priestess

(Upright): "The High Priestess" is the card of knowledge, in many cases it is a supernatural, a secret knowledge. She offers illumination so that we can see clearly what otherwise we might have missed or overlooked. Her knowledge is true "insider knowledge" based on hard won wisdom gained from true "experts."

CARD THREE: 7 of Pentacles

(Upright): The "Sevens" are about finding ones self in a situation that you are not in control of. Yet in life, we need to know not only how to take control but also how to direct the energies around us once you have them under our control. Sometimes, there is no way to take control of a "given" situation. Sometimes we must realize that we have done all you can do. It is out of your hands now - all we can do is be patient and wait.

creativity, powerful magic, feelings, and intuition. It also warns that a time of emotional and mental trials is ahead – we are on an emotional or mental rollercoaster ride.

CARD TWO: Page of Cups (Reversed): Pages can stand for messages: it could be in the form of e-mails, telephone calls, or a letter. Reverse this card and you can expect a sad message - or no news at all at this time - there will be delays and hindrances to the coming of any answers looked for.

CARD THREE: 8 of Pentacles (Reversed): Often called the “apprentice” card, the Eights are all about new things – new jobs, learning a new craft, learning new lessons and working with new diligence. There is the promise of new knowledge and promotions down the road. Reverse this and one finds a blocked or opposite feeling: instead of things being new, they feel old, tedious and that there is nothing to be gained.

The SUMMARY: No new good news is not necessarily bad news... it is there, it is coming - it just has a few more hurdles to clear... have patience all will be right in its own good time....
