Today's Featured Order

Order of Herald

Order Head Rev. Don Lewis, HP

Order Sigil

There are several types of Herald. Heralds appointed by the Tradition itself and carrying Tradition-wide duties perform a permanent role and are called Grand Heralds.

The Order of Heralds fulfils a number of practical and ceremonial roles. Among other duties the Heralds keep track of the Traditions heraldry (personal, Temple, Shrine, and Order sigils, for example). Heralds are responsible for making sure that everything is where it needs to be for a formal ritual.

Some Heralds fulfill an honorific role in ritual acting as lictors, virgers, or attendants. In addition Heralds sometimes act as messengers or ambassadors as well.

A Temple or an Order may appoint permanent Heralds or appoint Heralds Pro Tem who serve only for one occasion.

The other primary duty of Temple Heralds, which can sometimes be very important in large rituals, is to act as ushers and direct people to their places, keeping an eye out for and handling any potential problems.

A Herald does not usually wear any distinctive garment. However if acting as an usher will wears a special parti-coloured tabard of black and red with a grey border with the symbol of their Temple on the chest.

A Herald of the Witan wears a white and red parti-coloured tabard with a gold border, while a Herald of the Council of Elders wears a black and grey parti-coloured tabard with a white border. Deemster's Heralds wear gold and cream tabards while Mourning Heralds wear purple and black.

As a rule Heralds only take the role of ushers at large or very formal ceremonies.

Today's Date in the Wheel of the Year

15 October

Today's Date

Birthday of 70 BCE Virgil (Publius Vergilius Maro; d. September 21, 19 BCE), Latin poet (Eclogues; The Aeneid) who was a real man who became like a deity. To the medieval mind he was a necromancer rather than a poet.

This and much more can be found in our new group

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/DeitiesCelebrations/>

We will be posting information here in the Correllian Herald on Mondays and Thursdays for that date. For daily and monthly information on Gods, Goddesses and Celebrations the World over, please feel free to join the group. If you have anything to add to the files they are welcome, too! We look forward to seeing you there!

Veterinary Notes by Rev. Mehitabel
– D is for Diarrhoea part 2 - Chronic causes and acute HGE

- Chronic gastritis (dog & cat) may trigger excess acid production which in turn increased the inflammation in a self-perpetuating cycle, and may even lead to gastric ulcers which are also associated with certain painkilling drugs (non-steroidal anti-inflammatories) or to advanced kidney disease among other causes.
- Non GI causes such as diseases of the abdomen including pancreatic and liver disease, peritonitis, advanced unstable diabetes, pyometra (infection of the uterus) and neoplasia or disease of the inner ear (rare)
- Neoplasia (cancers) affecting the stomach lining and intestines with lymphoma in cats one of the commonest causes of this
- Malabsorption often associated with pancreatic disease which affects the digestion of fat. The faeces are bulky and fatty (steatorrhoea). This is treated by supplementary pancreatic enzymes. Common in German Shepherd dogs
- Dietary intolerance – this may also be associated with skin irritation and is usually corrected by a diet change.
- Ulcerative colitis – this is similar to the disease in humans
- Parasitic infections especially hookworms (Ancylostoma) and heavy burdens of roundworms (Toxocara) or tapeworms (Taenia and Dipylidium)
- An “irritable bowel type” syndrome similar to that seen in humans. This is not uncommon in toy breeds.
- Constipation – this is rather the reverse problem and may be associated with vomiting and an overflow diarrhoea. It can be caused by fur (cats), bones (dogs), lack of fibre in the diet and inactivity, and also by megacolon, where the colon becomes large and balloon-like and loses its propulsive ability.

Haemorrhagic Gastroenteritis (HGE) – an acute condition.

Parvo virus was a major cause of this back in the 1970s but is now thankfully controlled by vaccination. HGE is now most commonly seen in the miniature and toy dog breeds. The causes are uncertain and probably multiple but the most likely culprit is a Clostridial enterotoxaemia, which is where bacteria in the gut release toxins into the bloodstream. It is the toxins rather than the bacteria themselves that cause the disease. (Another species of Clostridia, Clostridium difficile, has been reported in the press in recent months as one of the hospital “superbugs” but this one has not as yet been linked to HGE in dogs). It is the toxemia that complicates the treatment of the condition since although antibiotics will kill the bacteria they cannot remove the toxins from the blood.

It is probable that the dogs acquire infection by snuffling round unsavoury things when on their walks but in some cases it could just be a change in behaviour of the normal gut flora (the bugs that normally live in the guts of all animals). A typical picture of this disease is a dog that is fine and bouncy one morning, has a bout of vomiting around midday and is totally depressed and dull by mid-afternoon with persistent vomiting and bloody diarrhoea associated with a very characteristic smell. The dog becomes rapidly dehydrated so this is a real emergency and it is vital to get to the vet as soon as possible so that intravenous fluid therapy can be started. The quicker treatment is started the higher the survival rate. Treatment will include antibiotics, intravenous fluid and possibly blood substitutes, anti-emetics and a single large dose of corticosteroids for shock. The aim is to kill the bacteria and provide supportive treatment to allow the liver and kidneys time to eliminate the toxins. Complications in untreated disease include organ failure as a result of something called disseminated intra-vascular coagulation (DIC) which is where the toxins cause the blood to form many tiny clots in the capillaries feeding the major organs thus affecting the blood supply and causing cell death. If the disease reaches this stage the prognosis is poor so always treat vomiting and/or diarrhoea with blood as an emergency.

Oldest Astronomical Megalith Alignment Discovered In Egypt By Science Team

An assembly of huge stone slabs found in Egypt's Sahara Desert that date from about 6,500 years to 6,000 years ago has been confirmed by scientists to be the oldest known astronomical alignment of megaliths in the world.

Known as Nabta, the site consists of a stone circle, a series of flat, tomb-like stone structures and five lines of standing and toppled megaliths. Located west of the Nile River in southern Egypt, Nabta predates Stonehenge and similar prehistoric sites around the world by about 1,000 years, said University of Colorado at Boulder astronomy Professor J. McKim Malville.

The Nabta site was discovered several years ago by a team led by Southern Methodist University anthropology Professor Fred Wendorf. A 1997 GPS satellite survey by Malville, Wendorf, Ali A Mazar of the Egyptian Geological Survey and Romauld Schild of the Polish Academy of Sciences confirmed one of the megalith lines was oriented in an east-west direction.

"This is the oldest documented astronomical alignment of megaliths in the world," said Malville. "A lot of effort went into the construction of a purely symbolic and ceremonial site." The stone slabs, some of which are nine feet high, were dragged to the site from a mile or more distant, he said.

The ruins lie on the shoreline of an ancient lake that began filling with water about 11,000 years ago when the African summer monsoon shifted north. It was used by nomads until about 4,800 years ago, when the monsoon moved southwest and the area again became "hyperarid and uninhabitable."

Five megalithic alignments at Nabta radiate outward from a central collection of megalithic structures. Beneath one structure was a sculptured rock resembling a cow standing upright, Malville said. The team also excavated several cattle burials at Nabta, including an articulated skeleton buried in a roofed, clay-lined chamber.

The 12-foot-in-diameter stone circle contains four sets of upright slabs. Two sets were aligned in a north-south direction while the second pair of slabs provides a line of sight toward the summer solstice horizon

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalog your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly cataloged we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,

The Order of Web Weavers
